Reds Smash At Beachhead

Frenzied Chinese Troops Overrun U. S. Outposts On Defense Perimeter

TOKYO, Saturday, Dec. 16 (AP) — Frenzied Chinese Communists smashed at the Allied beachhead in Northeast Korea Friday and Friday night in a roaring assault aimed at annihilating the U. S. Tenth Corps or driving it into the sea.

The Western Korean front north of Seoul remained in a two-week lull, but the U. S. Eighth Army there braced to meet an expected attack. Massive Chinese Red forces were reported moving south above the 38th Parallel, headed for the Eighth Army's right (inland) flank.

In the raging battle in the northeast, the first wave of howling, drum-beating, bugle-blowing Chinese overran American outposts on the Hamhung-Hungnam defense perimeter.

The outposts were abandoned, but two American platoons — possibly 80 to 100 men — were cut off.

Late Friday night the bark of guns in no-man's land indicated the surrounded Americans were still fighting.

Fanatical Smash

The Reds were under orders of their commander, 42-year-old Gen. Lin Piao, to drive the Americans off the Korean peninsula.

The opening blow was a fanatical smash against the west rim of the narrow northeast beachhead by 2,500 Chinese — the vanguard of a force estimated up to 112,000.

The U. S. Tenth Corps has been roughly estimated to number 60,000.

The attackers quickly swarmed about the two frontline American platoons.

Tanks that tried to rescue the surrounded men were forced back by great numbers of Chinese who spring upon the sides and tops, clawed at the hatches with bare hands and tried to hit the tank crews with small arms.

The Reds paid a great price for this.

Uncounted hundreds died under the fire of American artillery, fighter planes and machine guns.

The Reds halted their attack momentarily. Then they began moving fresh infantry and cavalrymen, the latter on rugged little Manchurian ponies, toward the beachhead from the west and southwest.

Staff officers of the U. S. Third Infantry Division said they expected the new assault would be aimed at Chigyong, about seven miles west of Hamhung.

25,000 Reds Grouping

They estimated the force grouping for the attack at 25,000 making up three fresh divisions.

Allied artillery pounded the Red staging area, and Communist mortar shells burst in the Allied defense area late Friday night.

U. N. Truce Group Meets With U. S. Representatives

Rau To Confer With Wu Over Weekend

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—The new U. N. cease-fire committee today began in secret its efforts to stop the fighting in Korea. It received the views of Gen. MacArthur's unified command, and the committee's Indian member arranged to see the Chinese Communists over the weekend.

The committee met first with United States Deputy U. N. Delegate Ernest A. Gross and his military adviser, Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, representatives of the unified command.

After the lengthy conference, the committee issued this communique:

"The committee discussed with Lt. Gen. Crittenberger and Mr. Gross, representing the unified command, the basis on which in their opinion a satisfactory cease-fire could be arranged."

Rau To See Wu

Gross and Crittenberger said they had nothing to say publicly about the meeting.

Nasrollah Entezam, president of the Assembly and chairman of the committee, arranged to send to Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, Communist representative now in New York, a copy of the resolution setting up the three-member committee.

The committee announced that Sir Benegal N. Rau, its Indian member, would see Wu unofficially over the weekend. Rau had four conferences with Wu before the resolution was approved by the Assembly yesterday but has not announced any results of his talks.

Three See Lie

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign minister, who read the committee's communique, said the members would be talking with other persons in the next few days. He indicated there probably would not be a formal meeting of the three this weekend.

Entezam and the others refused to discuss the situation further except to say, as Entezam put it, "we shall do everything that will be helpful."

After talking with Gross and Crittenberger, the three saw U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie for a few minutes.

24th Division Honored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Army today announced the award of a distinguished unit citation to the 24th Infantry Division and the attached 441st Counter Intelligence Corps team for "extraordinary heroism in combat against numerically superior enemy forces in Korea."

This is the first such award made in the Korean fighting.

Parcel Mailings Drop 25 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Christmas parcel mailings, normally on a booming rise at this date, hit the skids in many sections of the country today.

Post Office Department officials estimated there had been an overnight drop of about 25 per cent in the national parcel post volume as a result of the partial embargo declared on this type of mail.

Sharp restrictions on acceptance of all kinds of bulk mail, except daily newspapers, were imposed last night as a result of the spreading walkout of railway yard workers.

The orders virtually isolated Washington, Chicago and St. Louis, important mail-car switching points, so far as parcel handling is concerned. Other areas throughout the country were sharply limited on what bulk mail could be sent out or brought in.

Barbara Stanwyck-Taylor Marriage Goes On Rocks

Barbara Stanwyck

Robert Taylor

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP)—With no previous hint of a rift, the Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor marriage broke up today.

The film couple, married since 1939, issued the following statement through their studio today:

"In the past few years because of professional requirements we have been separated just too often and too long. Our sincere and continual efforts to maintain our marriage have failed.

"We are deeply disappointed but we could not solve our problems. We really tried. We unhappily and reluctantly admit what we have denied to even our closest friends because we wanted to work things out together in as much privacy as possible.

"There will be a California divorce. Neither of us has any other romantic interest whatsoever."

The couple met in 1936 and were married May 14, 1939. They have no children.

Tieup Spreads; Union Charged With Contempt

U. S. Court Issues Show Cause Order

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP)—Switchmen who struck the Grand Trunk Western Railroad here early today returned to their jobs after a meeting tonight.

George E. Metz, chairman of Lodge 265, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the 80 strikers responded to an appeal from their union officers to end the walkout.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—President Truman called upon the striking railroad yard workers tonight to return immediately to their "posts of duty."

The "unlawful" strike is adding to "the country's danger," Mr. Truman asserted in a last-minute interpolation in his crisis speech to the nation from Washington.

Earlier, contempt action by the government against the strikers' union failed to stop the spreading walkouts. More cities were hit by the work stopages.

War supplies and Christmas packages piled up in several cities affected earlier.

President Truman said the four-day strike "has partially paralyzed our railroad system" and "begun to slow down our industry." He went on:

New Walkouts Reported

"It is interfering with the movement of troops; it is holding up equipment for our fighting forces; and our civilian population has begun to suffer.

"As commander-in-chief, therefore, I call upon the union and its striking members to return to work immediately.

"I ask you men who are on strike to realize, that no matter how serious you believe your grievances are, nothing can excuse the fact that you are adding to your country's danger."

New walkouts on both coasts came late today just as a federal judge in Chicago was ordering the union men to show why they should not be held in contempt of court.

The government thus sought to punish financially those it considers responsible for the four-day strike. The walkout has closed vital rail freight and mail arteries.

But the strike spread late this afternoon to Los Angeles, Birmingham, Ala., and Boston, Mass.

U. S. District Judge Michael L. Igoe entered the order naming the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and 76 union lodges and individuals.

The defendants are to appear before Judge Igoe at 2 p. m. (CST) Monday. They must show cause why they should not be held in contempt for violating an injunction issued Wednesday night.

German Red Death Law Takes Effect

BERLIN, Saturday, Dec. 16 (AP) — A law intended to frighten all Germans into the Soviet "peace offensive" camp through penalties up to death for support of Western defense policies went into effect in East Germany on the stroke of midnight.

Persons found by Communist definition to be warmongering agents of the West were made legally subject to beheading on the guillotine.

Adopted by the Soviet Zone Communist parliament on second reading Friday, the law pretends to apply to the 48,000,000 Germans in the west and the 2,000,000 in Allied-occupied West Berlin as well as the east's subjugated 18,000,000.

Informed Of Rescue Efforts

Mrs. John Wolti (left), wife of a coal miner trapped by an underground rock slide, gets rescue attempt details from William Moses (right) outside the Big Four mine at Selleck, Wash. Wolti, trapped two days ago, was rescued last night by workers who were spurred by his muffled "I'm feeling fine." In the group of relatives (left to right) are Mrs. Wolti, Mrs. Delores Popp, daughter; Mrs. Annie Johnson, sister, and Delwood Popp, son-in-law.

"Fire Acheson" Resolution Adopted By GOP Legislators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Senate and House Republicans today formally condemned Secretary of State Acheson and demanded that he be fired.

Republican senators, by a 23 to 5 vote, followed the earlier action of the House Republican caucus in adopting overwhelmingly a resolution calling for Acheson's dismissal. Both demanded a State Department "housecleaning." The senators added a pledge of cooperation in the national crisis.

The senators' action was announced by Sen. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Republican conference of 43 senators, after a two-hour and 15 minute closed door meeting.

Democratic reaction indicated the Republicans may be in for a fight.

Sen. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told the Senate while the Republican caucus was under way that the action of the House members was "an invitation to Stalin to strike anywhere."

Demos May Blast MacArthur

Lucas shouted that Stalin is likely to conclude, on the basis of the Republican action, that this country is so divided he can start new aggressions.

Lucas hinted that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's handling of the Korean war might provide a target for Democratic fire. Republicans have centered their attacks on Acheson, blaming him for Far East policies which some contend "blundered" the nation into the Korean conflict. There have been reports that the Democrats might go gunning for MacArthur if the GOP took party action to try to oust Acheson.

Lucas did not mention MacArthur by name, but his reference to the General was obvious when he said:

House Demos Condemn Move

"If the Republicans desire to throw the foreign policy into the forum of the Senate and the House of Representatives, there are many things that may be said about some of those who consider themselves practically God almighty and how they have been handling the war in a way which perhaps does not conform to what some of us think is right. x x x."

In the House, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and other Democrats spoke out condemning the Republican move.

In a statement to reporters, Rayburn said:

"Under all conditions at home and abroad, when unity among all Americans is essential to our safety, I feel that the resolution passed by the Republican conference this morning, to say the least and be most charitable, is a tragic mistake."

Mickey Rooney, Wife Call Off Divorce Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP) — Mickey Rooney and his wife, Martha Vickers, have become reconciled and she has called off the divorce lawyers, Miss Vickers said tonight.

"We thought it was a shame to spoil the baby's first Christmas," she said. The baby, Teddy, is eight months old.

Rooney and his third wife got together and decided to try it again yesterday after he returned from an eastern trip.

"We are going to see if we can't be a little more sensible and hang on to our tempers this time," Miss Vickers told a reporter.

Frustrated Lover Hunted By Posse

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 15 (AP) — A posse beat through the brushy country on the outskirts of Santa Fe tonight seeking a frustrated lover who killed his rival and held the woman captive over night.

The fugitive is Lucian H. "Stormy" Harris, 52-year-old steam fitter and former resident of Pelican, La. He told the woman he would kill himself rather than be taken alive and gave her a suicide note when he released her at 10:30 a. m. at her parents' home. He carried a deer rifle into the brush.

The girl — Adelina Lucero, 24 — said Harris struck her only once during the 17 hours she was held captive.

The husband was Lancelot Chumbley Brown, Jr., 29-year-old former marine of Adeville, Ga., and Deming, N. M.

Perverts Called Security Risks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — A Senate investigating group today labeled sexual perverts as dangerous security risks and demanded strict and careful screening to keep them off the government payroll.

It said many government agencies have not taken "adequate steps to get these people out of government."

Filing a report to the Senate after a six-months investigation by an expenditures subcommittee, Chairman Hoey (D-NC) declared:

"If government agencies will investigate properly each complaint of sex perversion and thereafter follow the present adequate civil service rules, these perverts can be put out of government and kept out."

Many perverts already have been outsted, Hoey said, and he pledged that his subcommittee would keep a close check on the situation.

Pointing out the risk that the government takes in employing a degenerate or keeping one on the payroll, the subcommittee's report said:

"The lack of emotional stability which is found in most sex perverts, and the weakness of their moral fiber, makes them susceptible to the blandishments of foreign espionage agents."

Nash Raises Prices Of 1951 Model Cars

DETROIT, Dec. 15 (AP) — Nash Motors tonight announced price increases for its 1951 models ranging from 3.8 to 5 per cent, just a few hours before President Truman's broadcast to the nation.

The Nash price hike was the second in less than three months and came less than 24 hours after Chrysler boosted prices on all its 1951 models. Earlier, General Motors and Ford took similar action.

Coal Miner Is Rescued From Trap

SELLECK, Wash., Dec. 15 (AP) — Rescuers brought 54-year-old John Wolti to the surface of the Big 4 coal mine safely tonight, 54 hours and 25 minutes after he was trapped by an avalanche 400 feet below just after noon Wednesday.

Dr. Gordon Adams of Enumclaw said Wolti had a broken arm. He had been pinned beneath a timber which had to be jacked up in the cramped three-by-five foot hole at the foot of the shaft from which he was freed.

"He's in fair condition," Dr. Adams said.

Was Given Up For Dead

The begrimed coal miner was brought to the surface at 7:20 p. m. (PST) after having been entombed since 12:55 p. m., Wednesday.

He had been given up for dead yesterday as searchers labored to clear the mass of rock, timbers and debris in the foot of the 400-foot shaft at the bottom of a "Y," but when his voice was heard today, workers renewed efforts to reach him.

"I'm okay but I can't move," the trapped miner told rescuers as they uncovered his arms.

He was given a shot of whisky by a doctor who shoved the glass through an aperture.

Escapes Second "Scrape"

A cold rain drizzled down outside the mine all day, and water was trickling into the shaft, but none seemed to be draining into the hole where Wolti was confined.

The temperature was about 60 degrees where the workmen were digging.

Wolti's jubilant and hopeful wife responded to the news:

"Oh, thank the Lord. John has been in so many tough scrapes before, he'll be able to take care of himself."

The toughest of those "scrapes" was in this same area in 1932. He was one of two men who escaped alive from a coal mine explosion that killed 26 men.

Cab Drivers Strike

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 15 (AP) — Drivers for Charleston's four major taxi companies went on strike tonight in support of new wage demands.

Two More Guard Divisions Called To Active Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The government announced tonight it is calling two more National Guard divisions into federal service—the 31st from Alabama-Mississippi and the 47th from Minnesota - North Dakota.

They will be inducted into active service on Jan. 17.

The 31st Division will train at Fort Jackson, S. C., and the 47th at Camp Rucker, near Ozark, Ala.

An announcement by the Army, following President Truman's disclosure that two unnamed divisions were being federalized, said "these two divisions were selected as the best fitted for call in their respective areas."

House Approves $17,809,304,424 For U. S. Defense

Voice Vote Sends Measure To Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — The House today shouted approval of a $17,809,304,424 defense appropriation bill tagged as "the first installment" on a mighty military program to ward off World War III.

The measure sped to the Senate where high military men were detailing plans for speeding up mobilization in a closed hearing of the Appropriations Committee already at work on the bill.

The huge appropriation included $16,845,181,000 for the Army, Navy and Air Force — exactly what President Truman asked. The Atomic Energy Commission got $840,000,000 to augment its fast expanding A-bomb and H-bomb program.

However, the total was $271,741,610 below the overall amount sought by Mr. Truman. Most of it was taken from the atomic commission because it isn't ready to spend all it asked.

But the House refused to add to the program $350,000,000 for an emergency shipbuilding program for speedy new-type cargo vessels with their own helicopter escort for anti-submarine protection. It was figured this amount would pay for 50 of them.

This amendment was voted down 61 to 42 after a technicality had removed from the bill itself a proposal of the House Appropriations Committee to put in $224,000,000 for 34 freighters.

Meanwhile, the "second installment" on the gigantic preparedness program was rapidly taking shape.

As the House took up the vast appropriation, President Truman sent Congress a new request for $1,834,911,000 to add war-needed materials to the nation's stockpile.

And at the Pentagon, a budget expert told reporters that the armed forces probably will ask $5,000,000,000 more this fiscal year which ends next June 30.

All this would run the military appropriations for the fiscal year to about $50,000,000,000. This is just half some estimates for the annual cost of total mobilization, if that should come. (By contrast, in the fiscal year of 1949-50 all federal spending totalled $41,167,000,000).

Britain Orders More Troops To Germany

LONDON, Saturday, Dec. 16 (AP)—The British War Office today directed the transfer of thousands of trained British troops—including armored, infantry and anti-aircraft units—to posts in Western Germany.

Orders Partial Price Control, Arms Buildup

Proclamation Will Be Issued Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — President Truman tonight proclaimed a swift buildup of U. S. armed forces and immediate, partial price controls because, he said, "we are in great danger" of World War III.

In a solemn broadcast from the White House, the President said "our homes, our nation, all the things we believe in" are menaced by Soviet Communism.

The President said he will declare that "a national emergency exists" in a proclamation to be issued tomorrow.

Saying there is still hope that the free nations, working together, can prevent global conflict, he announced, a far-reaching partial mobilization program, including:

1. A swift buildup of U. S. armed forces, to nearly 3,500,000 men. He revealed that two additional National Guard divisions are being called up in January and said draft calls are being raised.

2. Price controls to be clamped immediately on goods vital to "defense production and the cost of living." The government is to undertake "wage stabilization" in the same fields.

No Appeasement

He said the United States stands ready to negotiate peace without appeasement. But he warned Russia bluntly that this country will never yield to aggression. Instead, he said it will serve as "an arsenal for the defense of freedom."

Then, in words foreshadowing an era of austerity for the American people, the President laid down the terms of "the big job" ahead:

Higher taxes ... longer work hours for many .. sacrifices— cutbacks on civilian production .. increased outputs from farms and factories ... sharper controls over the whole economy...

"We must prevent inflation and stabilize the cost of living," Mr. Truman said. "We must take direct measures to keep prices in line."

Outlining the steps for a rapid speedup in production of military equipment, the President went on:

"Within one year, we will be turning out planes at five times the present rate of production. Within one year, combat vehicles will be coming off the production line at four times today's rate.

"Within one year, the rate of production of electronics equipment for

Car Price Freeze Order Due Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS) —A federal order freezing prices on automobiles was drawn up tonight as one of the first steps in President Truman's price controls program and is expected to be issued Saturday.

Officials said the directive will roll back newly — announced price incerases on General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Nash automobiles and clamp on a ceiling at the levels existing last month.

Wholesale Prices Hit New All-Time High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS)— The government said today that wholesale prices climbed to a new all-time high by advancing another four-tenths of one per cent during the week ended last Tuesday.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices have soared 10.2 per cent since the start of the Korean war and 14.7 per cent in the last 12 months.

All commodities except farm products sold at record wholesale prices in the week of Dec. 12.

Sen. McCarthy Charges Drew Pearson "Moscow-Directed Character Assassin"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said in the Senate today that Drew Pearson is a "Moscow-directed character assassin" who serves as "the voice of international Communism."

Pearson promptly retorted in a statement that his record in fighting Communism is well known to everybody but "the headline happy Senator from Wisconsin". He threatened to sue McCarthy.

McCarthy studded his attack on the columnist-commentator with such epithets as "unprincipled liar and fake," and "this twisted, perverted mentality."

He said, however, "it appears that Pearson never actually signed up as a member of the Communist Party and never paid dues."

The long standing antagonism between the two men reached the point of blows last Tuesday night in a cloak room squabble at the plush Sulgrave Club. Just what happened was not clear, Pearson said McCarthy kicked him in the groin twice. McCarthy said he smacked Pearson with his open hand and knocked him down on his hips.

In his speech today, McCarthy charged that Pearson and the Communist Party hounded to death James Forrestal, the late secretary of defense. (Forrestal, under treatment for nervous trouble, leaped to his death from a hospital window May 22, 1949.)

McCarthy said the Communists' next intended victim is Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and that Pearson has been assigned the task of destroying him.

The Senator charged that Pearson takes his orders from David Karr, and quoted former Rep. Martin Dies as saying in the Congressional Record in 1943 that Karr was on the staff of the Communist Daily Worker for two years and that "there is not the slightest doubt that all members of the Daily Worker staff were required to be members of the Communist Party."

Pearson said that if Karr is a pro-Communist "the Washington Monument is a hole in the ground."

Adopted by the Soviet Zone Communist parliament on second reading Friday, the law pretends to apply to the 48,000,000 Germans in the west and the 2,000,000 in Allied-occupied West Berlin as well as the east's subjugated 18,000,000.

Parcel Mailings Drop 25 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Christmas parcel mailings, normally on a booming rise at this date, hit the skids in many sections of the country today.

Post Office Department officials estimated there had been an overnight drop of about 25 per cent in the national parcel post volume as a result of the partial embargo declared on this type of mail.

Sharp restrictions on acceptance of all kinds of bulk mail, except daily newspapers, were imposed last night as a result of the spreading walkout of railway yard workers.

The orders virtually isolated Washington, Chicago and St. Louis, important mail-car switching points, so far as parcel handling is concerned. Other areas throughout the country were sharply limited on what bulk mail could be sent out or brought in.

Barbara Stanwyck-Taylor Marriage Goes On Rocks

Barbara Stanwyck

Robert Taylor

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP)—With no previous hint of a rift, the Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor marriage broke up today.

The film couple, married since 1939, issued the following statement through their studio today:

"In the past few years because of professional requirements we have been separated just too often and too long. Our sincere and continual efforts to maintain our marriage have failed.

"We are deeply disappointed but we could not solve our problems. We really tried. We unhappily and reluctantly admit what we have denied to even our closest friends because we wanted to work things out together in as much privacy as possible.

"There will be a California divorce. Neither of us has any other romantic interest whatsoever."

The couple met in 1936 and were married May 14, 1939. They have no children.

"Fire Acheson" Resolution Adopted By GOP Legislators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Senate and House Republicans today formally condemned Secretary of State Acheson and demanded that he be fired.

Republican senators, by a 23 to 5 vote, followed the earlier action of the House Republican caucus in adopting overwhelmingly a resolution calling for Acheson's dismissal. Both demanded a State Department "housecleaning." The senators added a pledge of cooperation in the national crisis.

The senators' action was announced by Sen. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Republican conference of 43 senators, after a two-hour and 15 minute closed door meeting.

Democratic reaction indicated the Republicans may be in for a fight.

Sen. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told the Senate while the Republican caucus was under way that the action of the House members was "an invitation to Stalin to strike anywhere."

Demos May Blast MacArthur

Lucas shouted that Stalin is likely to conclude, on the basis of the Republican action, that this country is so divided he can start new aggressions.

Lucas hinted that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's handling of the Korean war might provide a target for Democratic fire. Republicans have centered their attacks on Acheson, blaming him for Far East policies which some contend "blundered" the nation into the Korean conflict. There have been reports that the Democrats might go gunning for MacArthur if the GOP took party action to try to oust Acheson.

Lucas did not mention MacArthur by name, but his reference to the General was obvious when he said:

House Demos Condemn Move

"If the Republicans desire to throw the foreign policy into the forum of the Senate and the House of Representatives, there are many things that may be said about some of those who consider themselves practically God almighty and how they have been handling the war in a way which perhaps does not conform to what some of us think is right. x x x."

In the House, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and other Democrats spoke out condemning the Republican move.

In a statement to reporters, Rayburn said:

"Under all conditions at home and abroad, when unity among all Americans is essential to our safety, I feel that the resolution passed by the Republican conference this morning, to say the least and be most charitable, is a tragic mistake."

Mickey Rooney, Wife Call Off Divorce Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP) — Mickey Rooney and his wife, Martha Vickers, have become reconciled and she has called off the divorce lawyers, Miss Vickers said tonight.

"We thought it was a shame to spoil the baby's first Christmas," she said. The baby, Teddy, is eight months old.

Rooney and his third wife got together and decided to try it again yesterday after he returned from an eastern trip.

"We are going to see if we can't be a little more sensible and hang on to our tempers this time," Miss Vickers told a reporter.

Frustrated Lover Hunted By Posse

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 15 (AP) — A posse beat through the brushy country on the outskirts of Santa Fe tonight seeking a frustrated lover who killed his rival and held the woman captive over night.

The fugitive is Lucian H. "Stormy" Harris, 52-year-old steam fitter and former resident of Pelican, La. He told the woman he would kill himself rather than be taken alive and gave her a suicide note when he released her at 10:30 a. m. at her parents' home. He carried a deer rifle into the brush.

The girl — Adelina Lucero, 24 — said Harris struck her only once during the 17 hours she was held captive.

The husband was Lancelot Chumbley Brown, Jr., 29-year-old former marine of Adeville, Ga., and Deming, N. M.

Perverts Called Security Risks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — A Senate investigating group today labeled sexual perverts as dangerous security risks and demanded strict and careful screening to keep them off the government payroll.

It said many government agencies have not taken "adequate steps to get these people out of government."

Filing a report to the Senate after a six-months investigation by an expenditures subcommittee, Chairman Hoey (D-NC) declared:

"If government agencies will investigate properly each complaint of sex perversion and thereafter follow the present adequate civil service rules, these perverts can be put out of government and kept out."

Many perverts already have been outsted, Hoey said, and he pledged that his subcommittee would keep a close check on the situation.

Pointing out the risk that the government takes in employing a degenerate or keeping one on the payroll, the subcommittee's report said:

"The lack of emotional stability which is found in most sex perverts, and the weakness of their moral fiber, makes them susceptible to the blandishments of foreign espionage agents."

Nash Raises Prices Of 1951 Model Cars

DETROIT, Dec. 15 (AP) — Nash Motors tonight announced price increases for its 1951 models ranging from 3.8 to 5 per cent, just a few hours before President Truman's broadcast to the nation.

The Nash price hike was the second in less than three months and came less than 24 hours after Chrysler boosted prices on all its 1951 models. Earlier, General Motors and Ford took similar action.

Coal Miner Is Rescued From Trap

SELLECK, Wash., Dec. 15 (AP) — Rescuers brought 54-year-old John Wolti to the surface of the Big 4 coal mine safely tonight, 54 hours and 25 minutes after he was trapped by an avalanche 400 feet below just after noon Wednesday.

Dr. Gordon Adams of Enumclaw said Wolti had a broken arm. He had been pinned beneath a timber which had to be jacked up in the cramped three-by-five foot hole at the foot of the shaft from which he was freed.

"He's in fair condition," Dr. Adams said.

Was Given Up For Dead

The begrimed coal miner was brought to the surface at 7:20 p. m. (PST) after having been entombed since 12:55 p. m., Wednesday.

He had been given up for dead yesterday as searchers labored to clear the mass of rock, timbers and debris in the foot of the 400-foot shaft at the bottom of a "Y," but when his voice was heard today, workers renewed efforts to reach him.

"I'm okay but I can't move," the trapped miner told rescuers as they uncovered his arms.

He was given a shot of whisky by a doctor who shoved the glass through an aperture.

Escapes Second "Scrape"

A cold rain drizzled down outside the mine all day, and water was trickling into the shaft, but none seemed to be draining into the hole where Wolti was confined.

The temperature was about 60 degrees where the workmen were digging.

Wolti's jubilant and hopeful wife responded to the news:

"Oh, thank the Lord. John has been in so many tough scrapes before, he'll be able to take care of himself."

The toughest of those "scrapes" was in this same area in 1932. He was one of two men who escaped alive from a coal mine explosion that killed 26 men.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 15 (AP) — Drivers for Charleston's four major taxi companies went on strike tonight in support of new wage demands.

Two More Guard Divisions Called To Active Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The government announced tonight it is calling two more National Guard divisions into federal service—the 31st from Alabama-Mississippi and the 47th from Minnesota - North Dakota.

They will be inducted into active service on Jan. 17.

The 31st Division will train at Fort Jackson, S. C., and the 47th at Camp Rucker, near Ozark, Ala.

An announcement by the Army, following President Truman's disclosure that two unnamed divisions were being federalized, said "these two divisions were selected as the best fitted for call in their respective areas."

House Approves $17,809,304,424 For U. S. Defense

Voice Vote Sends Measure To Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — The House today shouted approval of a $17,809,304,424 defense appropriation bill tagged as "the first installment" on a mighty military program to ward off World War III.

The measure sped to the Senate where high military men were detailing plans for speeding up mobilization in a closed hearing of the Appropriations Committee already at work on the bill.

The huge appropriation included $16,845,181,000 for the Army, Navy and Air Force — exactly what President Truman asked. The Atomic Energy Commission got $840,000,000 to augment its fast expanding A-bomb and H-bomb program.

However, the total was $271,741,610 below the overall amount sought by Mr. Truman. Most of it was taken from the atomic commission because it isn't ready to spend all it asked.

But the House refused to add to the program $350,000,000 for an emergency shipbuilding program for speedy new-type cargo vessels with their own helicopter escort for anti-submarine protection. It was figured this amount would pay for 50 of them.

This amendment was voted down 61 to 42 after a technicality had removed from the bill itself a proposal of the House Appropriations Committee to put in $224,000,000 for 34 freighters.

Meanwhile, the "second installment" on the gigantic preparedness program was rapidly taking shape.

As the House took up the vast appropriation, President Truman sent Congress a new request for $1,834,911,000 to add war-needed materials to the nation's stockpile.

And at the Pentagon, a budget expert told reporters that the armed forces probably will ask $5,000,000,000 more this fiscal year which ends next June 30.

All this would run the military appropriations for the fiscal year to about $50,000,000,000. This is just half some estimates for the annual cost of total mobilization, if that should come. (By contrast, in the fiscal year of 1949-50 all federal spending totalled $41,167,000,000).

Orders Partial Price Control, Arms Buildup

Proclamation Will Be Issued Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — President Truman tonight proclaimed a swift buildup of U. S. armed forces and immediate, partial price controls because, he said, "we are in great danger" of World War III.

In a solemn broadcast from the White House, the President said "our homes, our nation, all the things we believe in" are menaced by Soviet Communism.

The President said he will declare that "a national emergency exists" in a proclamation to be issued tomorrow.

Saying there is still hope that the free nations, working together, can prevent global conflict, he announced, a far-reaching partial mobilization program, including:

1. A swift buildup of U. S. armed forces, to nearly 3,500,000 men. He revealed that two additional National Guard divisions are being called up in January and said draft calls are being raised.

2. Price controls to be clamped immediately on goods vital to "defense production and the cost of living." The government is to undertake "wage stabilization" in the same fields.

No Appeasement

He said the United States stands ready to negotiate peace without appeasement. But he warned Russia bluntly that this country will never yield to aggression. Instead, he said it will serve as "an arsenal for the defense of freedom."

Then, in words foreshadowing an era of austerity for the American people, the President laid down the terms of "the big job" ahead:

Higher taxes ... longer work hours for many .. sacrifices— cutbacks on civilian production .. increased outputs from farms and factories ... sharper controls over the whole economy...

"We must prevent inflation and stabilize the cost of living," Mr. Truman said. "We must take direct measures to keep prices in line."

Outlining the steps for a rapid speedup in production of military equipment, the President went on:

"Within one year, we will be turning out planes at five times the present rate of production. Within one year, combat vehicles will be coming off the production line at four times today's rate.

"Within one year, the rate of production of electronics equipment for

Car Price Freeze Order Due Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS) —A federal order freezing prices on automobiles was drawn up tonight as one of the first steps in President Truman's price controls program and is expected to be issued Saturday.

Officials said the directive will roll back newly — announced price incerases on General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Nash automobiles and clamp on a ceiling at the levels existing last month.

Wholesale Prices Hit New All-Time High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS)— The government said today that wholesale prices climbed to a new all-time high by advancing another four-tenths of one per cent during the week ended last Tuesday.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices have soared 10.2 per cent since the start of the Korean war and 14.7 per cent in the last 12 months.

All commodities except farm products sold at record wholesale prices in the week of Dec. 12.

Sen. McCarthy Charges Drew Pearson "Moscow-Directed Character Assassin"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said in the Senate today that Drew Pearson is a "Moscow-directed character assassin" who serves as "the voice of international Communism."

Pearson promptly retorted in a statement that his record in fighting Communism is well known to everybody but "the headline happy Senator from Wisconsin". He threatened to sue McCarthy.

McCarthy studded his attack on the columnist-commentator with such epithets as "unprincipled liar and fake," and "this twisted, perverted mentality."

He said, however, "it appears that Pearson never actually signed up as a member of the Communist Party and never paid dues."

The long standing antagonism between the two men reached the point of blows last Tuesday night in a cloak room squabble at the plush Sulgrave Club. Just what happened was not clear, Pearson said McCarthy kicked him in the groin twice. McCarthy said he smacked Pearson with his open hand and knocked him down on his hips.

In his speech today, McCarthy charged that Pearson and the Communist Party hounded to death James Forrestal, the late secretary of defense. (Forrestal, under treatment for nervous trouble, leaped to his death from a hospital window May 22, 1949.)

McCarthy said the Communists' next intended victim is Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and that Pearson has been assigned the task of destroying him.

The Senator charged that Pearson takes his orders from David Karr, and quoted former Rep. Martin Dies as saying in the Congressional Record in 1943 that Karr was on the staff of the Communist Daily Worker for two years and that "there is not the slightest doubt that all members of the Daily Worker staff were required to be members of the Communist Party."

Pearson said that if Karr is a pro-Communist "the Washington Monument is a hole in the ground."

Reds Smash At Beachhead

Frenzied Chinese Troops Overrun U. S. Outposts On Defense Perimeter

TOKYO, Saturday, Dec. 16 (AP) — Frenzied Chinese Communists smashed at the Allied beachhead in Northeast Korea Friday and Friday night in a roaring assault aimed at annihilating the U. S. Tenth Corps or driving it into the sea.

The Western Korean front north of Seoul remained in a two-week lull, but the U. S. Eighth Army there braced to meet an expected attack. Massive Chinese Red forces were reported moving south above the 38th Parallel, headed for the Eighth Army's right (inland) flank.

In the raging battle in the northeast, the first wave of howling, drum-beating, bugle-blowing Chinese overran American outposts on the Hamhung-Hungnam defense perimeter.

The outposts were abandoned, but two American platoons — possibly 80 to 100 men — were cut off.

Late Friday night the bark of guns in no-man's land indicated the surrounded Americans were still fighting.

Fanatical Smash

The Reds were under orders of their commander, 42-year-old Gen. Lin Piao, to drive the Americans off the Korean peninsula.

The opening blow was a fanatical smash against the west rim of the narrow northeast beachhead by 2,500 Chinese — the vanguard of a force estimated up to 112,000.

The U. S. Tenth Corps has been roughly estimated to number 60,000.

The attackers quickly swarmed about the two frontline American platoons.

Tanks that tried to rescue the surrounded men were forced back by great numbers of Chinese who spring upon the sides and tops, clawed at the hatches with bare hands and tried to hit the tank crews with small arms.

The Reds paid a great price for this.

Uncounted hundreds died under the fire of American artillery, fighter planes and machine guns.

The Reds halted their attack momentarily. Then they began moving fresh infantry and cavalrymen, the latter on rugged little Manchurian ponies, toward the beachhead from the west and southwest.

Staff officers of the U. S. Third Infantry Division said they expected the new assault would be aimed at Chigyong, about seven miles west of Hamhung.

25,000 Reds Grouping

They estimated the force grouping for the attack at 25,000 making up three fresh divisions.

Allied artillery pounded the Red staging area, and Communist mortar shells burst in the Allied defense area late Friday night.

U. N. Truce Group Meets With U. S. Representatives

Rau To Confer With Wu Over Weekend

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—The new U. N. cease-fire committee today began in secret its efforts to stop the fighting in Korea. It received the views of Gen. MacArthur's unified command, and the committee's Indian member arranged to see the Chinese Communists over the weekend.

The committee met first with United States Deputy U. N. Delegate Ernest A. Gross and his military adviser, Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, representatives of the unified command.

After the lengthy conference, the committee issued this communique:

"The committee discussed with Lt. Gen. Crittenberger and Mr. Gross, representing the unified command, the basis on which in their opinion a satisfactory cease-fire could be arranged."

Rau To See Wu

Gross and Crittenberger said they had nothing to say publicly about the meeting.

Nasrollah Entezam, president of the Assembly and chairman of the committee, arranged to send to Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, Communist representative now in New York, a copy of the resolution setting up the three-member committee.

The committee announced that Sir Benegal N. Rau, its Indian member, would see Wu unofficially over the weekend. Rau had four conferences with Wu before the resolution was approved by the Assembly yesterday but has not announced any results of his talks.

Three See Lie

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign minister, who read the committee's communique, said the members would be talking with other persons in the next few days. He indicated there probably would not be a formal meeting of the three this weekend.

Entezam and the others refused to discuss the situation further except to say, as Entezam put it, "we shall do everything that will be helpful."

24th Division Honored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Army today announced the award of a distinguished unit citation to the 24th Infantry Division and the attached 441st Counter Intelligence Corps team for "extraordinary heroism in combat against numerically superior enemy forces in Korea."

This is the first such award made in the Korean fighting.

Tieup Spreads; Union Charged With Contempt

U. S. Court Issues Show Cause Order

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP)—Switchmen who struck the Grand Trunk Western Railroad here early today returned to their jobs after a meeting tonight.

George E. Metz, chairman of Lodge 265, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the 80 strikers responded to an appeal from their union officers to end the walkout.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—President Truman called upon the striking railroad yard workers tonight to return immediately to their "posts of duty."

The "unlawful" strike is adding to "the country's danger," Mr. Truman asserted in a last-minute interpolation in his crisis speech to the nation from Washington.

Earlier, contempt action by the government against the strikers' union failed to stop the spreading walkouts. More cities were hit by the work stopages.

War supplies and Christmas packages piled up in several cities affected earlier.

President Truman said the four-day strike "has partially paralyzed our railroad system" and "begun to slow down our industry." He went on:

New Walkouts Reported

"It is interfering with the movement of troops; it is holding up equipment for our fighting forces; and our civilian population has begun to suffer.

"As commander-in-chief, therefore, I call upon the union and its striking members to return to work immediately.

"I ask you men who are on strike to realize, that no matter how serious you believe your grievances are, nothing can excuse the fact that you are adding to your country's danger."

New walkouts on both coasts came late today just as a federal judge in Chicago was ordering the union men to show why they should not be held in contempt of court.

The government thus sought to punish financially those it considers responsible for the four-day strike. The walkout has closed vital rail freight and mail arteries.

But the strike spread late this afternoon to Los Angeles, Birmingham, Ala., and Boston, Mass.

U. S. District Judge Michael L. Igoe entered the order naming the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and 76 union lodges and individuals.

The defendants are to appear before Judge Igoe at 2 p. m. (CST) Monday. They must show cause why they should not be held in contempt for violating an injunction issued Wednesday night.

German Red Death Law Takes Effect

BERLIN, Saturday, Dec. 16 (AP) — A law intended to frighten all Germans into the Soviet "peace offensive" camp through penalties up to death for support of Western defense policies went into effect in East Germany on the stroke of midnight.

Persons found by Communist definition to be warmongering agents of the West were made legally subject to beheading on the guillotine.

Adopted by the Soviet Zone Communist parliament on second reading Friday, the law pretends to apply to the 48,000,000 Germans in the west and the 2,000,000 in Allied-occupied West Berlin as well as the east's subjugated 18,000,000.

Was Given Up For Dead

The begrimed coal miner was brought to the surface at 7:20 p. m. (PST) after having been entombed since 12:55 p. m., Wednesday.

He had been given up for dead yesterday as searchers labored to clear the mass of rock, timbers and debris in the foot of the 400-foot shaft at the bottom of a "Y," but when his voice was heard today, workers renewed efforts to reach him.

"I'm okay but I can't move," the trapped miner told rescuers as they uncovered his arms.

He was given a shot of whisky by a doctor who shoved the glass through an aperture.

Escapes Second "Scrape"

A cold rain drizzled down outside the mine all day, and water was trickling into the shaft, but none seemed to be draining into the hole where Wolti was confined.

The temperature was about 60 degrees where the workmen were digging.

Wolti's jubilant and hopeful wife responded to the news:

"Oh, thank the Lord. John has been in so many tough scrapes before, he'll be able to take care of himself."

The toughest of those "scrapes" was in this same area in 1932. He was one of two men who escaped alive from a coal mine explosion that killed 26 men.

Cab Drivers Strike

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 15 (AP) — Drivers for Charleston's four major taxi companies went on strike tonight in support of new wage demands.

Two More Guard Divisions Called To Active Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The government announced tonight it is calling two more National Guard divisions into federal service—the 31st from Alabama-Mississippi and the 47th from Minnesota - North Dakota.

They will be inducted into active service on Jan. 17.

The 31st Division will train at Fort Jackson, S. C., and the 47th at Camp Rucker, near Ozark, Ala.

An announcement by the Army, following President Truman's disclosure that two unnamed divisions were being federalized, said "these two divisions were selected as the best fitted for call in their respective areas."

Four National Guard infantry divisions already are in federal service under an order issued Aug. 1.

House Approves $17,809,304,424 For U. S. Defense

Voice Vote Sends Measure To Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — The House today shouted approval of a $17,809,304,424 defense appropriation bill tagged as "the first installment" on a mighty military program to ward off World War III.

The measure sped to the Senate where high military men were detailing plans for speeding up mobilization in a closed hearing of the Appropriations Committee already at work on the bill.

The huge appropriation included $16,845,181,000 for the Army, Navy and Air Force — exactly what President Truman asked. The Atomic Energy Commission got $840,000,000 to augment its fast expanding A-bomb and H-bomb program.

However, the total was $271,741,610 below the overall amount sought by Mr. Truman. Most of it was taken from the atomic commission because it isn't ready to spend all it asked.

But the House refused to add to the program $350,000,000 for an emergency shipbuilding program for speedy new-type cargo vessels with their own helicopter escort for anti-submarine protection. It was figured this amount would pay for 50 of them.

This amendment was voted down 61 to 42 after a technicality had removed from the bill itself a proposal of the House Appropriations Committee to put in $224,000,000 for 34 freighters.

Meanwhile, the "second installment" on the gigantic preparedness program was rapidly taking shape.

As the House took up the vast appropriation, President Truman sent Congress a new request for $1,834,911,000 to add war-needed materials to the nation's stockpile.

And at the Pentagon, a budget expert told reporters that the armed forces probably will ask $5,000,000,000 more this fiscal year which ends next June 30.

All this would run the military appropriations for the fiscal year to about $50,000,000,000. This is just half some estimates for the annual cost of total mobilization, if that should come. (By contrast, in the fiscal year of 1949-50 all federal spending totalled $41,167,000,000).

LONDON, Saturday, Dec. 16 (AP)—The British War Office today directed the transfer of thousands of trained British troops—including armored, infantry and anti-aircraft units—to posts in Western Germany.

Orders Partial Price Control, Arms Buildup

Proclamation Will Be Issued Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — President Truman tonight proclaimed a swift buildup of U. S. armed forces and immediate, partial price controls because, he said, "we are in great danger" of World War III.

In a solemn broadcast from the White House, the President said "our homes, our nation, all the things we believe in" are menaced by Soviet Communism.

The President said he will declare that "a national emergency exists" in a proclamation to be issued tomorrow.

Saying there is still hope that the free nations, working together, can prevent global conflict, he announced, a far-reaching partial mobilization program, including:

1. A swift buildup of U. S. armed forces, to nearly 3,500,000 men. He revealed that two additional National Guard divisions are being called up in January and said draft calls are being raised.

2. Price controls to be clamped immediately on goods vital to "defense production and the cost of living." The government is to undertake "wage stabilization" in the same fields.

No Appeasement

He said the United States stands ready to negotiate peace without appeasement. But he warned Russia bluntly that this country will never yield to aggression. Instead, he said it will serve as "an arsenal for the defense of freedom."

Then, in words foreshadowing an era of austerity for the American people, the President laid down the terms of "the big job" ahead:

Higher taxes ... longer work hours for many .. sacrifices— cutbacks on civilian production .. increased outputs from farms and factories ... sharper controls over the whole economy...

"We must prevent inflation and stabilize the cost of living," Mr. Truman said. "We must take direct measures to keep prices in line."

Outlining the steps for a rapid speedup in production of military equipment, the President went on:

"Within one year, we will be turning out planes at five times the present rate of production. Within one year, combat vehicles will be coming off the production line at four times today's rate.

"Within one year, the rate of production of electronics equipment for

Car Price Freeze Order Due Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS) —A federal order freezing prices on automobiles was drawn up tonight as one of the first steps in President Truman's price controls program and is expected to be issued Saturday.

Officials said the directive will roll back newly — announced price incerases on General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Nash automobiles and clamp on a ceiling at the levels existing last month.

Wholesale Prices Hit New All-Time High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS)— The government said today that wholesale prices climbed to a new all-time high by advancing another four-tenths of one per cent during the week ended last Tuesday.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices have soared 10.2 per cent since the start of the Korean war and 14.7 per cent in the last 12 months.

All commodities except farm products sold at record wholesale prices in the week of Dec. 12.

Sen. McCarthy Charges Drew Pearson "Moscow-Directed Character Assassin"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said in the Senate today that Drew Pearson is a "Moscow-directed character assassin" who serves as "the voice of international Communism."

Pearson promptly retorted in a statement that his record in fighting Communism is well known to everybody but "the headline happy Senator from Wisconsin". He threatened to sue McCarthy.

McCarthy studded his attack on the columnist-commentator with such epithets as "unprincipled liar and fake," and "this twisted, perverted mentality."

He said, however, "it appears that Pearson never actually signed up as a member of the Communist Party and never paid dues."

The long standing antagonism between the two men reached the point of blows last Tuesday night in a cloak room squabble at the plush Sulgrave Club. Just what happened was not clear. Pearson said McCarthy kicked him in the groin twice. McCarthy said he smacked Pearson with his open hand and knocked him down on his hips.

In his speech today, McCarthy charged that Pearson and the Communist Party hounded to death James Forrestal, the late secretary of defense. (Forrestal, under treatment for nervous trouble, leaped to his death from a hospital window May 22, 1949.)

McCarthy said the Communists' next intended victim is Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and that Pearson has been assigned the task of destroying him.

The Senator charged that Pearson takes his orders from David Karr, and quoted former Rep. Martin Dies as saying in the Congressional Record in 1943 that Karr was on the staff of the Communist Daily Worker for two years and that "there is not the slightest doubt that all members of the Daily Worker staff were required to be members of the Communist Party."

Pearson said that if Karr is a pro-Communist "the Washington Monument is a hole in the ground."

Sen. O'Conor Hits Mobilization Lag

BALTIMORE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) criticized the Truman administration today for slow mobilization of the nation for possible all-out war with Russia.

Even after the Communists struck in North Korea the measures taken by responsible authorities in Washington were "halfhearted or less," O'Conor said.

"That was six months ago," he said in a talk to a meeting of the Associated Industries of Maryland.

"But up to this time have they taken steps, since Russia made its first subtle move in the Korean hills, to ready our defenses on the mammoth scale that will be necessary, if and when Russia makes the worldwide moves on many fronts of which our intelligence know her to be capable?

"If a truthful answer is to be given to this question the answer is 'no.'"

That war "will be far different from any war this country has fought, it will be a struggle to the very death," O'Conor declared.

The Maryland Senator said the administration has not faced up to the situation and allowed the country to go on its "normal, unhurried way."

Its delay is not gearing industry to global war, he said, was "the same reason why our military potential is so vastly below what it ought to be, to the point where the fighting forces that suffered so terribly, and faced such disaster in Korea, were sent into battle against hopeless odds."

Abraham Lincoln left an estate of more than $110,000.

Two Pilots Sought After Planes Collide

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 15 (AP)—The wreckage of two fighter planes was found tonight by civilian and Air Force searchers near Patrick Henry Airport, 16 miles north of here.

No trace was found, however, of the pilots of the planes, which collided in the air this afternoon.

The search party launched an immediate hunt for the pilots, using special night lighting equipment, helicopters, planes and jeeps.

The two planes were identified as F-51s from the 136th Wing Command of nearby Langley Field Air Force base.

Just before Judge Igoe acted, the union's president, W. P. Kennedy, telegraphed chairmen of 22 lodges in Chicago that the "unauthorized stoppage" must "cease forthwith."

Sam Vander Hei, Chicago vice president of the brotherhood, immediately called the lodge chairmen into his office and told them the back-to-work order was "straight from the heart and from the shoulder."

Vander Hei referred to past union pleas for the men to return to work which went unheeded, and said:

"I ask again that you use your influence to get these men back to work."

Mt. Savage VFW Post Continues Toy Drive

MT. SAVAGE — Old Rail Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars has appealed for toys for needy children in the area, according to Edward Murray, district commander. The post has already received, repaired and painted a number of toys and will continue the project throughout this week.

Any residents who have toys to contribute to the VFW workshop, and any residents who know of children who might otherwise be missed by Santa Claus, should notify the post or its members, Murray suggested.

doughboys crouched in snowy foxholes to meet the major attack. Their officers said they could stop anything the Chinese could throw against them.

The Reds made their opening assault at Sinsong, six miles southwest of Hamhung.

First reports of the attack had mistakenly placed it at another Sinsong, which is southeast of Hamhung and only two and one-half miles from the Allied escape port of Hungnam.

The beachhead was the last toehold in Northeast Korea for the Tenth Corps, which had been forced to retreat before overwhelming numbers of Chinese Reds.

Pfc. John A. Sensabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sensabaugh, of 110 North Cedar Street, is home on a ten-day leave before reporting to Camp LeJeune, N. C.

Pfc. Sensabaugh left Cumberland with Company D Reserve unit and completed basic training at Parris Island, S. C.

defense will have multiplied four and one-half times."

There was no immediate official word on what the new airplane production rate would be. On the basis of past figures, the new rate mentioned by Mr. Truman would be between 1,500 and 2,000 a month.

The President emphasized that beside the actual warfare in the Far East, "Europe and the rest of the world are also in great danger" from Communist aggression.

He pointed out that Secretary of State Acheson is flying to Europe on Sunday to confere with the governments of the 12-nation North Atlantic treaty and to "complete arrangements for setting up a joint army, navy and air force to defend Europe."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of all Allied armies in the West during World War II, is slated to become supreme commander of the combined European forces.

Declaring that "our freedom is in danger," Mr. Truman said he will issue a national emergency proclamation tomorrow calling upon "every citizen to put aside his personal interests for the good of our country."

He announced the appointment of Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric, to head a new office of Defense Mobilization with full authority over "all the mobilization activities of the government.

These will include production, procurement, manpower, transportation, and economic stabilization, the President said.

Referring to rising prices, the President said the administration is starting at once to impose controls on items important "to defense production and the cost of living."

As for American armed forces, the President said:

"Today, our military strength has reached about two and a half million. Our next step is to increase the number of men and women on active duty to nearly three and a half million."

He said the Army and Navy will be able to raise their part of this goal within a few months. He said the country also has to million morep ersons in the National Guard and reserves subject to call.

While working toward immediate goals in manpower and equipment, he said, "we will also expand our training and production facilities so as to make possible a very rapid expansion to full mobilization if that becomes necessary."

Sen. O'Conor Hits Mobilization Lag

BALTIMORE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) criticized the Truman administration today for slow mobilization of the nation for possible all-out war with Russia.

Even after the Communists struck in North Korea the measures taken by responsible authorities in Washington were "halfhearted or less," O'Conor said.

"That was six months ago," he said in a talk to a meeting of the Associated Industries of Maryland.

"But up to this time have they taken steps, since Russia made its first subtle move in the Korean hills, to ready our defenses on the mammoth scale that will be necessary, if and when Russia makes the worldwide moves on many fronts of which our intelligence know her to be capable?

"If a truthful answer is to be given to this question the answer is 'no.'"

That war "will be far different from any war this country has fought, it will be a struggle to the very death," O'Conor declared.

The Maryland Senator said the administration has not faced up to the situation and allowed the country to go on its "normal, unhurried way."

Its delay is not gearing industry to global war, he said, was "the same reason why our military potential is so vastly below what it ought to be, to the point where the fighting forces that suffered so terribly, and faced such disaster in Korea, were sent into battle against hopeless odds."

Abraham Lincoln left an estate of more than $110,000.

Two Pilots Sought After Planes Collide

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 15 (AP)—The wreckage of two fighter planes was found tonight by civilian and Air Force searchers near Patrick Henry Airport, 16 miles north of here.

No trace was found, however, of the pilots of the planes, which collided in the air this afternoon.

The search party launched an immediate hunt for the pilots, using special night lighting equipment, helicopters, planes and jeeps.

The two planes were identified as F-51s from the 136th Wing Command of nearby Langley Field Air Force base.

Just before Judge Igoe acted, the union's president, W. P. Kennedy, telegraphed chairmen of 22 lodges in Chicago that the "unauthorized stoppage" must "cease forthwith."

Sam Vander Hei, Chicago vice president of the brotherhood, immediately called the lodge chairmen into his office and told them the back-to-work order was "straight from the heart and from the shoulder."

Vander Hei referred to past union pleas for the men to return to work which went unheeded, and said:

"I ask again that you use your influence to get these men back to work."

Mt. Savage VFW Post Continues Toy Drive

MT. SAVAGE — Old Rail Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars has appealed for toys for needy children in the area, according to Edward Murray, district commander. The post has already received, repaired and painted a number of toys and will continue the project throughout this week.

Any residents who have toys to contribute to the VFW workshop, and any residents who know of children who might otherwise be missed by Santa Claus, should notify the post or its members, Murray suggested.

doughboys crouched in snowy foxholes to meet the major attack. Their officers said they could stop anything the Chinese could throw against them.

The Reds made their opening assault at Sinsong, six miles southwest of Hamhung.

First reports of the attack had mistakenly placed it at another Sinsong, which is southeast of Hamhung and only two and one-half miles from the Allied escape port of Hungnam.

The beachhead was the last toehold in Northeast Korea for the Tenth Corps, which had been forced to retreat before overwhelming numbers of Chinese Reds.

defense will have multiplied four and one-half times."

There was no immediate official word on what the new airplane production rate would be. On the basis of past figures, the new rate mentioned by Mr. Truman would be between 1,500 and 2,000 a month.

The President emphasized that beside the actual warfare in the Far East, "Europe and the rest of the world are also in great danger" from Communist aggression.

He pointed out that Secretary of State Acheson is flying to Europe on Sunday to confere with the governments of the 12-nation North Atlantic treaty and to "complete arrangements for setting up a joint army, navy and air force to defend Europe."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of all Allied armies in the West during World War II, is slated to become supreme commander of the combined European forces.

Declaring that "our freedom is in danger," Mr. Truman said he will issue a national emergency proclamation tomorrow calling upon "every citizen to put aside his personal interests for the good of our country."

He announced the appointment of Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric, to head a new office of Defense Mobilization with full authority over "all the mobilization activities of the government.

These will include production, procurement, manpower, transportation, and economic stabilization, the President said.

Referring to rising prices, the President said the administration is starting at once to impose controls on items important "to defense production and the cost of living."

As for American armed forces, the President said:

"Today, our military strength has reached about two and a half million. Our next step is to increase the number of men and women on active duty to nearly three and a half million."

He said the Army and Navy will be able to raise their part of this goal within a few months. He said the country also has to million morep ersons in the National Guard and reserves subject to call.

While working toward immediate goals in manpower and equipment, he said, "we will also expand our training and production facilities so as to make possible a very rapid expansion to full mobilization if that becomes necessary."

History-Making Retreat

When they slashed their way victoriously out of a Chinese Red trap, some 25,000 U. S. Marines, 7th Division G.I.'s and British commandos etched a pattern of incomparable heroism in the snow and cold of northeast Korea.

This was the longest retreat in Marine annals—nearly 50 miles of bloody struggling over icy, tortuous mountain roads. Exhausted, tense, chilled by temperatures ranging down to 25 degrees below zero, these fighting men drove to temporary haven at Hungnam through a corridor of relentless enemy fire.

The cost of this epic break-out was high. The 1st Marine Engineer Battalion, which carved a path through the Chinese blocking the route ahead, suffered 60 per cent casualties of men and equipment. One reporter said 200 Americans were buried in a single grave, because there was no time for better arrangements.

As the gallant force hacked through to Koto on its way to the sea, it linked up with a smaller band of Marines surrounded for days by Chinese. Here's how, in the words of a correspondent, that little group looked to the larger force:

"It was a gruesome sight—wounded men with their blood frozen to their skins, their clothes stiff with ice, grotesque dead men lying across trailers and stretchers, live men stumbling along, grimacing from frost bite, using their rifles as crutches."

Once the long, bumper-to-bumper column stood almost motionless for four hours as engineers struggled to replace a bombed-out bridge. There were similar anguished delays as craters in the slippery road were filled. To go 10 miles on one part of the escape route required 14 hours.

All the way Chinese Communists were erecting obstacles ahead of our weary men, harassing their flanks, sniping at the column's rear. The enemy force was estimated at from three to five times greater than ours. Yet we exacted a toll of 10 Chinese for every casualty on our side.

When they finally made it down to the coastal plain, embattled Marines could find no energy for the formalities of "link-up" handshakes with the U. S. patrols who met them, nor had they many smiles for newsreel cameramen who asked them to "look happy." They'd seen and experienced too much.

"We have lost an awful lot of friends up on that plateau," said a Marine officer. "Almost everybody up there was a hero. It's just that some guys are asked what they did and tell about it, and others don't talk so good."

The schoolbooks of tomorrow will call this saga of skill and endurance and courage a retreat. But it is no surprise that the Marines who made that bitter march do not see it so. "It was no retreat," declared a colonel with fierce pride. "It was an advance to the rear."

What man, hearing of this ordeal, dares to say it was anything less?

Western Powers Not Split

It's too early to measure the ultimate worth of the Truman-Attlee talks in Washington. But one thing they have already proved beyond doubt: Moscow's attempt to split the western powers is doomed to failure.

U. S. correspondents in Europe have been telling us the break-up of the North Atlantic nations was one prime Soviet objective in prodding the Chinese Reds into their Korean offensive. Evidence of this aim comes from Russia itself, where recently there was premature shedding of tears (glycerin, of course) over the predicted collapse of the western alliance.

The Kremlin figured that disputes between Britain, France and the United States over how much strength to commit in Korea would cause the falling out. If that could have been gained, it would have been well worth the risk, since the vitally important unity of the West in Europe would have been destroyed. Prime Minister Attlee effectively spiked that hope from the moment he landed on American soil. He dashed it for good and all when he told the National Press Club a few days later that "in fair weather and foul" Britain will stand with America.

President Truman, for his part, was just as much concerned that no crack be allowed to develop in the West's armor. Through the State Department, he made it plain that a rift simply would not be countenanced.

It was necessary for Attlee to push out of sight some of the criticisms his countrymen had been making of the United States. This he did, with unhesitating resolution.

It was necessary for the President, too, to soft-pedal some American complaints against the British and French.

This isn't to suggest that the two heads of state were in complete harmony at every stage. Reports filtering out of their various meetings indicate they spoke out quite plainly on many topics. One may surmise that a healthy clearing of the air has resulted.

The spirit of accord reflected in these meetings certainly is demanded by the West's crisis. But probably their final value will not be gauged by what was said there in behalf of unity. It will be more likely judged by what the free nations do in the months ahead to demonstrate that unity.

Fertile New Mexico

A new day may be dawning for New Mexico. Hitherto the state has been decidedly on the dry side. Now the cloud-seeding experiments which proved helpful in relieving New York City's water shortage have been applied to parts of New Mexico, and are credited with increasing the rainfall fourfold. The area treated was an area of 125 square miles around the town of Roy in the northeastern part of the state.

Too much should not be expected, however. Dr. Irving Krick, in charge of the operation, says that seeding does not cause rain when none is around. It merely increases the amount. Still, New Mexicans now have ground for hope that judicious seeding might ultimately make their state noted for its farms.

Note To Emily Post

What is the appropriate thing to say when a person meets a relative he hasn't seen for years? It depends on the relative, of course. Some persons are fortunate enough not to have the kind for whom the usual greeting is "Oh! It's you." It also could depend on how the meeting takes place.

Take the two long-separated cousins who recognized each other after their cars collided in Oklahoma City. The news story didn't reveal how they greeted each other. But most persons, if this sort of thing ever happens to them, will just say: "Well! I never expected to run into you!"

Health Plans In Middle Age

MEN and women of 40 are beginning to realize that medical science is making it possible for them to live longer. They realize that each year life expectancy is pushed up anothe notch and they wonder what the span will be 20 to 30 years from now. To add life to these extra years it is becoming obvious that health is more important than financial security.

In my opinion, this is a radical change in our way of thinking. The middle-aged person looks forward to retirement and a pension but he has seen what happens when the dollar fluctuates in value. What appears to be an adequate retirement income today may be totally inadequate tomorrow. An investment in health, on the other hand, offers more possibilities because there is no better investment. After all, it is much more consoling to look forward to a healthy old age than a rich but sickly one.

The future belongs to those who plan for it; this refers to the financial aspect but applies equally well to the physical and mental status. The plans must be made far in advance and there is no better time than in the 40s. The new life that starts in this decade should incorporate measures that encourage the maintenance of health. This means taking stock of all the factors that might possibly hasten deterioration. Overwork and insufficient rest, for example, lead to fatigue and fatigue invites all kinds of trouble. Overweight encourages diabetes and hardening of the arteries, both of which hasten deterioration. Most of us will develop arteriosclerosis eventually but why be ahead of the game? If it is inevitable let's have it at 70 instead of 50. We do not know the cause but, to the best of our knowledge, cholesterol plays a role. If so, we might begin in the forties to reduce our intake of animal fat, egg yolk, kidney, brains, liver, fish roe, sweetbreads, and butter.

We appreciate the fact that every age has its compensations but it has seemed to me that the oldster with a hobby has advantages over the man or woman with nothing to do. But hobbies, like health and financial security, are rarely developed overnight. There is no secret formula for making a wise choice. Many stem from personal interests, aptitudes, and skills. Now and then they represent outgrowths of training acquired in youth. There is a wide variety ranging from stamp collecting to photography. Hobbies are valuable to the elderly because they give a mental boose and afford excellent ways to spend leisure. Using the hands relaxes the mind and there is much personal enjoyment in the ability to achieve or create. Furthermore, most hobbies can be enjoyed alone.

At 40 we ought to be well on the way to acquiring a philosophy of life. We should have a goal, but it must be practical. The one who aims to conquer the world or become a millionaire usually is sorely disappointed. This is the time to establish good habits and dispense with bad ones. At this age it is too late to regret our past mistakes because introspection leads to self-pity. There is nothing more boring than to listen day in and day out to an individual tell of his troubles. Living in the past or the future also is useless. It is the present that counts and as Sir William Osler put it: "Do not what lies dimly at a distance, but do what lies already at hand."

TOMORROW: A head injury may damage the brain.

NOISY HOSPITALS

A. S. writes: Will you please comment on the noises that abound in hospitals? I have been unfortunate enough to spend much time in hospitals and have yet to find one that is kept reasonably quiet. The medical profession is constantly preaching the virtues of peace of mind and quiet but no effort seems to be made to control noises in hospital corridors, wards, and elevators.

REPLY

I agree that many hospitals are far too noisy, but disagree that nothing is done about it. Money is being spent on soundproofing and insulation and in addition attempts have been made to make the personnel noise-conscious. This means talking in a lower voice, wearing rubber heels, and not banging trays, dishes, and mops. In private rooms, the doors can be kept closed.

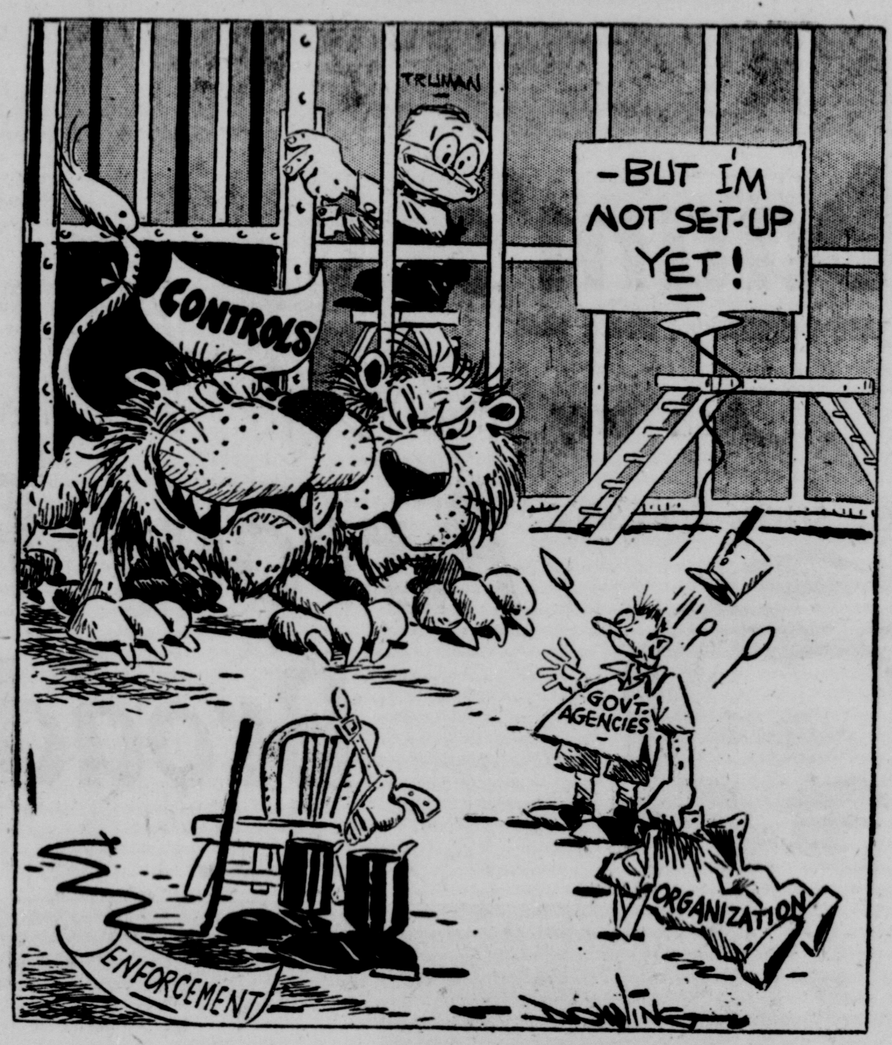
Do not jail it because this abscess of the fingertip requires expert care Unless the lesion is opened and drained there is a possibility that the bone will become involved. As a result, surgery is advised along with penicillin or one of the other antibiotics.

YOU HAVE TO COORDINATE THOSE THINGS



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When new price director Mike Di Salle conferred with the President recently, he told him that the subject of the atom bomb was a topic of lively conversation around the large Di Salle dinner table. One night, said the ex-mayor of Toledo, he polled his five children on whether or not the atom bomb should be used. Each one of them said "yes"—except his youngest daughter, Dianne, aged ten.

"Why do you say it shouldn't be used?" Di Salle asked.

"Well," replied Dianne thoughtfully, "if we used it, somebody might also use it against us."

The President smiled at the story. "That young daughter of yours," he said, "makes a lot more sense about the atom bomb than a number of people I've been talking with recently."

Taxpayers Finance Publicity

Three headline-minded congressmen—Clare Hoffman, George Dondero and Paul Shafer, all Michigan Republicans — have discovered a sure-fire way to get their names in the papers back home. They simply pay off, with the taxpayers' money, the reporter who writes the news.

In fact, all three keep the same Michigan reporter, or his wife, on the public payroll.

He is Thomas L. Munger, who writes for a string of small Michigan papers, including the Pontiac Press. He is carried on the payrolls of both Hoffman and Dondero, while his wife, Mayme Munger, is listed as an office clerk for Shaffer. However, other Michigan congressmen claim it is Mr. Munger, not Mrs. Munger, who works for Shaffer, too.

This enterprising reporter, therefore, appears to be paid both by his newspapers and the Congressmen for writing about them. Hoffman pays $58 and Dondero $100 per month to Mr. Munger, and Shaffer authorizes $190 per month for Mrs. Munger. Of course, these side salaries actually come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Rollcall of Patriots

One important problem most people don't realize today is that of getting trained executives to give up the high salaries paid by private business to work in Washington.

Every week various experts are invited to help out their country with the intricate problem of mobilization, but usually the answer is "no."

However, this column would like to pay tribute to the following men who have patriotically given up private jobs to help their country:

Dr. William L. Langer, distinguished Harvard history professor and expert on Europe who helped the ultra-secret Office of Strategic Services during the war. He has now come back to Washington to work for Central Intelligence.

Robert Lovett, Undersecretary of Defense. Lovett disregarded the advice of both his doctor and his family to help his old friend, Secretary of Defense Marshall.

William H. Jackson, law partner of Jock Whitney, who was deputy intelligense chief for Gen. Omar Bradley in Europe. He has now given up a lush law practice to assist Gen. Bedell Smith at Central Intelligence.

Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense, who made a quarter of a million dollars a year as labor adviser to the Rockefellers, R. H. Macy and some of the biggest corporations in the country. Having come to Washington to help out in the manpower emergency, she faced unfair, scurrilous attacks on her patriotism by irresponsible people.

Allen Dulles, now working with Central Intelligence. A partner in the law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, Dulles was formerly chief of the State Department's Near East ern Division and helped direct OSS during the war.

NOTE—Few people realize it, but high-income individuals who step way down to a government salary take an awful licking on their income tax. They must dig into their savings to pay taxes, because the Treasury check won't spread out the tax they have to pay on the high income of the year before. Undersecretary Lovett, for instance, was forced to use up his savings to pay taxes and upkeep in Washington during his earlier tour of duty.

McCarthyism

An Oregon war hero and a noted Catholic editor make some interesting comments regarding Senator Joe McCarthy and his wild charges.

Bill Exline, Oregon senior vice commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, writes in the Purple Heart magazine, "his (McCarthy's) complete disregard for American principles in jurisprudence makes him potentially far more dangerous than those he accuses."

Associate Editor Francis Dowling hit equally hard in the Catholic weekly, Commonweal: "The voice of McCarthy was abroad in the land and it is now, as it was in the beginning, a poisoned and fearful thing. . . . We have known demagogues in our political history, but this is a special kind—an evil kind, a deliberate kind—it adds falseness to the already false. It is the spurious and the counterfeit."

War Notes

Casualties—Even before the Marines broke out of the Chinese trap and began counting their dead and wounded, actual American casualties were running 20,000 ahead of the official announcements. At the end of last week, the announced casualty list was 32,645. In contrast, the actual casualty list still to be given the public was 53,212 dead, wounded and missing.

Power Shortage—The country will feel a serious power pinch next year as defense production starts building up. Already the energy load on the nation's power lines is up 20 per cent over the same period last year, and, as a result, the margins of reserve are disappearing. The blunt truth is that the postwar demands for electricity outstripped the power industry's estimates, and the industry has not kept pace in expanding its facilities.

Self-Inflicted Wounds—Secret cables from the Korean front report an alarming number of American troops are shooting themselves in order to get shipped back to Japan for hospitalization. Medical officers blame severe battle conditions and battle fatigue for the rise in self-inflicted wounds.

Arm-Chair Strategist — Likable Presidential Assistant John Steelman has become a military strategist. In an official memo to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he gave some ideas on how he thought the Air Force ought to operate, including a suggestion that the Air Force use slower planes, so older pilots could fly them and so the pilots could get a better view of the target. He didn't say what the slow planes were supposed to do in case of an attack by Russian MIG-15 jets.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

How Much Butter, How Many Guns?

WASHINGTON

THE new "national emergency" rearmament program sponsored by President Truman has been widely advertised as an absolutely all-out mobilization of national resources and national effort. It is, in fact, nothing of the sort. It is true that the policy of "a great deal of butter and very few guns," which was plainly leading to catastrophe, has been abandoned.

Yet the new policy is still one of "a good many guns and a good deal of butter," rather than the policy of "a great many guns and precious little butter," which our situation, the most perilous in our history, now clearly requires. The simplest way to demonstrate this fact is to consider the case of the Air Force, and to compare what this country can do to build its strength in the air, and what the government actually plans to do under the new program.

Present plans call for an Air Force of 84 groups to be built by December 31, 1952. This compares with an Air Force of 42 groups, masquerading as 48, in the era of the unlamented Louis A. Johnson. Yearly Air Force expenditures are now planned at about the $14 billion level. This should provide some 7,000 new combat planes of all types within the next 24 months.

Mortal Danger Ahead

This sounds formidable enough. Yet it is less formidable than it sounds, especially as regards the period of mortal danger which lies immediately ahead of us. For example, this program will permit the organization of no heavy bomber groups at all during the next 12 months, and only three or four such groups toward the end of 1952. What is more, present plans will not permit the eventual huge expansion of production which this country achieved toward the end of the last war. Even by the end of 1953, the Air Force will have received only about 12,000 new planes at presently planned levels of production.

It has been said that this is the most that American industry can do. This is simply not true. In fact, it can be reported on very high authority that the program outlined above represents considerably less than half what can be done.

Given a level of annual spending for air power of about $24 billion; American industry can produce at least 25,000 new planes in the next 24 months, 14,000 of these combat planes. This will provide an air force of 168 groups, double the proposed figure, by December 31, 1952.

Even in this case, a long and infinitely dangerous time-lag is inevitable, simply because it requires a full year to produce a new, modern heavy bomber, for example, from the day the order is received. But given this sort of effort, it will be possible to organize seven or eight new heavy bombers groups by the end of 1952, instead of three or four, and 60 or 65 new fighter groups, instead of the presently planned 25 or 30.

Air Superiority Possible

What is more important, an almost explosive expansion of aircraft production will come in 1953, if industry is given the signal to go all-out now—and 1953 may well be the year of decision. For if a great effort is initiated now, not 12,000, but 70,000 new combat planes will have been delivered to the Air Force by the end of 1953.

After years of total effort, the Kremlin has succeeded in producing an air force of only about 19,000 planes. This fact points up the vital difference between what the government plans to do, and what the country can do.

The government plans to create an Air Force which will certainly be a match for the Soviet Air Force. What the country can do is to create an Air Force unchallengably superior to anything the Soviet Union is capable of producing. This country can never wholly match Soviet strength on the ground, and the sea is at least as much an obstacle as an advantage to us. Thus the presently contemplated half-way effort means that the opportunity is being missed to create unquestioned supremacy in the one area of military strength where this is possible.

If the decision to create real air supremacy at whatever cost is finally taken, the effort involved will be far from painless. For any kind of balanced force, the other services will require comparable appropriations. This will mean annual budgets on the order of $100 billion, and a full war economy. It will mean real "guns instead of butter," the kind of lowering of living standards which this country certainly never experienced during the last war. But the decision to go the whole way is almost certain to be taken in the end, simply because with every passing day it becomes more bleakly obvious that halfway measures are not enough to ensure the survival of this nation.

Justice Sacrificed By UN For Political Expediency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — When the United Nations was formed, the idea that it represented a means of proclaiming law and justice in international relations was foremost—yet today the members of the UN have gotten themselves so tangled up in their own political expediencies that they have made a shamble of both law and justice.

Thus, the Communist government of China committed outrages against international law, but the government of Great Britain and other governments nevertheless extended formal recognition to that government.

The United States government, on the other hand, still recognizes the Nationalist government, which has a base on Formosa, and does so because no other government has risen in China which is capable of discharging international obligations or honoring its pledges.

The United Nations members, although aware that China has a permanent seat in the Security Council with the enduring power of veto that goes with a permanent seat, did not consult with each other before extending recognition and decide the question collectively. Instead, each government went its separate way—though obviously the capacity of a new government to discharge its obligations is a matter of real substance. It cannot be dismissed as a technical affair of no interest to the family of nations.

Pledges Violated

The hypocrisy of the age is such today that, in order to justify their error in accepting a bad government by giving its recognition, refuge is taken by such nations in the argument that it doesn't matter who rules a country so long as it has physical control. The United States government for 17 years prior to 1933 declined to accept as decisive the fact that the Soviet Communists had physical control of Russia but demanded as a condition of recognition certain written assurances and pledges—which, incidentally, have since been violated repeatedly.

Today the only recognized government in Korea is that of the Republic of Korea. The United Nations sent a commission there to help it get established. The UN placed its blessing on the government of that country, and it was Communist Russia which prevented the faction in Northern Korea from allowing the UN commission to conduct elections or even to visit and inspect North Korea.

Now the Chinese Communist regime, giving military assistance to North Koreans, has attacked UN troops. This act of aggression has been committed not just against the Republic of Korea but against the UN itself. Yet, when the Republic of Korea asks for military help and the Nationalist government of China is ready to furnish such help, the constituted government of Korea is prevented from accepting it.

In international law a constituted government may call on outside governments for aid, and it is considered lawful. The aid given to the Rhee government by the UN is in accord with international law, and it would be the same if the Republic of Korea were to be given aid by the Nationalist armies now on Formosa.

Damaging To UN

The situation is growing more and more damaging to the UN every day that its troops are threatened by Chinese Communist forces. The so-called "cease fire" order is a logical thing to strive for, but it doesn't alter the position of the UN, which cannot from any legal or moral standpoint accept the Chinese Communists on a basis of equality. The only basis on which Communist China can be treated is on the basis of its wrongdoing—its aggression.

Actually Hitler would have been glad many a time during the last war to make a negotiated peace but on terms that would have preserved the Nazi regime. The allied forces fought until the Nazi regime was defeated and then they proceeded to punish the aggressors.

Today there are governments in the UN which apparently are willing to negotiate with an aggressor state. This is the first time since the period before 1939 than an aggressor has been given such treatment—virtually as an equal among the countries which have been resisting his aggression.

What is most disconcerting is the number of persons here and abroad who wave aside all considerations of law and justice and say that anything is preferable to war. This is the road to deterioration. It is only a question of time then when the aggressor moves again and the peace-at-any-price countries are caught in a war just the same.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Christmas Month

THE mails are growing heavier; Christmas cards are beginning to arrive. Cartons and packages clutter the inner rooms of the house and in a day or two, all sorts of colored paper and tinsel and fanciful tapes will appear. It is just before Christmas.

But what is this holiday, for which such magnificent preparations are being made? Is it the gift-giving day set apart as a convenience? Is it a day to notify forgotten friends and relatives that their names remain on a list for once-a-year attention? Or is it the anniversary of the birth of Christ?

I found a curious comment on this subject by Harry L. Lurie, executive director, Council of Jewish and Welfare Funds. He writes:

"It is exceedingly doubtful whether the various religious sects and denominations which exist in this country can remain immune to the general cultural trends. Religious activities are not isolated experiences; they will influence the culture of which they are a part and be influenced by it; witness the evolution of the Christmas festival as a general activity which goes far beyond its religious significance."

The danger is, of course, that the religious significance of Christmas is being lost altogether in the welter of things, just as the religious significance of our lives as Americans is being levelled down into a meaningless universalism. Yet the hard core of American civilization, is, as the Declaration of Independence puts it:

". . . all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ."

This little paragraph is America and it is no other country. For it contains two distinct ideas which are derived from the Judaic-Christian insistence upon God's law. These two ideas are:

1. That the individual man is endowed by "nature's God" with certain unalienable rights which are inherent in his nature and are beyond the authority of government.

2. That governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed.

"We have become forgetful of these arch-stones in our political and social system. We are losing our way because we are unmindful of our origins—our spiritual rather than geographical origins.

Recently, I was at Notre Dame University where we discussed these propositions at the Natural Law Institute. It was a hark-back to fundamentals, to the origins of human rights. I could not help comparing these two statements of human rights:

1. From the Virginia Bill of Rights (June 12, 1776):

"That all men are by nature equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights, of which, when they enter into a state of society, they cannot by any compact deprive or divest their posterity; namely, the enjoyment of life and liberty, with the means of acquiring and possessing property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety."

2. From the Declaration of Human Rights of the United States:

"All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood."

The Virginia statement, like the Declaration of Independence, is grounded in natural law. It acknowledges the eternal law of God—of nature's God in the declaration, "by nature," in the Virginia bill.

The United Nations document avoids pholosophy. It dares not say that God, the creator, has endowed man with qualities, dignity and rights. It dares not assert a divine Intelligence. And that is important because it makes the individual man and not the state, the beneficiary of God's gifts.

Here we have a contrast between Christian thought and then co-paganism rampant in the world today. And the Christmas season is a good time to think about such matters. For Jews, Christians and Mohammedans and all great religious

History-Making Retreat

When they slashed their way victoriously out of a Chinese Red trap, some 25,000 U. S. Marines, 7th Division G.I.'s and British commandos etched a pattern of incomparable heroism in the snow and cold of northeast Korea.

This was the longest retreat in Marine annals—nearly 50 miles of bloody struggling over icy, tortuous mountain roads. Exhausted, tense, chilled by temperatures ranging down to 25 degrees below zero, these fighting men drove to temporary haven at Hungnam through a corridor of relentless enemy fire.

The cost of this epic break-out was high. The 1st Marine Engineer Battalion, which carved a path through the Chinese blocking the route ahead, suffered 60 per cent casualties of men and equipment. One reporter said 200 Americans were buried in a single grave, because there was no time for better arrangements.

As the gallant force hacked through to Koto on its way to the sea, it linked up with a smaller band of Marines surrounded for days by Chinese. Here's how, in the words of a correspondent, that little group looked to the larger force:

"It was a gruesome sight—wounded men with their blood frozen to their skins, their clothes stiff with ice, grotesque dead men lying across trailers and stretchers, live men stumbling along, grimacing from frost bite, using their rifles as crutches."

Once the long, bumper-to-bumper column stood almost motionless for four hours as engineers struggled to replace a bombed-out bridge. There were similar anguished delays as craters in the slippery road were filled. To go 10 miles on one part of the escape route required 14 hours.

All the way Chinese Communists were erecting obstacles ahead of our weary men, harassing their flanks, sniping at the column's rear. The enemy force was estimated at from three to five times greater than ours. Yet we exacted a toll of 10 Chinese for every casualty on our side.

When they finally made it down to the coastal plain, embattled Marines could find no energy for the formalities of "link-up" handshakes with the U. S. patrols who met them, nor had they many smiles for newsreel cameramen who asked them to "look happy." They'd seen and experienced too much.

"We have lost an awful lot of friends up on that plateau," said a Marine officer. "Almost everybody up there was a hero. It's just that some guys are asked what they did and tell about it, and others don't talk so good."

The schoolbooks of tomorrow will call this saga of skill and endurance and courage a retreat. But it is no surprise that the Marines who made that bitter march do not see it so. "It was no retreat," declared a colonel with fierce pride. "It was an advance to the rear."

What man, hearing of this ordeal, dares to say it was anything less?

Western Powers Not Split

It's too early to measure the ultimate worth of the Truman-Attlee talks in Washington. But one thing they have already proved beyond doubt: Moscow's attempt to split the western powers is doomed to failure.

U. S. correspondents in Europe have been telling us the break-up of the North Atlantic nations was one prime Soviet objective in prodding the Chinese Reds into their Korean offensive. Evidence of this aim comes from Russia itself, where recently there was premature shedding of tears (glycerin, of course) over the predicted collapse of the western alliance.

The Kremlin figured that disputes between Britain, France and the United States over how much strength to commit in Korea would cause the falling out. If that could have been gained, it would have been well worth the risk, since the vitally important unity of the West in Europe would have been destroyed. Prime Minister Attlee effectively spiked that hope from the moment he landed on American soil. He dashed it for good and all when he told the National Press Club a few days later that "in fair weather and foul" Britain will stand with America.

President Truman, for his part, was just as much concerned that no crack be allowed to develop in the West's armor. Through the State Department, he made it plain that a rift simply would not be countenanced.

It was necessary for Attlee to push out of sight some of the criticisms his countrymen had been making of the United States. This he did, with unhesitating resolution.

It was necessary for the President, too, to soft-pedal some American complaints against the British and French.

This isn't to suggest that the two heads of state were in complete harmony at every stage. Reports filtering out of their various meetings indicate they spoke out quite plainly on many topics. One may surmise that a healthy clearing of the air has resulted.

The spirit of accord reflected in these meetings certainly is demanded by the West's crisis. But probably their final value will not be gauged by what was said there in behalf of unity. It will be more likely judged by what the free nations do in the months ahead to demonstrate that unity.

Fertile New Mexico

A new day may be dawning for New Mexico. Hitherto the state has been decidedly on the dry side. Now the cloud-seeding experiments which proved helpful in relieving New York City's water shortage have been applied to parts of New Mexico, and are credited with increasing the rainfall fourfold. The area treated was an area of 125 square miles around the town of Roy in the northeastern part of the state.

Too much should not be expected, however. Dr. Irving Krick, in charge of the operation, says that seeding does not cause rain when none is around. It merely increases the amount. Still, New Mexicans now have ground for hope that judicious seeding might ultimately make their state noted for its farms.

Note To Emily Post

What is the appropriate thing to say when a person meets a relative he hasn't seen for years? It depends on the relative, of course. Some persons are fortunate enough not to have the kind for whom the usual greeting is "Oh! It's you." It also could depend on how the meeting takes place.

Take the two long-separated cousins who recognized each other after their cars collided in Oklahoma City. The news story didn't reveal how they greeted each other. But most persons, if this sort of thing ever happens to them, will just say: "Well! I never expected to run into you!"

Health Plans In Middle Age

MEN and women of 40 are beginning to realize that medical science is making it possible for them to live longer. They realize that each year life expectancy is pushed up anothe notch and they wonder what the span will be 20 to 30 years from now. To add life to these extra years it is becoming obvious that health is more important than financial security.

In my opinion, this is a radical change in our way of thinking. The middle-aged person looks forward to retirement and a pension but he has seen what happens when the dollar fluctuates in value. What appears to be an adequate retirement income today may be totally inadequate tomorrow. An investment in health, on the other hand, offers more possibilities because there is no better investment. After all, it is much more consoling to look forward to a healthy old age than a rich but sickly one.

The future belongs to those who plan for it; this refers to the financial aspect but applies equally well to the physical and mental status. The plans must be made far in advance and there is no better time than in the 40s. The new life that starts in this decade should incorporate measures that encourage the maintenance of health. This means taking stock of all the factors that might possibly hasten deterioration. Overwork and insufficient rest, for example, lead to fatigue and fatigue invites all kinds of trouble. Overweight encourages diabetes and hardening of the arteries, both of which hasten deterioration. Most of us will develop arteriosclerosis eventually but why be ahead of the game? If it is inevitable let's have it at 70 instead of 50. We do not know the cause but, to the best of our knowledge, cholesterol plays a role. If so, we might begin in the forties to reduce our intake of animal fat, egg yolk, kidney, brains, liver, fish roe, sweetbreads, and butter.

We appreciate the fact that every age has its compensations but it has seemed to me that the oldster with a hobby has advantages over the man or woman with nothing to do. But hobbies, like health and financial security, are rarely developed overnight. There is no secret formula for making a wise choice. Many stem from personal interests, aptitudes, and skills. Now and then they represent outgrowths of training acquired in youth. There is a wide variety ranging from stamp collecting to photography. Hobbies are valuable to the elderly because they give a mental boose and afford excellent ways to spend leisure. Using the hands relaxes the mind and there is much personal enjoyment in the ability to achieve or create. Furthermore, most hobbies can be enjoyed alone.

At 40 we ought to be well on the way to acquiring a philosophy of life. We should have a goal, but it must be practical. The one who aims to conquer the world or become a millionaire usually is sorely disappointed. This is the time to establish good habits and dispense with bad ones. At this age it is too late to regret our past mistakes because introspection leads to self-pity. There is nothing more boring than to listen day in and day out to an individual tell of his troubles. Living in the past or the future also is useless. It is the present that counts and as Sir William Osler put it: "Do not what lies dimly at a distance, but do what lies already at hand."

NOISY HOSPITALS

A. S. writes: Will you please comment on the noises that abound in hospitals? I have been unfortunate enough to spend much time in hospitals and have yet to find one that is kept reasonably quiet. The medical profession is constantly preaching the virtues of peace of mind and quiet but no effort seems to be made to control noises in hospital corridors, wards, and elevators.

REPLY

I agree that many hospitals are far too noisy, but disagree that nothing is done about it. Money is being spent on soundproofing and insulation and in addition attempts have been made to make the personnel noise-conscious. This means talking in a lower voice, wearing rubber heels, and not banging trays, dishes, and mops. In private rooms, the doors can be kept closed.

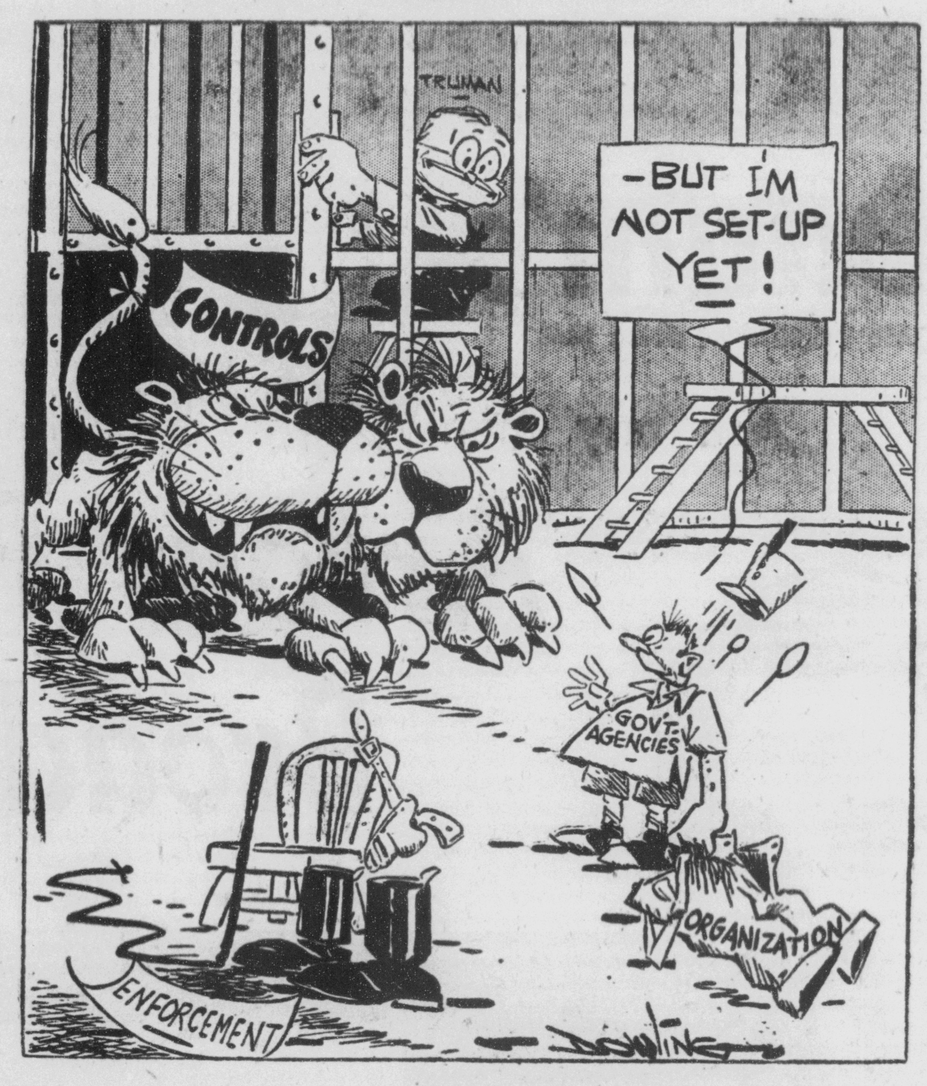
Do not jail it because this abscess of the fingertip requires expert care Unless the lesion is opened and drained there is a possibility that the bone will become involved. As a result, surgery is advised along with penicillin or one of the other antibiotics.

YOU HAVE TO COORDINATE THOSE THINGS



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When new price director Mike Di Salle conferred with the President recently, he told him that the subject of the atom bomb was a topic of lively conversation around the large Di Salle dinner table. One night, said the ex-mayor of Toledo, he polled his five children on whether or not the atom bomb should be used. Each one of them said "yes"—except his youngest daughter, Dianne, aged ten.

"Why do you say it shouldn't be used?" Di Salle asked.

"Well," replied Dianne thoughtfully, "if we used it, somebody might also use it against us."

The President smiled at the story.

"That young daughter of yours," he said, "makes a lot more sense about the atom bomb than a number of people I've been talking with recently."

Taxpayers Finance Publicity

Three headline-minded congressmen—Clare Hoffman, George Dondero and Paul Shafer, all Michigan Republicans — have discovered a sure-fire way to get their names in the papers back home. They simply pay off, with the taxpayers' money, the reporter who writes the news.

In fact, all three keep the same Michigan reporter, or his wife, on the public payroll.

He is Thomas L. Munger, who writes for a string of small Michigan papers, including the Pontiac Press. He is carried on the payrolls of both Hoffman and Dondero, while his wife, Mayme Munger, is listed as an office clerk for Shaffer. However, other Michigan congressmen claim it is Mr. Munger, not Mrs. Munger, who works for Shaffer, too.

This enterprising reporter, therefore, appears to be paid both by his newspapers and the Congressmen for writing about them. Hoffman pays $58 and Dondero $100 per month to Mr. Munger, and Shaffer authorizes $190 per month for Mrs. Munger. Of course, these side salaries actually come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Rollcall of Patriots

One important problem most people don't realize today is that of getting trained executives to give up the high salaries paid by private business to work in Washington.

Every week various experts are invited to help out their country with the intricate problem of mobilization, but usually the answer is "no."

However, this column would like to pay tribute to the following men who have patriotically given up private jobs to help their country:

Dr. William L. Langer, distinguished Harvard history professor and expert on Europe who helped the ultra-secret Office of Strategic Services during the war. He has now come back to Washington to work for Central Intelligence.

Robert Lovett, Undersecretary of Defense. Lovett disregarded the advice of both his doctor and his family to help his old friend, Secretary of Defense Marshall.

William H. Jackson, law partner of Jock Whitney, who was deputy intelligense chief for Gen. Omar Bradley in Europe. He has now given up a lush law practice to assist Gen. Bedell Smith at Central Intelligence.

Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense, who made a quarter of a million dollars a year as labor adviser to the Rockefellers, R. H. Macy and some of the biggest corporations in the country. Having come to Washington to help out in the manpower emergency, she faced unfair, scurrilous attacks on her patriotism by irresponsible people.

Allen Dulles, now working with Central Intelligence. A partner in the law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, Dulles was formerly chief of the State Department's Near East ern Division and helped direct OSS during the war.

NOTE—Few people realize it, but high-income individuals who step way down to a government salary take an awful licking on their income tax. They must dig into their savings to pay taxes, because the Treasury check won't spread out the tax they have to pay on the high income of the year before. Undersecretary Lovett, for instance, was forced to use up his savings to pay taxes and upkeep in Washington during his earlier tour of duty.

McCarthyism

An Oregon war hero and a noted Catholic editor make some interesting comments regarding Senator Joe McCarthy and his wild charges.

Bill Exline, Oregon senior vice commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, writes in the Purple Heart magazine, "his (McCarthy's) complete disregard for American principles in jurisprudence makes him potentially far more dangerous than those he accuses."

Associate Editor Francis Dowling hit equally hard in the Catholic weekly, Commonweal: "The voice of McCarthy was abroad in the land and it is now, as it was in the beginning, a poisoned and fearful thing. . . . We have known demagogues in our political history, but this is a special kind—an evil kind, a deliberate kind—it adds falseness to the already false. It is the spurious and the counterfeit."

War Notes

Casualties—Even before the Marines broke out of the Chinese trap and began counting their dead and wounded, actual American casualties were running 20,000 ahead of the official announcements. At the end of last week, the announced casualty list was 32,645. In contrast, the actual casualty list still to be given the public was 53,212 dead, wounded and missing.

Power Shortage—The country will feel a serious power pinch next year as defense production starts building up. Already the energy load on the nation's power lines is up 20 per cent over the same period last year, and, as a result, the margins of reserve are disappearing. The blunt truth is that the postwar demands for electricity outstripped the power industry's estimates, and the industry has not kept pace in expanding its facilities.

Self-Inflicted Wounds—Secret cables from the Korean front report an alarming number of American troops are shooting themselves in order to get shipped back to Japan for hospitalization. Medical officers blame severe battle conditions and battle fatigue for the rise in self-inflicted wounds.

Arm-Chair Strategist — Likable Presidential Assistant John Steelman has become a military strategist. In an official memo to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he gave some ideas on how he thought the Air Force ought to operate, including a suggestion that the Air Force use slower planes, so older pilots could fly them and so the pilots could get a better view of the target. He didn't say what the slow planes were supposed to do in case of an attack by Russian MIG-15 jets.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

How Much Butter, How Many Guns?

WASHINGTON

THE new "national emergency" rearmament program sponsored by President Truman has been widely advertised as an absolutely all-out mobilization of national resources and national effort. It is, in fact, nothing of the sort. It is true that the policy of "a great deal of butter and very few guns," which was plainly leading to catastrophe, has been abandoned.

Yet the new policy is still one of "a good many guns and a good deal of butter," rather than the policy of "a great many guns and precious little butter," which our situation, the most perilous in our history, now clearly requires. The simplest way to demonstrate this fact is to consider the case of the Air Force, and to compare what this country can do to build its strength in the air, and what the government actually plans to do under the new program.

Present plans call for an Air Force of 84 groups to be built by December 31, 1952. This compares with an Air Force of 42 groups, masquerading as 48, in the era of the unlamented Louis A. Johnson. Yearly Air Force expenditures are now planned at about the $14 billion level. This should provide some 7,000 new combat planes of all types within the next 24 months.

Mortal Danger Ahead

This sounds formidable enough. Yet it is less formidable than it sounds, especially as regards the period of mortal danger which lies immediately ahead of us. For example, this program will permit the organization of no heavy bomber groups at all during the next 12 months, and only three or four such groups toward the end of 1952. What is more, present plans will not permit the eventual huge expansion of production which this country achieved toward the end of the last war. Even by the end of 1953, the Air Force will have received only about 12,000 new planes at presently planned levels of production.

It has been said that this is the most that American industry can do. This is simply not true. In fact, it can be reported on very high authority that the program outlined above represents considerably less than half what can be done.

Given a level of annual spending for air power of about $24 billion; American industry can produce at least 25,000 new planes in the next 24 months, 14,000 of these combat planes. This will provide an air force of 168 groups, double the proposed figure, by December 31, 1952.

Even in this case, a long and infinitely dangerous time-lag is inevitable, simply because it requires a full year to produce a new, modern heavy bomber, for example, from the day the order is received. But given this sort of effort, it will be possible to organize seven or eight new heavy bombers groups by the end of 1952, instead of three or four, and 60 or 65 new fighter groups, instead of the presently planned 25 or 30.

Air Superiority Possible

What is more important, an almost explosive expansion of aircraft production will come in 1953, if industry is given the signal to go all-out now—and 1953 may well be the year of decision. For if a great effort is initiated now, not 12,000, but 70,000 new combat planes will have been delivered to the Air Force by the end of 1953.

After years of total effort, the Kremlin has succeeded in producing an air force of only about 19,000 planes. This fact points up the vital difference between what the government plans to do, and what the country can do.

The government plans to create an Air Force which will certainly be a match for the Soviet Air Force. What the country can do is to create an Air Force unchallengably superior to anything the Soviet Union is capable of producing. This country can never wholly match Soviet strength on the ground, and the sea is at least as much an obstacle as an advantage to us. Thus the presently contemplated half-way effort means that the opportunity is being missed to create unquestioned supremacy in the one area of military strength where this is possible.

If the decision to create real air supremacy at whatever cost is finally taken, the effort involved will be far from painless. For any kind of balanced force, the other services will require comparable appropriations. This will mean annual budgets on the order of $100 billion, and a full war economy. It will mean real "guns instead of butter," the kind of lowering of living standards which this country certainly never experienced during the last war. But the decision to go the whole way is almost certain to be taken in the end, simply because with every passing day it becomes more bleakly obvious that halfway measures are not enough to ensure the survival of this nation.

Justice Sacrificed By UN For Political Expediency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — When the United Nations was formed, the idea that it represented a means of proclaiming law and justice in international relations was foremost—yet today the members of the UN have gotten themselves so tangled up in their own political expediencies that they have made a shamble of both law and justice.

Thus, the Communist government of China committed outrages against international law, but the government of Great Britain and other governments nevertheless extended formal recognition to that government.

The United States government, on the other hand, still recognizes the Nationalist government, which has a base on Formosa, and does so because no other government has risen in China which is capable of discharging international obligations or honoring its pledges.

The United Nations members, although aware that China has a permanent seat in the Security Council with the enduring power of veto that goes with a permanent seat, did not consult with each other before extending recognition and decide the question collectively. Instead, each government went its separate way—though obviously the capacity of a new government to discharge its obligations is a matter of real substance. It cannot be dismissed as a technical affair of no interest to the family of nations.

Pledges Violated

The hypocrisy of the age is such today that, in order to justify their error in accepting a bad government by giving its recognition, refuge is taken by such nations in the argument that it doesn't matter who rules a country so long as it has physical control. The United States government for 17 years prior to 1933 declined to accept as decisive the fact that the Soviet Communists had physical control of Russia but demanded as a condition of recognition certain written assurances and pledges—which, incidentally, have since been violated repeatedly.

Today the only recognized government in Korea is that of the Republic of Korea. The United Nations sent a commission there to help it get established. The UN placed its blessing on the government of that country, and it was Communist Russia which prevented the faction in Northern Korea from allowing the UN commission to conduct elections or even to visit and inspect North Korea.

Now the Chinese Communist regime, giving military assistance to North Koreans, has attacked UN troops. This act of aggression has been committed not just against the Republic of Korea but against the UN itself. Yet, when the Republic of Korea asks for military help and the Nationalist government of China is ready to furnish such help, the constituted government of Korea is prevented from accepting it.

In international law a constituted government may call on outside governments for aid, and it is considered lawful. The aid given to the Rhee government by the UN is in accord with international law, and it would be the same if the Republic of Korea were to be given aid by the Nationalist armies now on Formosa.

Damaging To UN

The situation is growing more and more damaging to the UN every day that its troops are threatened by Chinese Communist forces. The so-called "cease fire" order is a logical thing to strive for, but it doesn't alter the position of the UN, which cannot from any legal or moral standpoint accept the Chinese Communists on a basis of equality. The only basis on which Communist China can be treated is on the basis of its wrongdoing—its aggression.

Actually Hitler would have been glad many a time during the last war to make a negotiated peace but on terms that would have preserved the Nazi regime. The allied forces fought until the Nazi regime was defeated and then they proceeded to punish the aggressors.

Today there are governments in the UN which apparently are willing to negotiate with an aggressor state. This is the first time since the period before 1939 than an aggressor has been given such treatment—virtually as an equal among the countries which have been resisting his aggression.

What is most disconcerting is the number of persons here and abroad who wave aside all considerations of law and justice and say that anything is preferable to war. This is the road to deterioration. It is only a question of time then when the aggressor moves again and the peace-at-any-price countries are caught in a war just the same.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Christmas Month

THE mails are growing heavier; Christmas cards are beginning to arrive. Cartons and packages clutter the inner rooms of the house and in a day or two, all sorts of colored paper and tinsel and fanciful tapes will appear. It is just before Christmas.

But what is this holiday, for which such magnificent preparations are being made? Is it the gift-giving day set apart as a convenience? Is it a day to notify forgotten friends and relatives that their names remain on a list for once-a-year attention? Or is it the anniversary of the birth of Christ?

I found a curious comment on this subject by Harry L. Lurie, executive director, Council of Jewish and Welfare Funds. He writes:

"It is exceedingly doubtful whether the various religious sects and denominations which exist in this country can remain immune to the general cultural trends. Religious activities are not isolated experiences; they will influence the culture of which they are a part and be influenced by it; witness the evolution of the Christmas festival as a general activity which goes far beyond its religious significance."

The danger is, of course, that the religious significance of Christmas is being lost altogether in the welter of things, just as the religious significance of our lives as Americans is being levelled down into a meaningless universalism. Yet the hard core of American civilization, is, as the Declaration of Independence puts it:

". . . all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ."

This little paragraph is America and it is no other country. For it contains two distinct ideas which are derived from the Judaic-Christian insistence upon God's law. These two ideas are:

1. That the individual man is endowed by "nature's God" with certain unalienable rights which are inherent in his nature and are beyond the authority of government.

2. That governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed.

"We have become forgetful of these arch-stones in our political and social system. We are losing our way because we are unmindful of our origins—our spiritual rather than geographical origins.

Recently, I was at Notre Dame University where we discussed these propositions at the Natural Law Institute. It was a hark-back to fundamentals, to the origins of human rights. I could not help comparing these two statements of human rights:

1. From the Virginia Bill of Rights (June 12, 1776):

"That all men are by nature equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights, of which, when they enter into a state of society, they cannot by any compact deprive or divest their posterity; namely, the enjoyment of life and liberty, with the means of acquiring and possessing property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety."

2. From the Declaration of Human Rights of the United States:

"All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood."

The Virginia statement, like the Declaration of Independence, is grounded in natural law. It acknowledges the eternal law of God—of nature's God in the declaration, "by nature," in the Virginia bill.

The United Nations document avoids pholosophy. It dares not say that God, the creator, has endowed man with qualities, dignity and rights. It dares not assert a divine intelligence. And that is important because it makes the individual man and not the state, the beneficiary of God's gifts.

Here we have a contrast between Christian thought and then co-paganism rampant in the world today. And the Christmas season is a good time to think about such matters. For Jews, Christians and Mohammedans and all great religious

History-Making Retreat

When they slashed their way victoriously out of a Chinese Red trap, some 25,000 U. S. Marines, 7th Division G.I.'s and British commandos etched a pattern of incomparable heroism in the snow and cold of northeast Korea.

This was the longest retreat in Marine annals—nearly 50 miles of bloody struggling over icy, tortuous mountain roads. Exhausted, tense, chilled by temperatures ranging down to 25 degrees below zero, these fighting men drove to temporary haven at Hungnam through a corridor of relentless enemy fire.

The cost of this epic break-out was high. The 1st Marine Engineer Battalion, which carved a path through the Chinese blocking the route ahead, suffered 60 per cent casualties of men and equipment. One reporter said 200 Americans were buried in a single grave, because there was no time for better arrangements.

As the gallant force hacked through to Koto on its way to the sea, it linked up with a smaller band of Marines surrounded for days by Chinese. Here's how, in the words of a correspondent, that little group looked to the larger force:

"It was a gruesome sight—wounded men with their blood frozen to their skins, their clothes stiff with ice, grotesque dead men lying across trailers and stretchers, live men stumbling along, grimacing from frost bite, using their rifles as crutches."

Once the long, bumper-to-bumper column stood almost motionless for four hours as engineers struggled to replace a bombed-out bridge. There were similar anguished delays as craters in the slippery road were filled. To go 10 miles on one part of the escape route required 14 hours.

All the way Chinese Communists were erecting obstacles ahead of our weary men, harassing their flanks, sniping at the column's rear. The enemy force was estimated at from three to five times greater than ours. Yet we exacted a toll of 10 Chinese for every casualty on our side.

When they finally made it down to the coastal plain, embattled Marines could find no energy for the formalities of "link-up" handshakes with the U. S. patrols who met them, nor had they many smiles for newsreel cameramen who asked them to "look happy." They'd seen and experienced too much.

"We have lost an awful lot of friends up on that plateau," said a Marine officer. "Almost everybody up there was a hero. It's just that some guys are asked what they did and tell about it, and others don't talk so good."

The schoolbooks of tomorrow will call this saga of skill and endurance and courage a retreat. But it is no surprise that the Marines who made that bitter march do not see it so. "It was no retreat," declared a colonel with fierce pride. "It was an advance to the rear."

What man, hearing of this ordeal, dares to say it was anything less?

Western Powers Not Split

It's too early to measure the ultimate worth of the Truman-Attlee talks in Washington. But one thing they have already proved beyond doubt: Moscow's attempt to split the western powers is doomed to failure.

U. S. correspondents in Europe have been telling us the break-up of the North Atlantic nations was one prime Soviet objective in prodding the Chinese Reds into their Korean offensive. Evidence of this aim comes from Russia itself, where recently there was premature shedding of tears (glycerin, of course) over the predicted collapse of the western alliance.

The Kremlin figured that disputes between Britain, France and the United States over how much strength to commit in Korea would cause the falling out. If that could have been gained, it would have been well worth the risk, since the vitally important unity of the West in Europe would have been destroyed. Prime Minister Attlee effectively spiked that hope from the moment he landed on American soil. He dashed it for good and all when he told the National Press Club a few days later that "in fair weather and foul" Britain will stand with America.

President Truman, for his part, was just as much concerned that no crack be allowed to develop in the West's armor. Through the State Department, he made it plain that a rift simply would not be countenanced.

It was necessary for Attlee to push out of sight some of the criticisms his countrymen had been making of the United States. This he did, with unhesitating resolution.

It was necessary for the President, too, to soft-pedal some American complaints against the British and French.

This isn't to suggest that the two heads of state were in complete harmony at every stage. Reports filtering out of their various meetings indicate they spoke out quite plainly on many topics. One may surmise that a healthy clearing of the air has resulted.

The spirit of accord reflected in these meetings certainly is demanded by the West's crisis. But probably their final value will not be gauged by what was said there in behalf of unity. It will be more likely judged by what the free nations do in the months ahead to demonstrate that unity.

Fertile New Mexico

A new day may be dawning for New Mexico. Hitherto the state has been decidedly on the dry side. Now the cloud-seeding experiments which proved helpful in relieving New York City's water shortage have been applied to parts of New Mexico, and are credited with increasing the rainfall fourfold. The area treated was an area of 125 square miles around the town of Roy in the northeastern part of the state.

Too much should not be expected, however. Dr. Irving Krick, in charge of the operation, says that seeding does not cause rain when none is around. It merely increases the amount. Still, New Mexicans now have ground for hope that judicious seeding might ultimately make their state noted for its farms.

Note To Emily Post

What is the appropriate thing to say when a person meets a relative he hasn't seen for years? It depends on the relative, of course. Some persons are fortunate enough not to have the kind for whom the usual greeting is "Oh! It's you." It also could depend on how the meeting takes place.

Take the two long-separated cousins who recognized each other after their cars collided in Oklahoma City. The news story didn't reveal how they greeted each other. But most persons, if this sort of thing ever happens to them, will just say: "Well! I never expected to run into you!"

Health Plans In Middle Age

MEN and women of 40 are beginning to realize that medical science is making it possible for them to live longer. They realize that each year life expectancy is pushed up anothe notch and they wonder what the span will be 20 to 30 years from now. To add life to these extra years it is becoming obvious that health is more important than financial security.

In my opinion, this is a radical change in our way of thinking. The middle-aged person looks forward to retirement and a pension but he has seen what happens when the dollar fluctuates in value. What appears to be an adequate retirement income today may be totally inadequate tomorrow. An investment in health, on the other hand, offers more possibilities because there is no better investment. After all, it is much more consoling to look forward to a healthy old age than a rich but sickly one.

The future belongs to those who plan for it; this refers to the financial aspect but applies equally well to the physical and mental status. The plans must be made far in advance and there is no better time than in the 40s. The new life that starts in this decade should incorporate measures that encourage the maintenance of health. This means taking stock of all the factors that might possibly hasten deterioration. Overwork and insufficient rest, for example, lead to fatigue and fatigue invites all kinds of trouble. Overweight encourages diabetes and hardening of the arteries, both of which hasten deterioration. Most of us will develop arteriosclerosis eventually but why be ahead of the game? If it is inevitable let's have it at 70 instead of 50. We do not know the cause but, to the best of our knowledge, cholesterol plays a role. If so, we might begin in the forties to reduce our intake of animal fat, egg yolk, kidney, brains, liver, fish roe, sweetbreads, and butter.

We appreciate the fact that every age has its compensations but it has seemed to me that the oldster with a hobby has advantages over the man or woman with nothing to do. But hobbies, like health and financial security, are rarely developed overnight. There is no secret formula for making a wise choice. Many stem from personal interests, aptitudes, and skills. Now and then they represent outgrowths of training acquired in youth. There is a wide variety ranging from stamp collecting to photography. Hobbies are valuable to the elderly because they give a mental boose and afford excellent ways to spend leisure. Using the hands relaxes the mind and there is much personal enjoyment in the ability to achieve or create. Furthermore, most hobbies can be enjoyed alone.

At 40 we ought to be well on the way to acquiring a philosophy of life. We should have a goal, but it must be practical. The one who aims to conquer the world or become a millionaire usually is sorely disappointed. This is the time to establish good habits and dispense with bad ones. At this age it is too late to regret our past mistakes because introspection leads to self-pity. There is nothing more boring than to listen day in and day out to an individual tell of his troubles. Living in the past or the future also is useless. It is the present that counts and as Sir William Osler put it: "Do not what lies dimly at a distance, but do what lies already at hand."

TOMORROW: A head injury may damage the brain.

NOISY HOSPITALS

A. S. writes: Will you please comment on the noises that abound in hospitals? I have been unfortunate enough to spend much time in hospitals and have yet to find one that is kept reasonably quiet. The medical profession is constantly preaching the virtues of peace of mind and quiet but no effort seems to be made to control noises in hospital corridors, wards, and elevators.

REPLY

I agree that many hospitals are far too noisy, but disagree that nothing is done about it. Money is being spent on soundproofing and insulation and in addition attempts have been made to make the personnel noise-conscious. This means talking in a lower voice, wearing rubber heels, and not banging trays, dishes, and mops. In private rooms, the doors can be kept closed.

Yes, because weakened arches disturb the balance of the body while walking. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bunions.

FINGERTIP ABSCESS

R. T. writes: What should be done with a felon?

REPLY

Do not jail it because this abscess of the fingertip requires expert care Unless the lesion is opened and drained there is a possibility that the bone will become involved. As a result, surgery is advised along with penicillin or one of the other antibiotics.

YOU HAVE TO COORDINATE THOSE THINGS

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When new price director Mike Di Salle conferred with the President recently, he told him that the subject of the atom bomb was a topic of lively conversation around the large Di Salle dinner table. One night, said the ex-mayor of Toledo, he polled his five children on whether or not the atom bomb should be used. Each one of them said "yes"—except his youngest daughter, Dianne, aged ten.

"Why do you say it shouldn't be used?" Di Salle asked.

"Well," replied Dianne thoughtfully, "if we used it, somebody might also use it against us."

The President smiled at the story.

"That young daughter of yours," he said, "makes a lot more sense about the atom bomb than a number of people I've been talking with recently."

Taxpayers Finance Publicity

Three headline-minded congressmen—Clare Hoffman, George Dondero and Paul Shafer, all Michigan Republicans — have discovered a sure-fire way to get their names in the papers back home. They simply pay off, with the taxpayers' money, the reporter who writes the news.

In fact, all three keep the same Michigan reporter, or his wife, on the public payroll.

He is Thomas L. Munger, who writes for a string of small Michigan papers, including the Pontiac Press. He is carried on the payrolls of both Hoffman and Dondero, while his wife, Mayme Munger, is listed as an office clerk for Shaffer. However, other Michigan congressmen claim it is Mr. Munger, not Mrs. Munger, who works for Shaffer, too.

This enterprising reporter, therefore, appears to be paid both by his newspapers and the Congressmen for writing about them. Hoffman pays $58 and Dondero $100 per month to Mr. Munger, and Shaffer authorizes $190 per month for Mrs. Munger. Of course, these side salaries actually come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Rollcall of Patriots

One important problem most people don't realize today is that of getting trained executives to give up the high salaries paid by private business to work in Washington.

Every week various experts are invited to help out their country with the intricate problem of mobilization, but usually the answer is "no."

However, this column would like to pay tribute to the following men who have patriotically given up private jobs to help their country:

Dr. William L. Langer, distinguished Harvard history professor and expert on Europe who helped the ultra-secret Office of Strategic Services during the war. He has now come back to Washington to work for Central Intelligence.

Robert Lovett, Undersecretary of Defense. Lovett disregarded the advice of both his doctor and his family to help his old friend, Secretary of Defense Marshall.

William H. Jackson, law partner of Jock Whitney, who was deputy intelligense chief for Gen. Omar Bradley in Europe. He has now given up a lush law practice to assist Gen. Bedell Smith at Central Intelligence.

Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense, who made a quarter of a million dollars a year as labor adviser to the Rockefellers, R. H. Macy and some of the biggest corporations in the country. Having come to Washington to help out in the manpower emergency, she faced unfair, scurrilous attacks on her patriotism by irresponsible people.

Allen Dulles, now working with Central Intelligence. A partner in the law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, Dulles was formerly chief of the State Department's Near East ern Division and helped direct OSS during the war.

NOTE—Few people realize it, but high-income individuals who step way down to a government salary take an awful licking on their income tax. They must dig into their savings to pay taxes, because the Treasury check won't spread out the tax they have to pay on the high income of the year before. Undersecretary Lovett, for instance, was forced to use up his savings to pay taxes and upkeep in Washington during his earlier tour of duty.

McCarthyism

An Oregon war hero and a noted Catholic editor make some interesting comments regarding Senator Joe McCarthy and his wild charges.

Bill Exline, Oregon senior vice commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, writes in the Purple Heart magazine, "his (McCarthy's) complete disregard for American principles in jurisprudence makes him potentially far more dangerous than those he accuses."

Associate Editor Francis Dowling hit equally hard in the Catholic weekly, Commonweal: "The voice of McCarthy was abroad in the land and it is now, as it was in the beginning, a poisoned and fearful thing. . . . We have known demagogues in our political history, but this is a special kind—an evil kind, a deliberate kind—it adds falseness to the already false. It is the spurious and the counterfeit."

War Notes

Casualties—Even before the Marines broke out of the Chinese trap and began counting their dead and wounded, actual American casualties were running 20,000 ahead of the official announcements. At the end of last week, the announced casualty list was 32,645. In contrast, the actual casualty list still to be given the public was 53,212 dead, wounded and missing.

Power Shortage—The country will feel a serious power pinch next year as defense production starts building up. Already the energy load on the nation's power lines is up 20 per cent over the same period last year, and, as a result, the margins of reserve are disappearing. The blunt truth is that the postwar demands for electricity outstripped the power industry's estimates, and the industry has not kept pace in expanding its facilities.

Self-Inflicted Wounds—Secret cables from the Korean front report an alarming number of American troops are shooting themselves in order to get shipped back to Japan for hospitalization. Medical officers blame severe battle conditions and battle fatigue for the rise in self-inflicted wounds.

Arm-Chair Strategist — Likable Presidential Assistant John Steelman has become a military strategist. In an official memo to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he gave some ideas on how he thought the Air Force ought to operate, including a suggestion that the Air Force use slower planes, so older pilots could fly them and so the pilots could get a better view of the target. He didn't say what the slow planes were supposed to do in case of an attack by Russian MIG-15 jets.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

How Much Butter, How Many Guns?

WASHINGTON

THE new "national emergency" rearmament program sponsored by President Truman has been widely advertised as an absolutely all-out mobilization of national resources and national effort. It is, in fact, nothing of the sort. It is true that the policy of "a great deal of butter and very few guns," which was plainly leading to catastrophe, has been abandoned.

Yet the new policy is still one of "a good many guns and a good deal of butter," rather than the policy of "a great many guns and precious little butter," which our situation, the most perilous in our history, now clearly requires. The simplest way to demonstrate this fact is to consider the case of the Air Force, and to compare what this country can do to build its strength in the air, and what the government actually plans to do under the new program.

Present plans call for an Air Force of 84 groups to be built by December 31, 1952. This compares with an Air Force of 42 groups, masquerading as 48, in the era of the unlamented Louis A. Johnson. Yearly Air Force expenditures are now planned at about the $14 billion level. This should provide some 7,000 new combat planes of all types within the next 24 months.

Mortal Danger Ahead

This sounds formidable enough. Yet it is less formidable than it sounds, especially as regards the period of mortal danger which lies immediately ahead of us. For example, this program will permit the organization of no heavy bomber groups at all during the next 12 months, and only three or four such groups toward the end of 1952. What is more, present plans will not permit the eventual huge expansion of production which this country achieved toward the end of the last war. Even by the end of 1953, the Air Force will have received only about 12,000 new planes at presently planned levels of production.

It has been said that this is the most that American industry can do. This is simply not true. In fact, it can be reported on very high authority that the program outlined above represents considerably less than half what can be done.

Given a level of annual spending for air power of about $24 billion; American industry can produce at least 25,000 new planes in the next 24 months, 14,000 of these combat planes. This will provide an air force of 168 groups, double the proposed figure, by December 31, 1952.

Even in this case, a long and infinitely dangerous time-lag is inevitable, simply because it requires a full year to produce a new, modern heavy bomber, for example, from the day the order is received. But given this sort of effort, it will be possible to organize seven or eight new heavy bombers groups by the end of 1952, instead of three or four, and 60 or 65 new fighter groups, instead of the presently planned 25 or 30.

Air Superiority Possible

What is more important, an almost explosive expansion of aircraft production will come in 1953, if industry is given the signal to go all-out now—and 1953 may well be the year of decision. For if a great effort is initiated now, not 12,000, but 70,000 new combat planes will have been delivered to the Air Force by the end of 1953.

After years of total effort, the Kremlin has succeeded in producing an air force of only about 19,000 planes. This fact points up the vital difference between what the government plans to do, and what the country can do.

The government plans to create an Air Force which will certainly be a match for the Soviet Air Force. What the country can do is to create an Air Force unchallengably superior to anything the Soviet Union is capable of producing. This country can never wholly match Soviet strength on the ground, and the sea is at least as much an obstacle as an advantage to us. Thus the presently contemplated half-way effort means that the opportunity is being missed to create unquestioned supremacy in the one area of military strength where this is possible.

If the decision to create real air supremacy at whatever cost is finally taken, the effort involved will be far from painless. For any kind of balanced force, the other services will require comparable appropriations. This will mean annual budgets on the order of $100 billion, and a full war economy. It will mean real "guns instead of butter," the kind of lowering of living standards which this country certainly never experienced during the last war. But the decision to go the whole way is almost certain to be taken in the end, simply because with every passing day it becomes more bleakly obvious that halfway measures are not enough to ensure the survival of this nation.

Justice Sacrificed By UN For Political Expediency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—When the United Nations was formed, the idea that it represented a means of proclaiming law and justice in international relations was foremost—yet today the members of the UN have gotten themselves so tangled up in their own political expediencies that they have made a shamble of both law and justice.

Thus, the Communist government of China committed outrages against international law, but the government of Great Britain and other governments nevertheless extended formal recognition to that government.

The United States government, on the other hand, still recognizes the Nationalist government, which has a base on Formosa, and does so because no other government has risen in China which is capable of discharging international obligations or honoring its pledges.

The United Nations members, although aware that China has a permanent seat in the Security Council with the enduring power of veto that goes with a permanent seat, did not consult with each other before extending recognition and decide the question collectively. Instead, each government went its separate way—though obviously the capacity of a new government to discharge its obligations is a matter of real substance. It cannot be dismissed as a technical affair of no interest to the family of nations.

Pledges Violated

The hypocrisy of the age is such today that, in order to justify their error in accepting a bad government by giving its recognition, refuge is taken by such nations in the argument that it doesn't matter who rules a country so long as it has physical control. The United States government for 17 years prior to 1933 declined to accept as decisive the fact that the Soviet Communists had physical control of Russia but demanded as a condition of recognition certain written assurances and pledges—which, incidentally, have since been violated repeatedly.

Today the only recognized government in Korea is that of the Republic of Korea. The United Nations sent a commission there to help it get established. The UN placed its blessing on the government of that country, and it was Communist Russia which prevented the faction in Northern Korea from allowing the UN commission to conduct elections or even to visit and inspect North Korea.

Now the Chinese Communist regime, giving military assistance to North Koreans, has attacked UN troops. This act of aggression has been committed not just against the Republic of Korea but against the UN itself. Yet, when the Republic of Korea asks for military help and the Nationalist government China is ready to furnish such help, the constituted government of Korea is prevented from accepting it.

In international law a constituted government may call on outside governments for aid, and it is considered lawful. The aid given to the Rhee government by the UN is in accord with international law, and it would be the same if the Republic of Korea were to be given aid by the Nationalist armies now on Formosa.

Damaging To UN

The situation is growing more and more damaging to the UN every day that its troops are threatened by Chinese Communist forces. The so-called "cease fire" order is a logical thing to strive for, but it doesn't alter the position of the UN, which cannot from any legal or moral standpoint accept the Chinese Communists on a basis of equality. The only basis on which Communist China can be treated is on the basis of its wrongdoing—its aggression.

Actually Hitler would have been glad many a time during the last war to make a negotiated peace but on terms that would have preserved the Nazi regime. The allied forces fought until the Nazi regime was defeated and then they proceeded to punish the aggressors.

Today there are governments in the UN which apparently are willing to negotiate with an aggressor state. This is the first time since the period before 1939 than an aggressor has been given such treatment—virtually as an equal among the countries which have been resisting his aggression.

What is most disconcerting is the number of persons here and abroad who wave aside all considerations of law and justice and say that anything is preferable to war. This is the road to deterioration. It is only a question of time then when the aggressor moves again and the peace-at-any-price countries are caught in a war just the same.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Christmas Month

THE mails are growing heavier; Christmas cards are beginning to arrive. Cartons and packages clutter the inner rooms of the house and in a day or two, all sorts of colored paper and tinsel and fanciful tapes will appear. It is just before Christmas.

But what is this holiday, for which such magnificent preparations are being made? Is it the gift-giving day set apart as a convenience? Is it a day to notify forgotten friends and relatives that their names remain on a list for once-a-year attention? Or is it the anniversary of the birth of Christ?

I found a curious comment on this subject by Harry L. Lurie, executive director, Council of Jewish and Welfare Funds. He writes:

"It is exceedingly doubtful whether the various religious sects and denominations which exist in this country can remain immune to the general cultural trends. Religious activities are not isolated experiences; they will influence the culture of which they are a part and be influenced by it; witness the evolution of the Christmas festival as a general activity which goes far beyond its religious significance."

The danger is, of course, that the religious significance of Christmas is being lost altogether in the welter of things, just as the religious significance of our lives as Americans is being levelled down into a meaningless universalism. Yet the hard core of American civilization, is, as the Declaration of Independence puts it:

". . . all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ."

This little paragraph is America and it is no other country. For it contains two distinct ideas which are derived from the Judaic-Christian insistence upon God's law. These two ideas are:

1. That the individual man is endowed by "nature's God" with certain unalienable rights which are inherent in his nature and are beyond the authority of government.

2. That governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed.

"We have become forgetful of these arch-stones in our political and social system. We are losing our way because we are unmindful of our origins—our spiritual rather than geographical origins.

Recently, I was at Notre Dame University where we discussed these propositions at the Natural Law Institute. It was a hark-back to fundamentals, to the origins of human rights. I could not help comparing these two statements of human rights:

1. From the Virginia Bill of Rights (June 12, 1776):

"That all men are by nature equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights, of which, when they enter into a state of society, they cannot by any compact deprive or divest their posterity; namely, the enjoyment of life and liberty, with the means of acquiring and possessing property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety."

2. From the Declaration of Human Rights of the United States:

"All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood."

The Virginia statement, like the Declaration of Independence, is grounded in natural law. It acknowledges the eternal law of God—of nature's God in the declaration, "by nature," in the Virginia bill.

The United Nations document avoids pholosophy. It dares not say that God, the creator, has endowed man with qualities, dignity and rights. It dares not assert a divine intelligence. And that is important because it makes the individual man and not the state, the beneficiary of God's gifts.

Here we have a contrast between Christian thought and then co-paganism rampant in the world today. And the Christmas season is a good time to think about such matters. For Jews, Christians and Mohammedans and all great religious

Penn Ave-Fort Hill Alumni Elects Lester Hudson Head

Gives $25 To Booster Club

The Pennsylvania Avenue-Fort Hill High School Alumni Association elected officers and completed plans for its Christmas dance at the meeting earlier in the week at the school. Albert Welshans presided.

Lester Hudson was elected president; Mrs. Reta Skiles, vice president; George Knotts, treasurer and Miss Dorothy McCoy, secretary. The Nominating committee report was given by Delbert Proudfoot, chairman.

A goal of more than 100 couples was set for the Christmas dance. It will be semi-formal and at Clary Club, December 27 with the Aristocrats playing. Prizes are to be awarded.

The association donated a $25 contriution towards reorganizing the Fort Hill Booster Club.

Cresaptown Lions To Hold Square Dance

A square dance will be held tonight, under the sponsorship of the Cresaptown Lions Club. It will be informal and for all members and their friends, and is to be in the Cresaptown fire hall, beginning at 8 o'clock. The orchestra and callers will be local talent.

Remember how we used to "wait up" for Santa! Why, Christmas Eve was the longest night of the year.

We couldn't go to sleep for the excitement of anticipation. And when we tried to stay awake, then we always would fall asleep.

But in the morning it was CHRISTMAS! The long, long night was over!

There was a long, long night before that first Christmas in Bethlehem . . . Through centuries of restless yearning the world waited for God's Greatest Gift.

Then in a lowly manger a mother laid her child. And shepherds came to gaze in rapture. And Wise Men from a far-off land brought kingly gifts. It was CHRISTMAS! The long, long night was over!

Come joyously to the church you love best and worship this new-born King. He is God's Greatest Gift.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Remember how we used to "wait up" for Santa! Why, Christmas Eve was the longest night of the year.

We couldn't go to sleep for the excitement of anticipation. And when we tried to stay awake, then we always would fall asleep.

But in the morning it was CHRISTMAS! The long, long night was over!

There was a long, long night before that first Christmas in Bethlehem . . . Through centuries of restless yearning the world waited for God's Greatest Gift.

Then in a lowly manger a mother laid her child. And shepherds came to gaze in rapture. And Wise Men from a far-off land brought kingly gifts. It was CHRISTMAS! The long, long night was over!

Come joyously to the church you love best and worship this new-born King. He is God's Greatest Gift.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cobey Urges Amendment To Plumbing Law

City Officials Confer On Proposed Ordinance

An amendment to provide that work could be done by a homeowner in his residence, a master plumber, or by persons retained for maintenance of homes or buildings was cited by W. Earle Cobey, city attorney, yesterday for the proposed city plumbing ordinance.

The much-debated law was reviewed yesterday at a conference of the Mayor and Council in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

The ordinance has been drawn up as close as possible to the state plumbing code with the intent of the city to work with the state on health regulations, Cobey explained.

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of finance, pointed out that since economy is the keynote in city government and present national emergency will restrict remodeling and building, he did not believe a plumbing inspector would be necessary. Buchholtz also remarked that there would be no need for a plumbing ordinance if the present city building code were enforced.

Considerable discussion at the review meeting evolved around the point in the proposed law concerning those who would be qualified to install or repair plumbing.

The ordinance will be up for its final reading Monday at the regular Mayor and Council meeting and all citizens wishing to speak for or against the law are urged to appear then.

He was resplendent in striped pants, a frock coat, and a standing collar with gold collar buttons front and back. Doc Chandler stepped on his foot pedal and began drilling away. When he finally let the mayor up for air, he examined his drill and exclaimed, "Mr. Mayor, you told me you never had a tooth filled before. How come there's gold on the point of my drill?"

"You durn fool," said His Honor bitterly, "thats' not gold from a tooth. You just hit my back collar button."

Convention Election Date To Be Changed

The proposed dates for the election of delegates and the constitutional convention next year now would be in September, the Associated Press reported.

A Legislative Council committee yesterday changed the dates in the proposed bill setting up the convention to revise the state constitution. The convention was favored by the voters at last month's election.

The bill calls for the election of delegates to the convention on Sept. 10, instead of June 26 as first suggested. The convention opening would be changed from Sept. 10 to Sept. 24.

Does your wardrobe contain the four basic costumes needed to dress suitably for any occasion anywhere?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

WITH just four wisely-selected costumes, you can globe trot or go anywhere at home and be well-dressed for every occasion! It's the universality of today's fashion-right clothes that makes it so easy for women to dress suitably no matter where they live or where they may be going.

Take the comprehensive suit as an example. Where can't you wear it? It goes to business, shopping, informal lunches, afternoon calls, relaxed five-to-seven occasions, exhibits, country and city clubs, church and travelling.

Perfect Choice

Of course, to cover the field like this, it must be the right kind of suit. It can't be too dressy (no fancy cut or trim), or too towny (no slick cut or hard-finish fabric), or too sporty (horsey). It should be softly tailored, all-purpose in type.

Does that mean drab? Not for a second. Any color that becomes you and the rest of your wardrobe is fine. That old say about only conservative colors being suitable for the city has a mighty dull edge these days. It's your accessories that denote either the city or country look—sleek for the city and rugged for the country.

Right beside your suit, just as indispensable and talented' hangs the every-ready basic daytime dress in either wool or silk. To test the wisdom of its selection, ask yourself, "Can I use it as a change from my suit for the same occasions, plus informal doings either at my home or the homes of others?"

Party Clothes

The third basic of this model wardrobe is the answer for such invitations as "Just having a few (probably 20) for a buffet supper—don't dress." Let it be a dark, after-five number in a lovely line and fabric, and bare-topped when its jacket is removed. With such a dress, theatres, dinner parties in private or public will never present a clothes dilemma for you.

Of course, when the party is really formal, there's no doubt in anyone's mind. All the lovelies will wear their loveliest and so will you . . . the other one-fourth of this perfect wardrobe.

Now, let the hub-hub cease about what to wear for the holiday festivities. Christmas Eve, your after-five with a red jacket. Christmas morning, your suit skirt (you will have it on to make those calls) with a white sweater. Christmas dinner, your basic dress with a sprig of holly added. Christmas dance, you know what and with stars in your eyes!

MONDAY: More time and poise-saving plans.

McCrory's To Give Yule Bonus Today

The annual Christmas bonus to employes of the local McCrory Store on Baltimore Street will be distributed today, according to F. R. Dollick, acting manager.

Dollick said employes of the firm will receive — from $5, for those with six months service, up to $55 for those over that — depending on length of service.

There are 60 employes who will qualify for the bonus, including eight full time employes of the restaurant department at the store.

Dollick said the employes of the firm also participate in a vacation policy, company-paid life insurance, sickness and retirement benefits and a graduated wage scale depending on length of service.

There are 204 stores in the McCrory chain in the United States

Bender's Children To Receive Estate

The will of Christopher C. Bender, 68, who was fatally injured December 11 in an accident at a garage, was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

William A. Gunter, local attorney, and Helene P. Gratz, of Richmond, Va., a daughter of the deceased, were named co-executors of the document. They posted bond of $5,000.

The will directs that the estate be disposed of and the proceeds divided equally among Bender's children. They are Helene P. Gratz, Charlotte S. McClure, of Geneva, Ill.; and William A. Bender, of Spokane, Wash.

Bull baiting as a sport once was popular in England, but was barred in 1835.

Party Clothes

The third basic of this model wardrobe is the answer for such invitations as "Just having a few (probably 20) for a buffet supper—don't dress." Let it be a dark, after-five number in a lovely line and fabric, and bare-topped when its jacket is removed. With such a dress, theatres, dinner parties in private or public will never present a clothes dilemma for you.

Of course, when the party is really formal, there's no doubt in anyone's mind. All the lovelies will wear their loveliest and so will you . . . the other one-fourth of this perfect wardrobe.

Now, let the hub-hub cease about what to wear for the holiday festivities. Christmas Eve, your after-five with a red jacket. Christmas morning, your suit skirt (you will have it on to make those calls) with a white sweater. Christmas dinner, your basic dress with a sprig of holly added. Christmas dance, you know what and with stars in your eyes!

MONDAY: More time and poise-saving plans.

McCrory's To Give Yule Bonus Today

The annual Christmas bonus to employes of the local McCrory Store on Baltimore Street will be distributed today, according to F. R. Dollick, acting manager.

Dollick said employes of the firm will receive — from $5, for those with six months service, up to $55 for those over that — depending on length of service.

There are 60 employes who will qualify for the bonus, including eight full time employes of the restaurant department at the store.

Dollick said the employes of the firm also participate in a vacation policy, company-paid life insurance, sickness and retirement benefits and a graduated wage scale depending on length of service.

There are 204 stores in the McCrory chain in the United States

Bender's Children To Receive Estate

The will of Christopher C. Bender, 68, who was fatally injured December 11 in an accident at a garage, was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

William A. Gunter, local attorney, and Helene P. Gratz, of Richmond, Va., a daughter of the deceased, were named co-executors of the document. They posted bond of $5,000.

The will directs that the estate be disposed of and the proceeds divided equally among Bender's children. They are Helene P. Gratz, Charlotte S. McClure, of Geneva, Ill.; and William A. Bender, of Spokane, Wash.

Bull baiting as a sport once was popular in England, but was barred in 1835.

Cobey Urges Amendment To Plumbing Law

City Officials Confer On Proposed Ordinance

An amendment to provide that work could be done by a homeowner in his residence, a master plumber, or by persons retained for maintenance of homes or buildings was cited by W. Earle Cobey, city attorney, yesterday for the proposed city plumbing ordinance.

The much-debated law was reviewed yesterday at a conference of the Mayor and Council in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

The ordinance has been drawn up as close as possible to the state plumbing code with the intent of the city to work with the state on health regulations, Cobey explained.

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of finance, pointed out that since economy is the keynote in city government and present national emergency will restrict remodeling and building, he did not believe a plumbing inspector would be necessary. Buchholtz also remarked that there would be no need for a plumbing ordinance if the present city building code were enforced.

Considerable discussion at the review meeting evolved around the point in the proposed law concerning those who would be qualified to install or repair plumbing.

The ordinance will be up for its final reading Monday at the regular Mayor and Council meeting and all citizens wishing to speak for or against the law are urged to appear then.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Van Chandler, son of an old country dentist in a frontier town, recalls the day the mayor came in to get a tooth filled. He was resplendent in striped pants, a frock coat, and a standing collar with gold collar buttons front and back. Doc Chandler stepped on his foot pedal and began drilling away. When he finally let the mayor up for air, he examined his drill and exclaimed, "Mr. Mayor, you told me you never had a tooth filled before. How come there's gold on the point of my drill?"

"You durn fool," said His Honor bitterly, "thats' not gold from a tooth. You just hit my back collar button."

Convention Election Date To Be Changed

The proposed dates for the election of delegates and the constitutional convention next year now would be in September, the Associated Press reported.

A Legislative Council committee yesterday changed the dates in the proposed bill setting up the convention to revise the state constitution. The convention was favored by the voters at last month's election.

The bill calls for the election of delegates to the convention on Sept. 10, instead of June 26 as first suggested. The convention opening would be changed from Sept. 10 to Sept. 24.

Does your wardrobe contain the four basic costumes needed to dress suitably for any occasion anywhere?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

WITH just four wisely-selected costumes, you can globe trot or go anywhere at home and be well-dressed for every occasion! It's the universality of today's fashion-right clothes that makes it so easy for women to dress suitably no matter where they live or where they may be going.

Take the comprehensive suit as an example. Where can't you wear it? It goes to business, shopping, informal lunches, afternoon calls, relaxed five-to-seven occasions, exhibits, country and city clubs, church and travelling.

Perfect Choice

Of course, to cover the field like this, it must be the right kind of suit. It can't be too dressy (no fancy cut or trim), or too towny (no slick cut or hard-finish fabric), or too sporty (horsey). It should be softly tailored, all-purpose in type.

Does that mean drab? Not for a second. Any color that becomes you and the rest of your wardrobe is fine. That old say about only conservative colors being suitable for the city has a mighty dull edge these days. It's your accessories that denote either the city or country look—sleek for the city and rugged for the country.

Right beside your suit, just as indispensable and talented hangs the every-ready basic daytime dress in either wool or silk. To test the wisdom of its selection, ask yourself, "Can I use it as a change from my suit for the same occasions, plus informal doings either at my home or the homes of others?"

Party Clothes

The third basic of this model wardrobe is the answer for such invitations as "Just having a few (probably 20) for a buffet supper—don't dress." Let it be a dark, after-five number in a lovely line and fabric, and bare-topped when its jacket is removed. With such a dress, theatres, dinner parties in private or public will never present a clothes dilemma for you.

Of course. when the party is really formal, there's no doubt in anyone's mind. All the lovelies will wear their loveliest and so will you .... the other one-fourth of this perfect wardrobe.

Now, let the hub-hub cease about what to wear for the holiday festivities. Christmas Eve, your after-five with a red jacket. Christmas morning, your suit skirt (you will have it on to make those calls) with a white sweater. Christmas dinner, your basic dress with a sprig of holly added. Christmas dance, you know what and with stars in your eyes!

Girl Who Spent Week Of Terror Seeks $75,000

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) —A little girl is asking $75,000 for the week of terror she spent last March when her father killed her mother and then took his own life at the home of his real wife.

Five-year-old Marilyn Marie Mahnke saw it all, her lawyers told the Court of Appeals.

She was in the one-story bungalow at Salisbury when Russell C. Moore, Eastern Shore businessman leading a double life, shot his common-law wife, Marjorie Mae Mahnke.

She spent almost a week in the little house with her slain mother whose head was blown apart and whose body was sprawled grotesquely over a kitchen chair.

Then Moore drove her to the Collingswood, N. J., home of his legal wife. She was in the cellar when he killed himself with a shotgun. Blood splashed her face and dress, lawyers said.

Her grandfather, Hugo Mahnke of Sheboygan, Wis., filed the suit for Marilyn. Neither was in court today as attorneys for Mrs. Laura W. Moore of Collingswood, legal wife and executrix of the dead man's unestimated estate, argued a child cannot sue for its parents in Maryland.

Marilyn suffered grave "shock, mental anguish and permanent nervous and physical disorders," her lawyers contended. She does have the right to sue, they insisted, adding:

"An illegitimate child occupies a stronger position than a legitimate child and is not barred from recovery even though in a case by a legitimate child there might be immunity from suit."

Judge Levin Claude Bailey had dismissed the suit in Wicomico County Circuit Court. The appeals court was asked to order a full hearing.

A companion suit for $75,000 has been delayed in Baltimore Federal Court until Maryland's high court acts. Under ordinary procedure, a decision would be filed next month.

Moore had built up a substantial milk business in the Salisbury area. He also owned a dairy farm in Delaware.

Marilyn was born May 15, 1945. Everyone knew her as Marilyn Marie Moore, her parents as Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Moore. They lived in Ocean City and Salisbury.

About a year ago the couple quarreled. Marilyn and her mother moved out. A few days before the shooting Moore brought them together again in the Salisbury bungalow, Marilyn's "frantic protests to the contrary," her lawyers said.

State May Create Fund For Water-Sewage Plants

BALTIMORE, Dec. 15 (AP) — A legislative Council committee has recommended a bill to create a $25,000,000 state fund from which municipalities could borrow for waterworks and sewage systems.

The bill would authorize the Board of Public Works to issue bonds to raise the money. Then it could loan it to the municipalities to guarantee their bonds or build the facilities itself and lease them to the communities.

George L. Hall, state health department engineer, last week told the budget and finance committee of the legislative council that serious health hazards now exist in some communities without public water and sewage systems.

He said many of them want to build the facilities but are unable to finance them.

Girl Who Spent Week Of Terror Seeks $75,000

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) —A little girl is asking $75,000 for the week of terror she spent last March when her father killed her mother and then took his own life at the home of his real wife.

Five-year-old Marilyn Marie Mahnke saw it all, her lawyers told the Court of Appeals.

She was in the one-story bungalow at Salisbury when Russell C. Moore, Eastern Shore businessman leading a double life, shot his common-law wife, Marjorie Mae Mahnke.

She spent almost a week in the little house with her slain mother whose head was blown apart and whose body was sprawled grotesquely over a kitchen chair.

Then Moore drove her to the Collingswood, N. J., home of his legal wife. She was in the cellar when he killed himself with a shotgun. Blood splashed her face and dress, lawyers said.

Her grandfather, Hugo Mahnke of Sheboygan, Wis., filed the suit for Marilyn. Neither was in court today as attorneys for Mrs. Laura W. Moore of Collingswood, legal wife and executrix of the dead man's unestimated estate, argued a child cannot sue for its parents in Maryland.

Marilyn suffered grave "shock, mental anguish and permanent nervous and physical disorders," her lawyers contended. She does have the right to sue, they insisted, adding:

"An illegitimate child occupies a stronger position than a legitimate child and is not barred from recovery even though in a case by a legitimate child there might be immunity from suit."

Judge Levin Claude Bailey had dismissed the suit in Wicomico County Circuit Court. The appeals court was asked to order a full hearing.

A companion suit for $75,000 has been delayed in Baltimore Federal Court until Maryland's high court acts. Under ordinary procedure, a decision would be filed next month.

Moore had built up a substantial milk business in the Salisbury area. He also owned a dairy farm in Delaware.

Marilyn was born May 15, 1945. Everyone knew her as Marilyn Marie Moore, her parents as Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Moore. They lived in Ocean City and Salisbury.

About a year ago the couple quarreled. Marilyn and her mother moved out. A few days before the shooting Moore brought them together again in the Salisbury bungalow, Marilyn's "frantic protests to the contrary," her lawyers said.

Cow tree or milk tree is the popular name given to several species of tree found in South and Central America. The milk-like sap of the tree is sweet and palatable, as well as nourishing.

The ribbon-tailed bird of paradise was virtually unknown until the airplane reached inland New Guinea.

State May Create Fund For Water-Sewage Plants

BALTIMORE, Dec. 15 (AP) — A legislative Council committee has recommended a bill to create a $25,000,000 state fund from which municipalities could borrow for waterworks and sewage systems.

The bill would authorize the Board of Public Works to issue bonds to raise the money. Then it could loan it to the municipalities to guarantee their bonds or build the facilities itself and lease them to the communities.

George L. Hall, state health department engineer, last week told the budget and finance committee of the legislative council that serious health hazards now exist in some communities without public water and sewage systems.

He said many of them want to build the facilities but are unable to finance them.

bodies, however diverse their interpretations, seek for an explanation of man's rights and obligations in the nature and will of God.

The neo-pagan trusts only to what he himself can comprehend and do. He has made a mess of our world by always dodging the main moral issue, which is the source of the rights of man.

Even those who are not Christians might pause to ponder the meaning of the natural law of God on this fearful Christmas.

Five Ejected As Sentinels Defeat Hubs

Fort Hill Racks Up 2nd Win Of Season At Hagerstown, 53-41

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 15 — Fort Hill High School notched its second straight win of the season tonight, defeating Hagerstown High School by the score of 53-41 in a contest in which five players were ejected on personal fouls.

Coach Mel Henry's Hubs held an 11-10 edge in the first period but the Sentinels from Cumberland moved in front at the half, 23-20, and held the long end of a 40-33 score when the third period ended.

Burke and Koontz of Hagerstown and Beightol, Cage and Wilson of Fort Hill went out of the game on personal fouls.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's quint outscored the home team 23 to 11 in field goals. At the charity stripe, the Hubs sank 19 of 37 shots while the visitors were hooping 7 out of 18.

Lynn Beightol and George McGregor led the Fort Hill scorers with 14 and 13 tallies. Burke was Hagerstown's "big gun" with six fielders and 18 points.

In the preliminary game, Fort Hill's junior varsity quint went down to defeat at the hands of the Hagerstown High Jayvees, 33 to 29. Lineups:

Bannerman Weds, Navy Career Ends

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 15 (AP) — The romance of the Middie and the typist was known to all today, and it meant the end of his navy career.

Midshipman David Vance Bannerman, the Navy's star fullback, was married to Monette J. Chaney, daughter of an Annapolis professor, last Saturday.

The secret couldn't be kept, so Bannerman will be honorably discharged from the service.

QUESTIONS

1—Who is regarded as the first boxer to make more than $1,000,000 directly and indirectly from his boxing activities?

2—Who was Juan Belmonte?

3—Does a game cock need to be taught to fight?

A GREAT player for Minnesota (he was named to the All-American at both tackle and fullback), this husky was an even greater pro performer as a member of the Chicago Bears. Name him.

ANSWERS

1—John L. Sullivan. He is credited with earning $1,221,320—but only a small portion of this was in actual ring purses.

2—Probably the greatest and most popular bull fighter of modern times.

3—No, the fighting instinct is born with the little birds.

Giants To Play Without Poole

Mote To Take Place Against Cleveland

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—Memo to the Cleveland Browns football players:

If you are planning to sweep the New York Giants ends Sunday because flanker Ray Poole is out with a fractured ankle, just forget it.

Kelley Mote, one-time Duke great, is back in shape and has done so well in practice that Coach Steve Owen says "sure, Poole's injury was a blow but with Mote around it doesn't figure to be a damaging one. In fact, I'm not at all worried. I really hope the Browns try to run around this guy."

The Browns and Giants met twice during the National Football League season with the New Yorkers taking both and Poole a hero in both. Sunday the two tangle again in a playoff for the American Conference title at Cleveland.

Poole suffered his injury in last Sunday's contest with the Philadelphia Eagles. Mote will replace him as defensive right end with Randy Clay, rookie from Texas, inheriting Poole's field goal and kickoff duties.

While the Browns and Giants are blocking and tackling at Cleveland, the Chicago Bears and the Los Angles Rams will be mixing it up in California for the National Conference laurels. The two winners meet Dec. 24 in either New York or Cleveland for the pro crown.

'Coney Cagers Bag 4th Straight Game

PIEDMONT, Dec. 15 — Central High School of Lonaconing, paced by the sharpshooting Kenneth Burt, who scored seven field goals and 15 points, snapped Piedmont High School's three-game winning streak here tonight. The score was 32-24.

The victory was the fourth straight for Coach Johnny Meyers' undefeated Tigers.

Central got off to an 11-7 lead in the first period but the score was knotted at 14-14 at the half and 18-18 when the third period was concluded.

Piedmont lost Albanese on personal fouls in the third period.

Romney Beats Mathias High

Baird, Maphis, Petry Feature 63-39 Win

ROMNEY, W. Va., Dec. 15—Romney High School scored a 63 to 39 decision over Mathias High School in a Potomac Valley Conference basketball game here tonight. It was the Pioneers' first win of the season after an earlier setback at the hands of Piedmont.

Mathias held Romney to a 27-21 lead at the half-way mark and only 10 points separated the teams in the third period, 39-29. In the fourth quarter, however, Coach Dick McElwee's outfit reeled off 24 points to the visitors' 10.

George Baird with 21 points, Roger Maphis with 20 and Bob Petry with 15 sparked the Pioneers' offensive. Dove gathered 11 tallies to pace Mathias.

Romney's next engagement is with University High School on Tuesday at Morgantown. Lineups:

Romney	G	F	Pts.
Petry, f	6	3-7	15

Mountaineers Play Gamecocks Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 15 —West Virginia's average of 80.0 points for three games will be in jeopardy tomorrow when the unbeaten Mountaineers wade into South Carolina in the opener of a series of Southern Conference dates at the Field House before Christmas. Wake Forest follows Monday and George Washington attacks Wednesday.

The immediate objective could prove a stickler. The Gamecocks, who move to Pittsburgh for a Monday encounter with Duquesne and are to appear in Madison Square Garden against L. I. U. on New Year's, are rated a potent contender for the conference title despite the presence of three sophomores in their regular lineup.

Clifton Van Roby and A. W. Heyl will officiate the main contest.

Praise For Parker
17,157 Picked 'Em
Hit Century Mark

By C. V. BURNS

Kenneth Parker of Romney High School is the second boy from the Eastern Panhandle to make the All-Northern West Virginia High School football team in six years.

Ray Blackburn of Keyser was selected in 1949.

Here's what the Dominion-News of Morgantown says about Parker:

"The other All-Northern tackle, Romney's Kenneth Parker, was the main reason Dick McElwee's team had such a successful season.

"McElwee calls the boy 'truly a coach's player.' His opponents, apparently, thought so, too, for they named him the only unanimous choice for the Potomac Valley Conference all-star team.

"Parker played both on offense and defense, was particularly fast on his feet, a good blocker and a deadly tackler.

"Kenneth will be too old to play next fall, but McElwee will have him around—helping out with the coaching duties."

The Old German Pigskin Prediction Contest which was conducted by the German Brewing Company in the Times-News papers this fall attracted a total of 17,157 Maryland entries.

The contest ran nine weeks and a total of $1,000 in cash prizes was distributed to 28 persons. Nearly 100 cases of beer was awarded.

Pennsylvania and West Virginia residents were prohibited by law from participating.

Entries were received from as far north as New Hampshire to Florida in the south.

This was the second year for the contest.

The greatest number of points scored by a scholastic quint in the tri-state area so far this season is credited to Coalton High School which defeated Pickens High School, 102-21.

The schools are located in Randolph County, W. Va.

Coalton is on the Parsons and Thomas schedules this season.

Hitting the century mark is rare in high school games in this section. The collegians, however, have done it several times.

The other night at Uniontown, the West Virginia University Freshmen whipped the Wash-Jeff frosh by the score of 110-107.

Art Swiden, Braddock, Pa., heavyweight, who helped smell out the State Armory in that terrible match with Ben Skelton last May, is now driving a taxicab in Pittsburgh.

Those who saw him in the ring here were unanimous in their opinion that he should have taken up taxi driving a long time ago.

Football in the Southwest Conference really is a wide open affair. In the last 17 years, Texas sports writers have picked the conference winner only four times. They picked Texas' Longhorns last summer and were right.

Hamill Named Coach Of Year

Writers Will Honor Weirton High Mentor

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 15 (AP)—Carl Hamill's 22-year record at Weirton High School has won him selection as West Virginia's 1950 "coach of the year."

Hamill's designation for the honor by the West Virginia Sports Writers' Association was announced today by Secretary George Holbrook, of the Charleston Daily Mail sports staff.

He will be honored, along with the "amateur athlete of the year," at the sports writers' annual victory awards dinner in Charleston December 28. George King, who set a national single-season scoring record with Morris Harvey's basketball team this year, was designated as the amateur athlete of the year.

Hamill, 48, is retiring from the Weirton post at the end of this school year. Since 1929 he has been head coach of all sports at that school.

During those years, his football teams, six times undefeated, have won 177 games against 33 defeats and 14 ties. Two of the teams won state championships. His basketball squad last season won 16 games and lost seven, and his baseball team won the state title in that sport.

90,000 May See Bears, Rams Play In Los Angeles Sunday

National Conference Title Is At Stake

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15 (AP) —The Los Angeles Rams and the Chicago Bears may perform before 90,000 fans Sunday when they tangle for the National Conference title of the National Football League.

Promise of the bitterest and best pro football engagement of the year, an official forecast of clear skies and a fine field, plus a blackout on television for the play off struggle, all have combined to send the demand for tickets soaring.

Coach George Halas ushered the Bears into town this morning and gave them a workout this afternoon. The club appeared typically confidentand workmanlike, as well as in top shape.

The Rams likewise staged a drill behind guarded gates under the tutelage of Joe Stydahar, who learned much of his football as a star tackle for the Bears under Halas.

Halas didn't bat an eye when mention was made that his club is a seven-point underdog. The margin should be even greater, he added, managing to maintain a straight face.

Stydahar hinted something in the way of a surprise when he declared to name his starting quarterback until kickoff time. Veteran Bob Waterfield had the role over Norman Van Brocklin in the previous encounters with the Bears.

Johnny Lujack, barring similar mysterious tacitcs by Halas, will take over at quarterback for the Bears, with Sid Luckman standing by.

The Bears have a far better defensive record while the Rams have broken many league records for offense this season.

Hawks Conquer Beall Cagers In 41-38 Tilt

Ridgeley Floormen Annex Opening Game

FROSTBURG, Dec. 15—Ridgeley High School launched its 1950-51 cage campaign here tonight by defeating Beall High School's Mountaineers to the tune of 41-38 in an interesting contest.

The Blackhawks held a nine-point advantage at halftime, 21-12, but Beall cut the lead to three points at 30-27 in the third stanza and that margin prevailed to the final whistle.

Hartman was Ridgeley's top man with 11 points. Al Decker had eight markers and Stokes and Loy seven each. Don Blank paced Beall with 10 markers while Brady had seven and Hawkins and Arnone six apiece.

Five players, three from Beall and two from Ridgeley, made their exit via the five personals route. They were Arnone, Workman, Blank, Decker and Loy. Lineups:

Ray Famechon Cops Decision

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Ray Famechon, European featherweight champ from France chased Glen (The Wrong) Flanagan for 10 long rounds tonight to whip the retreating St. Paul, Minn., Irishman by a unanimous 10-round decision to a chorus of boos. Famechon weighed 127½, Flanagan 127.

There never was the least doubt about the decision in this bout that marked the 25th anniversary of the opening of Madison Square Garden. Only question all night was whether Famechon would pitch a shutout.

He almost did, losing only two rounds on the combined cards of the three officials. Both Referee Jack Watson and Judge Bill Healey had it 10-0 and Judge Art Suskind saw it 8-2.

Oakland High Wins Over Fellowsville

Oakland High School scored its first victory of the season on Tuesday, defeating Fellowsville High at Fellowsville, W. Va., by the score of 40-35.

Warren Giles Says He's Not Candidate For Commissioner

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15 (AP)—Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, declared tonight he would not be a candidate for appointment as baseball commissioner. And he added:

"(A. B.) Chandler is still baseball commissioner and will have my full support while he is, just as he has had my support in the past."

Giles issued his prepared statement on his return here from St. Petersburg, Fla., where Chandler failed to muster sufficient votes of the club owners for a renewal of his contract.

Giles immediately was one of those mentioned as possible successor to Chandler.

The statement issued by the Reds' president said:

"Some baseball officials in both major leagues have suggested to me that I be a candidate. My reply and my position now is that I definitely am not a candidate in any sense of the word.

Westmont High Comes Here For 43rd Contest With AHS

Pennsy Five Invades Campobello Tonight

Schools that have been meeting almost annually since 1927 will collide for the 43rd time tonight when Allegany plays host to Westmont High of Johnstown, Pa., at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Westmont High will be under the supervision of Carl Engh who is rounding out his 32nd season as mentor of the Johnstown club. Both Engh and Walter L. Bowers held the same jobs in 1927 when Westmont and AHS tangled for the first time in basketball. Bowers is in his 25th season as cage mentor at Campobello.

In the 42 games since 1927, Allegany has won 30 and Westmont an even dozen. The Campers, incidentally, have taken the last five games of the series.

Allegany lost its lid-lifter to Somerset on the local floor, 40-28. The Campobello team dropped decisions to Waynesburg College, St. Francis College and Somerset.

Westmont whipped Somerset, 60-33, before the latter took AHS into camp here 46-31. Bob Sharkey, Johnstown center, who scored 15 field goals and 32 points against the Golden Eagles will be the man to watch tonight.

Last year the Campers topped Westmont twice, 40-28 and 50-43.

Officials for tonight's game will be Bill Hahn and William "Bee" Orndorff.

Fort Hill Racks Up 2nd Win Of Season At Hagerstown, 53-41

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 15 — Fort Hill High School notched its second straight win of the season tonight, defeating Hagerstown High School by the score of 53-41 in a contest in which five players were ejected on personal fouls.

Coach Mel Henry's Hubs held an 11-10 edge in the first period but the Sentinels from Cumberland moved in front at the half, 23-20, and held the long end of a 40-33 score when the third period ended.

Burke and Koontz of Hagerstown and Beightol, Cage and Wilson of Fort Hill went out of the game on personal fouls.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's quint outscored the home team 23 to 11 in field goals. At the charity stripe, the Hubs sank 19 of 37 shots while the visitors were hooping 7 out of 18.

Lynn Beightol and George McGregor led the Fort Hill scorers with 14 and 13 tallies. Burke was Hagerstown's "big gun" with six fielders and 18 points.

In the preliminary game, Fort Hill's junior varsity quint went down to defeat at the hands of the Hagerstown High Jayvees, 33 to 29. Lineups:

Bannerman Weds, Navy Career Ends

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 15 (AP) — The romance of the Middle and the typist was known to all today, and it meant the end of his navy career.

Midshipman David Vance Bannerman, the Navy's star fullback, was married to Monette J. Chaney, daughter of an Annapolis professor, last Saturday.

The secret couldn't be kept, so Bannerman will be honorably discharged from the service.

QUESTIONS

1—Who is regarded as the first boxer to make more than $1,000,000 directly and indirectly from his boxing activities?

2—Who was Juan Belmonte?

3—Does a game cock need to be taught to fight?

A GREAT player for Minnesota (he was named to the All-American at both tackle and fullback), this husky was an even greater pro performer as a member of the Chicago Bears. Name him.

ANSWERS

1—John L. Sullivan. He is credited with earning $1,221,320 —but only a small portion of this was in actual ring purses.

2—Probably the greatest and most popular bull fighter of modern times.

3—No, the fighting instinct is born with the little birds.

Giants To Play Without Poole

Mote To Take Place Against Cleveland

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—Memo to the Cleveland Browns football players:

If you are planning to sweep the New York Giants ends Sunday because flanker Ray Poole is out with a fractured ankle, just forget it.

Kelley Mote, one-time Duke great, is back in shape and has done so well in practice that Coach Steve Owen says "sure, Poole's injury was a blow but with Mote around it doesn't figure to be a damaging one. In fact, I'm not at all worried. I really hope the Browns try to run around this guy."

The Browns and Giants met twice during the National Football League season with the New Yorkers taking both and Poole a hero in both. Sunday the two tangle again in a playoff for the American Conference title at Cleveland.

Poole suffered his injury in last Sunday's contest with the Philadelphia Eagles. Mote will replace him as defensive right end with Randy Clay, rookie from Texas, inheriting Poole's field goal and kickoff duties.

While the Browns and Giants are blocking and tackling at Cleveland, the Chicago Bears and the Los Angles Rams will be mixing it up in California for the National Conference laurels. The two winners meet Dec. 24 in either New York or Cleveland for the pro crown.

Mountaineers Play Gamecocks Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 15 —West Virginia's average of 80.0 points for three games will be in jeopardy tomorrow when the unbeaten Mountaineers wade into South Carolina in the opener of a series of Southern Conference dates at the Field House before Christmas. Wake Forest follows Monday and George Washington attacks Wednesday.

The immediate objective could prove a stickler. The Gamecocks, who move to Pittsburgh for a Monday encounter with Duquesne and are to appear in Madison Square Garden against L. I. U. on New Year's, are rated a potent contender for the conference title despite the presence of three sophomores in their regular lineup.

Clifton Van Roby and A. W. Heyl will officiate the main contest.

90,000 May See Bears, Rams Play In Los Angeles Sunday

National Conference Title Is At Stake

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15 (AP) —The Los Angeles Rams and the Chicago Bears may perform before 90,000 fans Sunday when they tangle for the National Conference title of the National Football League.

Promise of the bitterest and best pro football engagement of the year, an official forecast of clear skies and a fine field, plus a blackout on television for the play off struggle, all have combined to send the demand for tickets soaring.

Coach George Halas ushered the Bears into town this morning and gave them a workout this afternoon. The club appeared typically confidentand workmanlike, as well as in top shape.

The Rams likewise staged a drill behind guarded gates under the tutelage of Joe Stydahar, who learned much of his football as a star tackle for the Bears under Halas.

Halas didn't bat an eye when mention was made that his club is a seven-point underdog. The margin should be even greater, he added, managing to maintain a straight face.

Stydahar hinted something in the way of a surprise when he declared to name his starting quarterback until kickoff time. Veteran Bob Waterfield had the role over Norman Van Brocklin in the previous encounters with the Bears.

Johnny Lujack, barring similar mysterious tacitcs by Halas, will take over at quarterback for the Bears, with Sid Luckman standing by.

The Bears have a far better defensive record while the Rams have broken many league records for offense this season.

Praise For Parker
17,157 Picked 'Em
Hit Century Mark

By C. V. BURNS

Kenneth Parker of Romney High School is the second boy from the Eastern Panhandle to make the All-Northern West Virginia High School football team in six years.

Ray Blackburn of Keyser was selected in 1949.

Here's what the Dominion-News of Morgantown says about Parker:

"The other All-Northern tackle, Romney's Kenneth Parker, was the main reason Dick McElwee's team had such a successful season.

"McElwee calls the boy 'truly a coach's player.' His opponents, apparently, thought so, too, for they named him the only unanimous choice for the Potomac Valley Conference all-star team.

"Parker played both on offense and defense, was particularly fast on his feet, a good blocker and a deadly tackler.

"Kenneth will be too old to play next fall, but McElwee will have him around—helping out with the coaching duties."

The Old German Pigskin Prediction Contest which was conducted by the German Brewing Company in the Times-News papers this fall attracted a total of 17,157 Maryland entries.

The contest ran nine weeks and a total of $1,000 in cash prizes was distributed to 28 persons. Nearly 100 cases of beer was awarded.

Pennsylvania and West Virginia residents were prohibited by law from participating.

Entries were received from as far north as New Hampshire to Florida in the south.

This was the second year for the contest.

The greatest number of points scored by a scholastic quint in the tri-state area so far this season is credited to Coalton High School which defeated Pickens High School, 102-21.

The schools are located in Randolph County, W. Va.

Coalton is on the Parsons and Thomas schedules this season.

Hitting the century mark is rare in high school games in this section. The collegians, however, have done it several times.

The other night at Uniontown, the West Virginia University Freshmen whipped the Wash-Jeff frosh by the score of 110-107.

Art Swiden, Braddock, Pa., heavyweight, who helped smell out the State Armory in that terrible match with Ben Skelton last May, is now driving a taxicab in Pittsburgh.

Those who saw him in the ring here were unanimous in their opinion that he should have taken up taxi driving a long time ago.

Football in the Southwest Conference really is a wide open affair. In the last 17 years, Texas sports writers have picked the conference winner only four times. They picked Texas' Longhorns last summer and were right.

Hamill Named Coach Of Year

Writers Will Honor Weirton High Mentor

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 15 (AP)—Carl Hamill's 22-year record at Weirton High School has won him selection as West Virginia's 1950 "coach of the year."

Hamill's designation for the honor by the West Virginia Sports Writers' Association was announced today by Secretary George Holbrook, of the Charleston Daily Mail sports staff.

He will be honored, along with the "amateur athlete of the year," at the sports writers' annual victory awards dinner in Charleston December 28. George King, who set a national single-season scoring record with Morris Harvey's basketball team this year, was designated as the amateur athlete of the year.

Hamill, 48, is retiring from the Weirton post at the end of this school year. Since 1929 he has been head coach of all sports at that school.

During those years, his football teams, six times undefeated, have won 177 games against 33 defeats and 14 ties. Two of the teams won state championships. His basketball squad last season won 16 games and lost seven, and his baseball team won the state title in that sport.

Ray Famechon Cops Decision

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Ray Famechon, European featherweight champ from France chased Glen (The Wrong) Flanagan for 10 long rounds tonight to whip the retreating St. Paul, Minn., Irishman by a unanimous 10-round decision to a chorus of boos. Famechon weighed 127½, Flanagan 127.

There never was the least doubt about the decision in this bout that marked the 25th anniversary of the opening of Madison Square Garden. Only question all night was whether Famechon would pitch a shutout.

He almost did, losing only two rounds on the combined cards of the three officials. Both Referee Jack Watson and Judge Bill Healey had it 10-0 and Judge Art Suskind saw it 8-2.

Oakland High Wins Over Fellowsville

Oakland High School scored its first victory of the season on Tuesday, defeating Fellowsville High at Fellowsville, W. Va., by the score of 40-35.

Warren Giles Says He's Not Candidate For Commissioner

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15 (AP)—Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, declared tonight he would not be a candidate for appointment as baseball commissioner. And he added:

"(A. B.) Chandler is still baseball commissioner and will have my full support while he is, just as he has had my support in the past."

Giles issued his prepared statement on his return here from St. Petersburg, Fla., where Chandler failed to muster sufficient votes of the club owners for a renewal of his contract.

Giles immediately was one of those mentioned as possible successor to Chandler.

The statement issued by the Reds' president said:

"Some baseball officials in both major leagues have suggested to me that I be a candidate. My reply and my position now is that I definitely am not a candidate in any sense of the word.

Johnstown Is Host To Local Pros Tonight

Wheeling Will Pay Second Visit Here, Lost Opener, 69-58

Defeated here a week ago by the score of 69-58, the Wheeling Blues return to Cumberland tomorrow night to meet the Spas for the 2nd time this season in an All-American Professional Basketball League game.

Both teams play away from home tonight, the Spas meeting the Clippers at Johnstown, Pa., while Wheeling engages the Flyers in Altoona, Pa.

Coach Bill Keegan last night announced the Spas will leave from the Spa Bar, North Mechanic street, today at 5 p. m. for the game in Johnstown.

Cumberland has a 2-1 record in the league. Coach Bill Keegan's outfit defeated Johnstown, 70-65 and Wheeling 69-58 and lost to Johnstown 79-65.

Wheeling has split even in four games. Coach Andy Tonkovich's outfit has beaten Johnstown 86-77 and Altoona 110-77 while losing to Beaver Falls, 59-45, and Cumberland.

Could Even Series

A victory in tomorrow's game would enable Cumberland to square its all-time series with Wheeling. The West Virginians have won 15 and local teams 14 over a five-year span.

Wheeling's lineup will include Clyde Green and Eddie Sterling, former West Virginia U. stars, Player-Coach Andy Tonkovich, Paul Herman, Bob Pelaez, Jim Mohan, Gene Britt, Joe Dougherty and Bill Feeney.

The Spas starting lineup will be chosen from Jimmie Clevenger, Bob Pence, Ed Mathewson, Jack Murphy, Lou Bell and George Geatz.

Tomorrow's game is set for 9 p. m.

There will be a preliminary contest at 8 o'clock with Biddy Basketball League teams in action.

Collegians Cancel

The game scheduled here last night between St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., and the Spas was cancelled at the request of the Frankies due to yesterday's snow making traveling conditions hazardous on the highways.

Westmont High Comes Here For 43rd Contest With AHS

Pennsy Five Invades Campobello Tonight

Schools that have been meeting almost annually since 1927 will collide for the 43rd time tonight when Allegany plays host to Westmont High of Johnstown, Pa., at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Westmont High will be under the supervision of Carl Engh who is rounding out his 32nd season as mentor of the Johnstown club. Both Engh and Walter L. Bowers held the same jobs in 1927 when Westmont and AHS tangled for the first time in basketball. Bowers is in his 25th season as cage mentor at Campobello.

In the 42 games since 1927, Allegany has won 30 and Westmont an even dozen. The Campers, incidentally, have taken the last five games of the series.

Allegany lost its lid-lifter to Somerset on the local floor, 40-28. The Campobello team dropped decisions to Waynesburg College, St. Francis College and Somerset.

Westmont whipped Somerset, 60-33, before the latter took AHS into camp here 46-31. Bob Sharkey, Johnstown center, who scored 15 field goals and 32 points against the Golden Eagles will be the man to watch tonight.

Last year the Campers topped Westmont twice, 40-28 and 50-43.

Officials for tonight's game will be Bill Hahn and William "Bee" Orndorff.

The prelim between AHS teams is set for 7 o

Bannerman Weds, Navy Career Ends

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 15 (AP) — The romance of the Middie and the typist was known to all today, and it meant the end of his navy career.

Midshipman David Vance Bannerman, the Navy's star fullback, was married to Monette J. Chaney, daughter of an Annapolis professor, last Saturday.

The secret couldn't be kept, so Bannerman will be honorably discharged from the service.

QUESTIONS

1—Who is regarded as the first boxer to make more than $1,000,000 directly and indirectly from his boxing activities?

2—Who was Juan Belmonte?

3—Does a game cock need to be taught to fight?

A GREAT player for Minnesota (he was named to the All-American at both tackle and fullback), this husky was an even greater pro performer as a member of the Chicago Bears. Name him.

ANSWERS

1—John L. Sullivan. He is credited with earning $1,221,320—but only a small portion of this was in actual ring purses.

2—Probably the greatest and most popular bull fighter of modern times.

3—No, the fighting instinct is born with the little birds.

Giants To Play Without Poole

Mote To Take Place Against Cleveland

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—Memo to the Cleveland Browns football players:

If you are planning to sweep the New York Giants ends Sunday because flanker Ray Poole is out with a fractured ankle, just forget it.

Kelley Mote, one-time Duke great, is back in shape and has done so well in practice that Coach Steve Owen says "sure, Poole's injury was a blow but with Mote around it doesn't figure to be a damaging one. In fact, I'm not at all worried. I really hope the Browns try to run around this guy."

The Browns and Giants met twice during the National Football League season with the New Yorkers taking both and Poole a hero in both. Sunday the two tangle again in a playoff for the American Conference title at Cleveland.

Poole suffered his injury in last Sunday's contest with the Philadelphia Eagles. Mote will replace him as defensive right end with Randy Clay, rookie from Texas, inheriting Poole's field goal and kickoff duties.

While the Browns and Giants are blocking and tackling at Cleveland, the Chicago Bears and the Los Angles Rams will be mixing it up in California for the National Conference laurels. The two winners meet Dec. 24 in either New York or Cleveland for the pro crown.

Central High Five Throttles Lions, 32-24

'Coney Cagers Bag 4th Straight Game

PIEDMONT, Dec. 15 — Central High School of Lonaconing, paced by the sharpshooting Kenneth Burt, who scored seven field goals and 15 points, snapped Piedmont High School's three-game winning streak here tonight. The score was 32-24.

The victory was the fourth straight for Coach Johnny Meyers' undefeated Tigers.

Central got off to an 11-7 lead in the first period but the score was knotted at 14-14 at the half and 18-18 when the third period was concluded.

Piedmont lost Albanese on personal fouls in the third period.

Central played good defensive ball, limiting the Lions to six field goals while scoring 14 themselves. The lineups:

Romney Beats Mathias High

Baird, Maphis, Petry Feature 63-39 Win

ROMNEY, W. Va., Dec. 15—Romney High School scored a 63 to 39 decision over Mathias High School in a Potomac Valley Conference basketball game here tonight. It was the Pioneers' first win of the season after an earlier setback at the hands of Piedmont.

Mathias held Romney to a 27-21 lead at the half-way mark and only 10 points separated the teams in the third period, 39-29. In the fourth quarter, however, Coach Dick McElwee's outfit reeled off 24 points to the visitors' 10.

George Baird with 21 points, Roger Maphis with 20 and Bob Petry with 15 sparked the Pioneers' offensive. Dove gathered 11 tallies to pace Mathias.

Romney's next engagement is with University High School on Tuesday at Morgantown. Lineups:

Mountaineers Play Gamecocks Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 15 —West Virginia's average of 80.0 points for three games will be in jeopardy tomorrow when the unbeaten Mountaineers wade into South Carolina in the opener of a series of Southern Conference dates at the Field House before Christmas. Wake Forest follows Monday and George Washington attacks Wednesday.

The immediate objective could prove a stickler. The Gamecocks, who move to Pittsburgh for a Monday encounter with Duquesne and are to appear in Madison Square Garden against L. I. U. on New Year's, are rated a potent contender for the conference title despite the presence of three sophomores in their regular lineup.

Clifton Van Roby and A. W. Heyl will officiate the main contest.

90,000 May See Bears, Rams Play In Los Angeles Sunday

National Conference Title Is At Stake

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15 (AP) —The Los Angeles Rams and the Chicago Bears may perform before 90,000 fans Sunday when they tangle for the National Conference title of the National Football League.

Promise of the bitterest and best pro football engagement of the year, an official forecast of clear skies and a fine field, plus a blackout on television for the play off struggle, all have combined to send the demand for tickets soaring.

Coach George Halas ushered the Bears into town this morning and gave them a workout this afternoon. The club appeared typically confidentand workmanlike, as well as in top shape.

The Rams likewise staged a drill behind guarded gates under the tutelage of Joe Stydahar, who learned much of his football as a star tackle for the Bears under Halas.

Halas didn't bat an eye when mention was made that his club is a seven-point underdog. The margin should be even greater, he added, managing to maintain a straight face.

Stydahar hinted something in the way of a surprise when he declared to name his starting quarterback until kickoff time. Veteran Bob Waterfield had the role over Norman Van Brocklin in the previous encounters with the Bears.

Johnny Lujack, barring similar mysterious tacitcs by Halas, will take over at quarterback for the Bears, with Sid Luckman standing by.

The Bears have a far better defensive record while the Rams have broken many league records for offense this season.

Hit Century Mark

By C. V. BURNS

Kenneth Parker of Romney High School is the second boy from the Eastern Panhandle to make the All-Northern West Virginia High School football team in six years.

Ray Blackburn of Keyser was selected in 1949.

Here's what the Dominion-News of Morgantown says about Parker:

"The other All-Northern tackle, Romney's Kenneth Parker, was the main reason Dick McElwee's team had such a successful season.

"McElwee calls the boy 'truly a coach's player.' His opponents, apparently, thought so, too, for they named him the only unanimous choice for the Potomac Valley Conference all-star team.

"Parker played both on offense and defense, was particularly fast on his feet, a good blocker and a deadly tackler.

"Kenneth will be too old to play next fall, but McElwee will have him around—helping out with the coaching duties."

The Old German Pigskin Prediction Contest which was conducted by the German Brewing Company in the Times-News papers this fall attracted a total of 17,157 Maryland entries.

The contest ran nine weeks and a total of $1,000 in cash prizes was distributed to 28 persons. Nearly 100 cases of beer was awarded.

Pennsylvania and West Virginia residents were prohibited by law from participating.

Entries were received from as far north as New Hampshire to Florida in the south.

This was the second year for the contest.

The greatest number of points scored by a scholastic quint in the tri-state area so far this season is credited to Coalton High School which defeated Pickens High School, 102-21.

The schools are located in Randolph County, W. Va.

Coalton is on the Parsons and Thomas schedules this season.

Hitting the century mark is rare in high school games in this section. The collegians, however, have done it several times.

The other night at Uniontown, the West Virginia University Freshmen whipped the Wash-Jeff frosh by the score of 110-107.

Art Swiden, Braddock, Pa., heavyweight, who helped smell out the State Armory in that terrible match with Ben Skelton last May, is now driving a taxicab in Pittsburgh.

Those who saw him in the ring here were unanimous in their opinion that he should have taken up taxi driving a long time ago.

Football in the Southwest Conference really is a wide open affair. In the last 17 years, Texas sports writers have picked the conference winner only four times. They picked Texas' Longhorns last summer and were right.

Hamill Named Coach Of Year

Writers Will Honor Weirton High Mentor

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 15 (AP)—Carl Hamill's 22-year record at Weirton High School has won him selection as West Virginia's 1950 "coach of the year."

Hamill's designation for the honor by the West Virginia Sports Writers' Association was announced today by Secretary George Holbrook, of the Charleston Daily Mail sports staff.

He will be honored, along with the "amateur athlete of the year," at the sports writers' annual victory awards dinner in Charleston December 28. George King, who set a national single-season scoring record with Morris Harvey's basketball team this year, was designated as the amateur athlete of the year.

Hamill, 48, is retiring from the Weirton post at the end of this school year. Since 1929 he has been head coach of all sports at that school.

During those years, his football teams, six times undefeated, have won 177 games against 33 defeats and 14 ties. Two of the teams won state championships. His basketball squad last season won 16 games and lost seven, and his baseball team won the state title in that sport.

'Coney Methodists Defeat St. Mary's

LONACONING, Dec. 15—Rallying for 13 points in the final quarter, the First Methodist quint defeated St. Mary's Catholic Church cagers here tonight by the score of 35-29 in a basketball game staged at Central High School.

The Catholic team held the lead at the close of the first three periods, 10-8, 21-11 and 27-22.

Ray Famechon Cops Decision

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Ray Famechon, European featherweight champ from France chased Glen (The Wrong) Flanagan for 10 long rounds tonight to whip the retreating St. Paul, Minn., Irishman by a unanimous 10-round decision to a chorus of boos. Famechon weighed 127½, Flanagan 127.

There never was the least doubt about the decision in this bout that marked the 25th anniversary of the opening of Madison Square Garden. Only question all night was whether Famechon would pitch a shutout.

He almost did, losing only two rounds on the combined cards of the three officials. Both Referee Jack Watson and Judge Bill Healey had it 10-0 and Judge Art Suskind saw it 8-2.

Warren Giles Says He's Not Candidate For Commissioner

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15 (AP)—Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, declared tonight he would not be a candidate for appointment as baseball commissioner. And he added:

"(A. B.) Chandler is still baseball commissioner and will have my full support while he is, just as he has had my support in the past."

Giles issued his prepared statement on his return here from St. Petersburg, Fla., where Chandler failed to muster sufficient votes of the club owners for a renewal of his contract.

Giles immediately was one of those mentioned as possible successor to Chandler.

The statement issued by the Reds' president said:

"Some baseball officials in both major leagues have suggested to me that I be a candidate. My reply and my position now is that I definitely am not a candidate in any sense of the word.

Johnstown Is Host To Local Pros Tonight

Wheeling Will Pay Second Visit Here, Lost Opener, 69-58

Defeated here a week ago by the score of 69-58, the Wheeling Blues return to Cumberland tomorrow night to meet the Spas for the 2nd time this season in an All-American Professional Basketball League game.

Both teams play away from home tonight, the Spas meeting the Clippers at Johnstown, Pa., while Wheeling engages the Flyers in Altoona, Pa.

Coach Bill Keegan last night announced the Spas will leave from the Spa Bar, North Mechanic street, today at 5 p. m. for the game in Johnstown.

Cumberland has a 2-1 record in the league. Coach Bill Keegan's outfit defeated Johnstown, 70-65 and Wheeling 69-58 and lost to Johnstown 79-65.

Wheeling has split even in four games. Coach Andy Tonkovich's outfit has beaten Johnstown 86-77 and Altoona 110-77 while losing to Beaver Falls, 59-45, and Cumberland.

Could Even Series

A victory in tomorrow's game would enable Cumberland to square its all-time series with Wheeling. The West Virginians have won 15 and local teams 14 over a five-year span.

Wheeling's lineup will include Clyde Green and Eddie Sterling, former West Virginia U. stars, Player-Coach Andy Tonkovich, Paul Herman, Bob Pelaez, Jim Mohan, Gene Britt, Joe Dougherty and Bill Feeney.

The Spas starting lineup will be chosen from Jimmie Clevenger, Bob Pence, Ed Mathewson, Jack Murphy, Lou Bell and George Geatz.

Tomorrow's game is set for 9 p. m.

There will be a preliminary contest at 8 o'clock with Biddy Basketball League teams in action.

Collegians Cancel

The game scheduled here last night between St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., and the Spas was cancelled at the request of the Frankies due to yesterday's snow making traveling conditions hazardous on the highways.

Westmont High Comes Here For 43rd Contest With AHS

Pennsy Five Invades Campobello Tonight

Schools that have been meeting almost annually since 1927 will collide for the 43rd time tonight when Allegany plays host to Westmont High of Johnstown, Pa., at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Westmont High will be under the supervision of Carl Engh who is rounding out his 32nd season as mentor of the Johnstown club. Both Engh and Walter L. Bowers held the same jobs in 1927 when Westmont and AHS tangled for the first time in basketball. Bowers is in his 25th season as cage mentor at Campobello.

In the 42 games since 1927, Allegany has won 30 and Westmont an even dozen. The Campers, incidentally, have taken the last five games of the series.

Allegany lost its lid-lifter to Somerset on the local floor, 40-28. The Campobello team dropped decisions to Waynesburg College, St. Francis College and Somerset.

Westmont whipped Somerset, 60-33, before the latter took AHS into camp here 46-31. Bob Sharkey, Johnstown center, who scored 15 field goals and 32 points against the Golden Eagles will be the man to watch tonight.

Last year the Campers topped Westmont twice, 40-28 and 50-43.

Hill Prince Favored In Coast Race

Twelve May Start In $50,000 Sunset

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 15 (AP) —Hill Prince today was picked as a heavy favorite to win the $50,000 Sunset Handicap but a pair of handsome filly queens may give the Virginia colt a run in a race that lost most of its appeal when four worthy eligibles withdrew.

All told, an even dozen thoroughbreds were entered today for the mile and one eighth closing day attraction at Hollywood Park.

The filly stars, pride of the Alfred G. Vanderbilt racing stable, are Next Move, who has been named the "three-year-old filly of the year," and Bed O' Roses, whom many contend is as great or greater than Next Move.

Rounding out the field will be the strong Calumet team of bewitch and Theory, Argentine - Bred Repeluz, and Blue Reading, Great Circle, Last Round, Vino Fino, Mocopo and Pedigree.

Any chance of a re-run of last week's $100,000 gold cup collapsed when the cup winner, Noor, was retired from the turf, and Palestinian Ponder and Your Host decided to skip the Sunset and point for Santa Anita's rich meeting which opens Dec. 29.

Their absence robs Hill Prince, C. T. Chenery's "three-year-old of the year" and chance of immediate revenge for the four horses who have beaten him in his two-starts since arriving at Hollywood Park.

The Prince finished third to Noor and Palestinian in the Gold Cup, and third to Your Host and Ponder in the Thanksgiving Day Handicap.

The two setbacks did nothing to enhance his reputation as the leading three-year-old of 1950 or the further credit bestowed on him by official turf organizations as the "horse of the year."

Hill Prince, with Eddie Arcaro back in the saddle, will carry high weight of 128 pounds and spot his next rival, Next Move, (114) 14 pounds.

Jimmy's Tavern Wins

Jimmy's Tavern won two out of three games from the V.F.W. last night in the Ladies' National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County. Miss Ann Kenny headed the winners with 23 points. M. Blair scored 21 to lead the VFW.

Bryant Interviewed By Gopher Officials

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 15 (AP)—Paul Bryant, Kentucky University football coach, arrived here by plane today for interviews with University of Minnesota officials about the head football coaching post at Minnesota.

He scheduled talks during the afternoon with President James Morrill and Athletic Director Ike Armstrong.

Hilda Scores At Tropical

Defeats Top Admiral In 6th Race On Card

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP) — O. L. Nyberg's Hilda, extremely fond of Florida weather, made it two straight at Tropical Park today as she sped to victory in the sixth and best event of the nine-race program.

Repeating her performance of two weeks ago, the five-year-old daughter of Hypnotist II was on the front end all the way and blazed past the judges with an advantage of two lengths. She paid $7.20 for $2 and turned the six furlongs in 1.12 on a fast track.

Savoy Stable's Top Admiral, the public choice which had won his previous start at the meeting, finished second, faltering slightly when put to pressure by Jockey R. J. Martin. Little Captain finished third while Sun Crown was fourth.

Among the also rans was the one-time stakes winner, Buzfuz, an old Miami favorite. He never got close to the leaders. The gate slumped to 5,693, despite ideal weather.

Joe Culmone, who is having trouble riding winners at Tropical Park, got off to a flying start, bagging his 368th marker of the year on Lucky Month in the first event.

Lucky Month, owned by W. H. Can, the trotting horse man, defeated In Readiness by a head only because Culmone outrode Logan Batchelor in the drive to the wire. The Cane filly paid $23.60 straight. Third in the field of a dozen maiden 2-year-olds was Norcal, the choice.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are adolescents naturally "rebellious"?

Answer: Any normal person resents having to take orders and is at first prone to abuse unaccustomed freedom — for instance, will sit up later than he really wants to when no longer told to go to bed. A young person who shows no signs of rebelling against discipline has probably been crushed by too much of it and is likely to become neurotic. But how serious and long-lasting the rebellion is will depend upon whether, on the whole, he feels his parents had his happiness at heart or were trying to deprive him of it.

Are "diseases of old age" inevitable?

Answer: No, says Dr. Ivan Baslylewicz in the Rhode Island Medical Journal, after studying thirty-eight men and women over ninety and thirty-four over a hundred years old. People may reach ages such as these and still have no specific "old-age diseases." Despite certain physiological changes, the body of an aged person can still function harmoniously, if at a somewhat lowered level. And as far as their minds are concerned, very old people who are normal in other respects show no appreciable weakness or disturbance.

Do you work best when you "feel swell"?

Answer: Not always, at any rate. Most otherwise normal people show at least some traces of what in extreme form is called the "manic-depressive cycle"—that is, alternate between moods of illogical optimism and of equally exaggerated gloom. And because the "manic" or elated mood involves a tendency to ignore the more unpleasant aspects of reality, it may be that when you feel you're "sitting on top of the world," you'll find it more than usually hard to settle down to work that offers no immediate return in pleasure.

"Retain Chandler" Petitions Started In Ky. Drug Store

MAYFIELD, Ky., Dec. 15 (AP) — A corner drug store petition asking that Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler be retained was started here today. The petition sponsors hope to obtain millions of signatures in corner drug stores through the nation before the February meeting of the major leagues.

The "Retain Chandler" petition committee in Mayfield is headed by Jess Anderson, editor of the Mayfield Messenger. Petitions will be mailed to chairmen in every state for distribution throughout those states. The petition was prepared in the belief that a great majority of baseball fans and baseball players, both semi-pro and professional are in favor of retaining Chandler as commissioner.

Hill Prince Favored In Coast Race

Twelve May Start In $50,000 Sunset

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 15 (AP) —Hill Prince today was picked as a heavy favorite to win the $50,000 Sunset Handicap but a pair of handsome filly queens may give the Virginia colt a run in a race that lost most of its appeal when four worthy eligibles withdrew.

All told, an even dozen thoroughbreds were entered today for the mile and one eighth closing day attraction at Hollywood Park.

The filly stars, pride of the Alfred G. Vanderbilt racing stable, are Next Move, who has been named the "three-year-old filly of the year," and Bed O' Roses, whom many contend is as great or greater than Next Move.

Rounding out the field will be the strong Calumet team of bewitch and Theory, Argentine - Bred Repeluz, and Blue Reading, Great Circle, Last Round, Vino Fino, Mocopo and Pedigree.

Any chance of a re-run of last week's $100,000 gold cup collapsed when the cup winner, Noor, was retired from the turf, and Palestinian Ponder and Your Host decided to skip the Sunset and point for Santa Anita's rich meeting which opens Dec. 29.

Their absence robs Hill Prince, C. T. Chenery's "three-year-old of the year" and chance of immediate revenge for the four horses who have beaten him in his two-starts since arriving at Hollywood Park.

The Prince finished third to Noor and Palestinian in the Gold Cup, and third to Your Host and Ponder in the Thanksgiving Day Handicap.

The two setbacks did nothing to enhance his reputation as the leading three-year-old of 1950 or the further credit bestowed on him by official turf organizations as the "horse of the year."

Hill Prince, with Eddie Arcaro back in the saddle, will carry high weight of 128 pounds and spot his next rival, Next Move, (114) 14 pounds.

Jimmy's Tavern Wins

Jimmy's Tavern won two out of three games from the V.F.W. last night in the Ladies' National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County. Miss Ann Kenny headed the winners with 23 points. M. Blair scored 21 to lead the VFW.

Bryant Interviewed By Gopher Officials

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 15 (AP)—Paul Bryant, Kentucky University football coach, arrived here by plane today for interviews with University of Minnesota officials about the head football coaching post at Minnesota.

He scheduled talks during the afternoon with President James Morrill and Athletic Director Ike Armstrong.

Hilda Scores At Tropical

Defeats Top Admiral In 6th Race On Card

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP) — O. L. Nyberg's Hilda, extremely fond of Florida weather, made it two straight at Tropical Park today as she sped to victory in the sixth and best event of the nine-race program.

Repeating her performance of two weeks ago, the five-year-old daughter of Hypnotist II was on the front end all the way and blazed past the judges with an advantage of two lengths. She paid $7.20 for $2 and turned the six furlongs in 1.12 on a fast track.

Savoy Stable's Top Admiral, the public choice which had won his previous start at the meeting, finished second, faltering slightly when put to pressure by Jockey R. J. Martin. Little Captain finished third while Sun Crown was fourth.

Among the also rans was the one-time stakes winner, Buzfuz, an old Miami favorite. He never got close to the leaders. The gate slumped to 5,693, despite ideal weather.

Joe Culmone, who is having trouble riding winners at Tropical Park, got off to a flying start, bagging his 368th marker of the year on Lucky Month in the first event.

Lucky Month, owned by W. H. Can, the trotting horse man, defeated In Readiness by a head only because Culmone outrode Logan Batchelor in the drive to the wire. The Cane filly paid $23.60 straight. Third in the field of a dozen maiden 2-year-olds was Norcal, the choice.

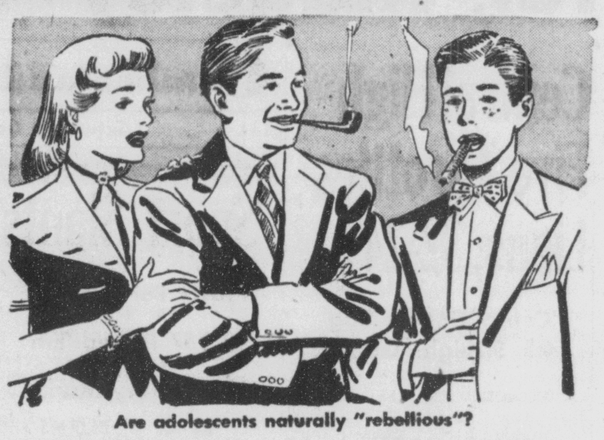
MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

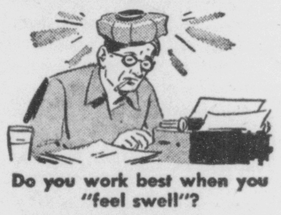


Are adolescents naturally "rebellious"?

Answer: Any normal person resents having to take orders and is at first prone to abuse unaccustomed freedom — for instance, will sit up later than he really wants to when no longer told to go to bed. A young person who shows no signs of rebelling against discipline has probably been crushed by too much of it and is likely to become neurotic. But how serious and long-lasting the rebellion is will depend upon whether, on the whole, he feels his parents had his happiness at heart or were trying to deprive him of it.

Are "diseases of old age" inevitable?

Answer: No, says Dr. Ivan Baslylewicz in the Rhode Island Medical Journal, after studying thirty-eight men and women over ninety and thirty-four over a hundred years old. People may reach ages such as these and still have no specific "old-age diseases." Despite certain physiological changes, the body of an aged person can still function harmoniously, if at a somewhat lowered level. And as far as their minds are concerned, very old people who are normal in other respects show no appreciable weakness or disturbance.



Do you work best when you "feel swell"?

Answer: Not always, at any rate. Most otherwise normal people show at least some traces of what in extreme form is called the "manic-depressive cycle"—that is, alternate between moods of illogical optimism and of equally exaggerated gloom. And because the "manic" or elated mood involves a tendency to ignore the more unpleasant aspects of reality, it may be that when you feel you're "sitting on top of the world," you'll find it more than usually hard to settle down to work that offers no immediate return in pleasure.

"Retain Chandler" Petitions Started In Ky. Drug Store

MAYFIELD, Ky., Dec. 15 (AP) — A corner drug store petition asking that Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler be retained was started here today. The petition sponsors hope to obtain millions of signatures in corner drug stores through the nation before the February meeting of the major leagues.

The "Retain Chandler" petition committee in Mayfield is headed by Jess Anderson, editor of the Mayfield Messenger. Petitions will be mailed to chairmen in every state for distribution throughout those states. The petition was prepared in the belief that a great majority of baseball fans and baseball players, both semi-pro and professional are in favor of retaining Chandler as commissioner.

Hill Prince Favored In Coast Race

Twelve May Start In $50,000 Sunset

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 15 (AP) —Hill Prince today was picked as a heavy favorite to win the $50,000 Sunset Handicap but a pair of handsome filly queens may give the Virginia colt a run in a race that lost most of its appeal when four worthy eligibles withdrew.

All told, an even dozen thoroughbreds were entered today for the mile and one eighth closing day attraction at Hollywood Park.

The filly stars, pride of the Alfred G. Vanderbilt racing stable, are Next Move, who has been named the "three-year-old filly of the year," and Bed O' Roses, whom many contend is as great or greater than Next Move.

Rounding out the field will be the strong Calumet team of bewitch and Theory, Argentine - Bred Repeluz, and Blue Reading, Great Circle, Last Round. Vino Fino, Mocopo and Pedigree.

Any chance of a re-run of last week's $100,000 gold cup collapsed when the cup winner, Noor, was retired from the turf, and Palestinian Ponder and Your Host decided to skip the Sunset and point for Santa Anita's rich meeting which opens Dec. 29.

Their absence robs Hill Prince, C. T. Chenery's "three-year-old of the year" and chance of immediate revenge for the four horses who have beaten him in his two-starts since arriving at Hollywood Park.

The Prince finished third to Noor and Palestinian in the Gold Cup, and third to Your Host and Ponder in the Thanksgiving Day Handicap.

The two setbacks did nothing to enhance his reputation as the leading three-year-old of 1950 or the further credit bestowed on him by official turf organizations as the "horse of the year."

Hill Prince, with Eddie Arcaro back in the saddle, will carry high weight of 128 pounds and spot his next rival, Next Move, (114) 14 pounds.

Jimmy's Tavern Wins

Jimmy's Tavern won two out of three games from the V.F.W. last night in the Ladies' National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County. Miss Ann Kenny headed the winners with 23 points. M. Blair scored 21 to lead the VFW.

Bryant Interviewed By Gopher Officials

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 15 (AP)—Paul Bryant, Kentucky University football coach, arrived here by plane today for interviews with University of Minnesota officials about the head football coaching post at Minnesota.

He scheduled talks during the afternoon with President James Morrill and Athletic Director Ike Armstrong.

Hilda Scores At Tropical

Defeats Top Admiral In 6th Race On Card

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP) — O. L. Nyberg's Hilda, extremely fond of Florida weather, made it two straight at Tropical Park today as she sped to victory in the sixth and best event of the nine-race program.

Repeating her performance of two weeks ago, the five-year-old daughter of Hypnotist II was on the front end all the way and blazed past the judges with an advantage of two lengths. She paid $7.20 for $2 and turned the six furlongs in 1.12 on a fast track.

Savoy Stable's Top Admiral, the public choice which had won his previous start at the meeting, finished second, faltering slightly when put to pressure by Jockey R. J. Martin. Little Captain finished third while Sun Crown was fourth.

Among the also rans was the one-time stakes winner, Buzfuz, an old Miami favorite. He never got close to the leaders. The gate slumped to 5,693, despite ideal weather.

Joe Culmone, who is having trouble riding winners at Tropical Park, got off to a flying start, bagging his 368th marker of the year on Lucky Month in the first event.

Lucky Month, owned by W. H. Can, the trotting horse man, defeated In Readiness by a head only because Culmone outrode Logan Batchelor in the drive to the wire. The Cane filly paid $23.60 straight. Third in the field of a dozen maiden 2-year-olds was Norcal, the choice.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are adolescents naturally "rebellious"?

Answer: Any normal person resents having to take orders and is at first prone to abuse unaccustomed freedom — for instance, will sit up later than he really wants to when no longer told to go to bed. A young person who shows no signs of rebelling against discipline has probably been crushed by too much of it and is likely to become neurotic. But how serious and long-lasting the rebellion is will depend upon whether, on the whole, he feels his parents had his happiness at heart or were trying to deprive him of it.

Are "diseases of old age" inevitable?

Answer: No, says Dr. Ivan Baslewicz in the Rhode Island Medical Journal, after studying thirty-eight men and women over ninety and thirty-four over a hundred years old. People may reach ages such as these and still have no specific "old-age diseases." Despite certain physiological changes, the body of an aged person can still function harmoniously, if at a somewhat lowered level. And as far as their minds are concerned, very old people who are normal in other respects show no appreciable weakness or disturbance.

Do you work best when you "feel swell"?

Answer: Not always, at any rate. Most otherwise normal people show at least some traces of what in extreme form is called the "manic-depressive cycle"—that is, alternate between moods of illogical optimism and of equally exaggerated gloom. And because the "manic" or elated mood involves a tendency to ignore the more unpleasant aspects of reality, it may be that when you feel you're "sitting on top of the world," you'll find it more than usually hard to settle down to work that offers no immediate return in pleasure.

"Retain Chandler" Petitions Started In Ky. Drug Store

MAYFIELD, Ky., Dec. 15 (AP) — A corner drug store petition asking that Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler be retained was started here today. The petition sponsors hope to obtain millions of signatures in corner drug stores through the nation before the February meeting of the major leagues.

The "Retain Chandler" petition committee in Mayfield is headed by Jess Anderson, editor of the Mayfield Messenger. Petitions will be mailed to chairmen in every state for distribution throughout those states. The petition was prepared in the belief that a great majority of baseball fans and baseball players, both semi-pro and professional are in favor of retaining Chandler as commissioner.

"The Authority on Authorities"

SOMETIMES NO JUSTICE

Bridge is a funny game. At times, the very move which according to logic would be the best proves to be the worst. And the action which should be the worst proves to be the best. That is disheartening so occasionally with the opening lead. At that stage the leader knows nothing about what he is up against except what he can see in his own hand and what he can infer from the bidding. Later on, he has seen the dummy and one or more plays from the other hands, so much of the guess is gone.

There was a fine opportunity to notice the influence of the lead on this deal, as it was in a duplicate game where a lot of pairs reached 4-Spades by one route or another.

Where East bid diamonds and the K was opened, South won with the A and led his heart 9 to the J and A. East returned the club Q to the A. The heart K and Q brought two quick club discards, two diamonds were ruffed and the spade finesse worked, so that only two tricks were lost, one in each red suit.

The result was the same where the very bad lead of a heart was made, declarer getting early club discards and losing only two red suit tricks.

The also unsound lead of a spade prevented an extra trick, as the next time the defense was in another spade was offered, thereby limiting the dummy to one ruff of diamonds. This caused the declarer to lose three tricks.

Nobody beat the contract except an almost complete novice, who made the hazardous lead of his club K from that double minor tenace. As you can easily see, the defense there got two club tricks before the declarer could obtain any discards. These, plus a trick each in hearts and diamonds, made a total of four.

University Of Fla. Tangle Taken To State Authorities

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State officials have been asked to unsnarl a University of Florida tangle which grew out of telephone calls to a coed and already has led to:

Suspension of two students, who cleam they were beaten and had their heads shaved.

Readmission on probation of a campus athlete.

Suspension of a fraternity from all campus social activities for the rest of the school year.

The two suspended students—Raymond Wittman, Winter Park, and George Griffin, Tampa—asked the State Board of Control for reinstatement. The board took no immediate action.

Wittman and Griffin told the board they had called a coed, whom they didn't know, several times over a period of two weeks and that she called them back two or three times.

Their attorney, Mark R. Hawes, said only a "suspicious mind" could find anything wrong with the language they used in the calls.

Hawes said the girl herself admitted she did not see anything wrong with the language until it was explained to her by Tennis Captain Frederick Prior.

Prior, president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, was accused in an earlier board hearing of leading several members of his fraternity in an attack on Griffin and Wittman.

The two students told of being take into the fraternity house, tied in the basement, beaten and their heads shaved.

The fraternity has been suspended from social activities and Prior has been readmitted to the university on probation.

Library Plan Backed By 30 County Groups

The report of the 20-member Allegany County Library Survey Committee, submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners this morning, lists 30 organizations in favor of adequate library service for the county and only one opposed.

The committee requested the county commissioners to decide what they intend to do in the matter by December 22.

William H. Lemmert, board president, said that every consideration will be given to the group's request, but he flatly stated the board would not consider going into the program under the state-aid plan.

Under this system the county would furnish such sums as would be requested under the state program and Lemmert said this would probably add eight to 10 cents to the tax rate.

The report, signed by Mrs. Stanley H. Buckley, president of the committee, and Mrs. Lester B. Reed, secretary, said about 30,000 persons were represented by the 31 groups which participated in the questionnaire and poll.

Christmas Eve Services Set

FROSTBURG—Plans have been completed for the traditional observance of Christmas at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Christmastide will be ushered in this year by services beginning at 11 o'clock on Christmas Eve. At that time the choir will sing carols while the hundreds of candles are lighted throughout the church. At 11:30 p. m. there will be a full procession followed by a choral Celebration of the Holy Communion. The choir will sing Reed's "Eucharist" and the rector will be the celebrant.

Mrs. Helen Stair will be the organist; Mrs. Robert Barcley, violinist; Samuel Walker, Jr., trumpeter. The offertory will be sung by William Plummer, guest soloist, assisted by the choir.

There will be no reserved seats, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Midland Methodist Services Announced

MIDLAND — The annual children's Christmas program will be held Sunday at Grace Methodist Church, at 9:45 a.m. According to Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor, the senior choir will present their cantata, "The Infant Holy," under direction of Alex McGee at 8 p.m.

On Sunday, December 24, at 10:30 a.m. Woodland Methodist Sunday School will present their program and at 11 a.m. Rev. Emerick will deliver a Christmas sermon at the Midland church.

At 7:30 p.m. December 24, the young people of Shaft church will present their Yuletide program and at 10:30 p.m. Christmas eve, Grace Methodist Church of Midland will have a candlelight service and cantata.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15—(INS)—I must say that Lysiane Bernhardt has a one-track mind. She has never given up trying to get Bette Davis to play the divine Sarah.

Bette Davis

I received word from Paris that Lysiane is now bound for the U.S.A. with her famous grandmother's biography in her luggage. She's going to make a beeline for Hollywood to talk to Bette.

I'll have to tell Lysiane, however, that Bette is leaving. She's going with her husband, Gary Merrill, to the Virgin Islands while he's emoting before the cameras.

Also, Bette is greatly interested in doing "Dinner At Antoine's" for Jack Skirball and Bruce Manning. But, Jack tells me that he feels $50,000 (Frances Parkinson Keyes' price for her novel) is much too much. Besides he says Frances Marion's treatment is much better than the book.

Farley Granger, who has been on the outs with Sam Goldwyn for months, is expected to settle the trouble before the end of the week with a new contract and a raise.

In fact, I heard through the grapevine they had a very amicable meeting. If the new contract is Jane Greer in "All Through The Night," a comedy.

He turned down "The Man," which Ida Lupino and Collier Young wanted him to make, because of the subject matter. Farley wants to get on the bandwagon and do a comedy to make people laugh for a change.

Betty Hutton, in an extremely lowcut dress, looking so pretty, was at the cocktail party honoring Jean Hersholt. The occasion was Jean's 13th year on the air.

When I remarked how well Betty looked she said, "I'm happy—very happy."

She says this time it's final with Ted Briskin and she's going to divorce him. But she divorced him before, and they had separated for months when they reconciled.

I don't know what this proves but—John Wayne, who hasn't had a new picture this year—will be announced as the winner of the second big poll of 1950.

Wayne has already won the Showman's Trade Review as the top actor and just before Christmas he will be announced as winner of the Quigley Poll. The latter means he has been chosen by all exhibitors of the country as last year's leading money-maker at the box office!

One exhibitor said on his ballot, "I can make more money with Wayne's old pictures than with new ones of many other stars." Take a bow, John.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Joan Fontaine is fighting the flu and for that reason she was unable to be at the Los Angeles Examiner benefit. That old flu bug has many signed and the battle is ended, Farley will go to RKO to co-star with of our girls down, among them Dorothy Lamour.

Sir Charles Mendl celebrated his 79th birthday on Thursday and the Paris newspaper men staged a surprise party for him. I'd like to also say—happy birthday, Charles.

Dick Powell is up and around for the first time in weeks, although his right arm is still in a sling because of the pain caused by neuritis.

Deborah Louise Bush will be baptised Sunday. Her proud parents, Margaret Whiting and Lou Bush, will be on hand and Aunt Barbara Whiting will be godmother.

George Raft and Greta Gynt have discovered each other.

Allan Jones has been advised by his doctors that he must not do any more work until he has rested for at least two months. He and Irene Hervey will return here for Christmas.

Adele Mara and Lew Ayres are finding each other good company.

Edgar Bergen and Martha Raye are seriously considering an offer to go into a revival of "The Ziegfeld Follies" which will be staged on Broadway after the new year.

Preston Sturges, who made "Mad Wednesday" with Harold Lloyd, has put in a bid to film Lloyd's life story. He want's to use Russell Nype, the actor in "Call Me Madam," for the Lloyd role.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Christmas Eve Services Set

FROSTBURG—Plans have been completed for the traditional observance of Christmas at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Christmastide will be ushered in this year by services beginning at 11 o'clock on Christmas Eve. At that time the choir will sing carols while the hundreds of candles are lighted throughout the church. At 11:30 p. m. there will be a full procession followed by a choral Celebration of the Holy Communion. The choir will sing Reed's "Eucharist" and the rector will be the celebrant.

Mrs. Helen Stair will be the organist; Mrs. Robert Barcley, violinist; Samuel Walker, Jr., trumpeter. The offertory will be sung by William Plummer, guest soloist, assisted by the choir.

There will be no reserved seats, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SOMETIMES NO JUSTICE

Bridge is a funny game. At times, the very move which according to logic would be the best proves to be the worst. And the action which should be the worst proves to be the best. That is disheartenlingly so occasionally with the opening lead. At that stage the leader knows nothing about what he is up against except what he can see in his own hand and what he can infer from the bidding. Later on, he has seen the dummy and one or more plays from the other hands, so much of the guess is gone.

	♠ Q 10 2 ♥ K Q J 4 ♦ 4 3 ♣ A 8 3 2
♠ 8 6 4 ♥ 10 8 3 2 ♦ K 7 5 ♣ K J 4	N W E S	♠ K 5 ♥ A 7 6 5 ♦ Q J 9 8 ♣ Q 10 9
	♠ A J 9 7 3 ♥ 9 ♦ A 10 6 2 ♣ 7 6 5

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

There was a fine opportunity to notice the influence of the lead on this deal, as it was in a duplicate game where a lot of pairs reached 4-Spades by one route or another.

Where East bid diamonds and the K was opened, South won with the A and led his heart 9 to the J and A. East returned the club Q to the A. The heart K and Q brought two quick club discards, two diamonds were ruffed and the spade finesse worked, so that only two tricks were lost, one in each red suit.

The result was the same where the very bad lead of a heart was made, declarer getting early club discards and losing only two red suit tricks.

The also unsound lead of a spade prevented an extra trick, as the next time the defense was in another spade was offered, thereby limiting the dummy to one ruff of diamonds. This caused the declarer to lose three tricks.

Nobody beat the contract except an almost complete novice, who made the hazardous lead of his club K from that double minor tenace. As you can easily see, the defense there got two club tricks before the declarer could obtain any discards. These, plus a trick each in hearts and diamonds, made a total of four.

Your Weekend Question

What is the reason why it is often unwise to redouble after an opponent has doubled a major suit contract you feel confident of making? Under what circumstances would a redouble with the same playing strength be sound if the doubled bid happens to be a minor suit?

University Of Fla. Tangle Taken To State Authorities

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State officials have been asked to unsnarl a University of Florida tangle which grew out of telephone calls to a coed and already has led to:

Suspension of two students, who cleam they were beaten and had their heads shaved.

Readmission on probation of a campus athlete.

Suspension of a fraternity from all campus social activities for the rest of the school year.

The two suspended students—Raymond Wittman, Winter Park, and George Griffin, Tampa—asked the State Board of Control for reinstatement. The board took no immediate action.

Wittman and Griffin told the board they had called a coed, whom they didn't know, several times over a period of two weeks and that she called them back two or three times.

Their attorney, Mark R. Hawes, said only a "suspicious mind" could find anything wrong with the language they used in the calls.

Hawes said the girl herself admitted she did not see anything wrong with the language until it was explained to her by Tennis Captain Frederick Prior.

Prior, president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, was accused in an earlier board hearing of leading several members of his fraternity in an attack on Griffin and Wittman.

The two students told of being take into the fraternity house, tied in the basement, beaten and their heads shaved.

The fraternity has been suspended from social activities and Prior has been readmitted to the university on probation.

Library Plan Backed By 30 County Groups

The report of the 20-member Allegany County Library Survey Committee, submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners this morning, lists 30 organizations in favor of adequate library service for the county and only one opposed.

The committee requested the county commissioners to decide what they intend to do in the matter by December 22.

William H. Lemmert, board president, said that every consideration will be given to the group's request, but he flatly stated the board would not consider going into the program under the state-aid plan.

Under this system the county would furnish such sums as would be requested under the state program and Lemmert said this would probably add eight to 10 cents to the tax rate.

The report, signed by Mrs. Stanley H. Buckley, president of the committee, and Mrs. Lester B. Reed, secretary, said about 30,000 persons were represented by the 31 groups which participated in the questionnaire and poll.

Christmas Music Programs Will Be Given In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—On Sunday a presentation of "The Babe of Bethlehem," by Harvey B. Gaul, will be given by the Senior Choir of Trinity Lutheran Church, at 4 p. m. in the church on North Davis Street.

The Community Christmas service will be held in the Keyser High School auditorium at 8 p. m. Sunday by the combined choirs of the churches of the city.

On Monday at 11 a. m., the Potomac State Singers will hold their annual candlelight ceremonial in the auditorium at Potomac State School.

The presentation of "The Babe of Bethlehem," under direction of Leonard G. Withers, head of the music department of Potomac State School, is one in a series of annual musical cantata offerings by the Trinity Lutheran choir.

The organist will be Mary Evelyn Coffman. Soloists are Clara Kauffman, Anna Montgomery, William Loy, Beverly Bowne, Evelyn T. Shinn, Robert L. Fisher, Jr., Robert T. Coffman and Marie Farley.

Barton Legion Remodels Home

BARTON — Bartoh Post No. 189, American Legion, has completed a remodeling program and has added a dance floor, James Clark, commander, announces.

He said the bar has been moved to the front part of the building with an entrance made from the side.

The remodeling program will allow room for dancing.

The group held a re-opening party Friday evening with a concert being given by the Barton Citizens Band and a dance following.

MIDLAND—The Midland Volunteer Fire Company at its annual election meeting Wednesday night named John A. Blair to a third consecutive term as president.

Other officers selected include, John Devlin, vice president; Robert B. Blair, recording secretary; Earl Kroll, financial secretary; Raymond Berry, treasurer; William A. Wilson, fire chief; Hilary Cavey, assistant fire chief; Joseph Monahan, chief of police; Isaac Stakem, captain; Loraine Thrasher, first lieutenant and Thomas Stakem, second lieutenant.

Joseph Monahan and Richard Hawkins were named Hall managers; Charles Foutz, sergeant at arms; James Blair, Jack R. Blair, Isaac Stakem, Ivan Wilson and John Devlin, standing committee; William Wilson, Frank Ort, John Blair, Isaac Stakem and Thomas Stakem, delegates to the state and county conventions with Jack R. Blair, Joseph Robertson, Hilary Cavey, David Williams and Raymond Berry selected as alternates.

Paul Thompson, Earl Kroll, and Richard Hawkins, Sr., were named to the House Committee.

The group also planned to hold the company's annual banquet January 20 at 7:30 p. m. in the fire hall.

Joseph Monahan, chairman, announced arrangements have been coordinated for the annual children's party Saturday, December 23. A free movie will be shown at Midland theater at 1:30 p. m. with a program and treat at the fire hall at 2:30 p. m.

The group also plans to continue regular Friday night dances in their armory.

Trial Of Garrett County Men Set

Claude T. Selby and Ernest Ray Frazee, of Friendsville, will go on trial next Tuesday on indictments returned by the Garrett county grand jury in a number of offenses.

Selby is charged with assault with intent to kill, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and hunting during a closed season. Under the first indictment he is charged with shooting Theodore Thoerig, game warden, near Friendsville, several weeks ago.

Frazee is charged with hunting without a license, hunting during closed season, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Selby was held without bail on the charge of assault with intent to kill, and both Selby and Frazee are under $1,000 bond each on charges of grand larceny. They were given preliminary hearings at the time before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch.

Loraditch also heard testimony this week in regard to Floyd Frantz, Jr., Owen Frantz, both Friendsville; and Charles Lyons, of Pennsylvania, on charges of larceny, in connection with the theft of a steer from the John Beachy farm, Swanton. Lyons was found not guilty as he testified he was attending a wedding in Pennsylvania at the time of the theft.

Charges against the two Garrett county men were dismissed for lack of evidence.

KEYSER, W. Va. — A Christmas Cantata will be presented at the Church of the Brethren, Fort Avenue and South Main Street, Sunday at 11 a.m. The words for the cantata were written by Elsie Duncan Yale and the music was composed by Roy E. Nolte.

The program will be directed by Russell DeVore. Lynn Roderick will be the accompanist.

The following numbers will be rendered:

"Hail, O Blest Redeemer," by the choir; "Tell Us Of Our King," by men and women choruses with alto solo by Mary Rotruck; "O Night Of Peace," duet by Gratton Rogers, tenor, and William Ludwick, bass; "Shepherds 'Neath a Starlit Sky," soprano and alto duet, Frances Hartman and Mary Rotruck, and women's chorus.

"Glory To God," by men's chorus, soprano solo by Betty Judy and choir; "Away In a Manger," alto solo by Mrs. Ruth Ludwick; "We Have Seen His Star," by men's chorus and choir; "At the Cradle of Jesus," soprano solo by Frances Hartman; "The Bells Ring Merry Christmas," by choir and women's chorus; "The Dawn of Redeeming Grace," trio for soprano, alto and baritone, by Frances Hartman, Mary Rotruck and Carl Lurwick; "Come and Worship," by the choir.

MIDLAND—The Midland Volunteer Fire Company at its annual election meeting Wednesday night named John A. Blair to a third consecutive term as president.

Other officers selected include, John Devlin, vice president; Robert B. Blair, recording secretary; Earl Kroll, financial secretary; Raymond Berry, treasurer; William A. Wilson, fire chief; Hilary Cavey, assistant fire chief; Joseph Monahan, chief of police; Isaac Stakem, captain; Loraine Thrasher, first lieutenant and Thomas Stakem, second lieutenant.

Joseph Monahan and Richard Hawkins were named Hall managers; Charles Foutz, sergeant at arms; James Blair, Jack R. Blair, Isaac Stakem, Ivan Wilson and John Devlin, standing committee; William Wilson, Frank Ort, John Blair, Isaac Stakem and Thomas Stakem, delegates to the state and county conventions with Jack R. Blair, Joseph Robertson, Hilary Cavey, David Williams and Raymond Berry selected as alternates.

Paul Thompson, Earl Kroll, and Richard Hawkins, Sr., were named to the House Committee.

The group also planned to hold the company's annual banquet January 20 at 7:30 p. m. in the fire hall.

Joseph Monahan, chairman, announced arrangements have been coordinated for the annual children's party Saturday, December 23. A free movie will be shown at Midland theater at 1:30 p. m. with a program and treat at the fire hall at 2:30 p. m.

The group also plans to continue regular Friday night dances in their armory.

Trial Of Garrett County Men Set

Claude T. Selby and Ernest Ray Frazee, of Friendsville, will go on trial next Tuesday on indictments returned by the Garrett county grand jury in a number of offenses.

Selby is charged with assault with intent to kill, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and hunting during a closed season. Under the first indictment he is charged with shooting Theodore Thoerig, game warden, near Friendsville, several weeks ago.

Frazee is charged with hunting without a license, hunting during closed season, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Selby was held without bail on the charge of assault with intent to kill, and both Selby and Frazee are under $1,000 bond each on charges of grand larceny. They were given preliminary hearings at the time before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch.

Loraditch also heard testimony this week in regard to Floyd Frantz, Jr., Owen Frantz, both Friendsville; and Charles Lyons, of Pennsylvania, on charges of larceny, in connection with the theft of a steer from the John Beachy farm, Swanton. Lyons was found not guilty as he testified he was attending a wedding in Pennsylvania at the time of the theft.

Charges against the two Garrett county men were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Show Business Got No Business On TV

THE American National Theater and Academy, whose formidable title is generally abbreviated to ANTA, is a solemnly official organization chartered by Congress "to bring the best of the theater to the people of the United States," in the words of Vinton Freedley, its honorary president. Its most active spirits are earnest, sincere, experienced and talented theatrical folk who, nevertheless, are, I think, doing a grave disservice to the theater with ANTA's television program, "Showtime — U. S. A."

John Crosby

Theoretically, "Showtime—U. S. A." (ABC-TV 7:30 p. m. EST Sundays) stimulates interest in the legitimate theater, transforms nontheatergoers into play-trotters and spreads cultural enlightenment the length and breadth of the coaxial cable. Practically, it is my guess that this program is having almost exactly the opposite effect. In fact, after seeing one of two of ANTA's TV productions, the potential theater-goer could hardly avoid asking himself why he should pay $4.40 to see this sort of thing when he could get better drama on, say, "Studio One" for free.

• — • — •

It is the practice on "Showtime—U.S.A." to present fragments of plays, in itself a dubious proposition, and last week Vinton Freedley, the producer, selected a scene from Samson Raphaelson's tepid 14-year-old comedy "Accent on Youth," a dubious choice. The dialogue must have made even the smallest "Howdy Doody" fan squirm with embarrassment.

"You're no longer my employer," cried the heroine. "I'm no longer your secretary. We're just two human being together—a man and a women. Before I go I want you to know—I love you."

Then the hero: "Here, let me look at you. What a strange creature! I'm seeing you! . . . What do you want from me?"

"I don't know—Everything! Anything!"

This manner of hysterical dialogue from an aging play about an aging playwright could hardly be tolerated even in soap opera. Even when the quality of the drama is of the highest order, there is something fishy about a single scene, usually a highly emotional one, torn from the context of a play. ANTA, for example, presented the renunciation scene between Edward and Celia from T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party." It must have been incomprehensible to anyone who hadn't seen or read the play and it wasn't very nourishing to those, like myself, who have done both.

ANTA can draw on an imposing roster of actors and actresses to perform in these fragments, but even the best of them are not entirely happy in front of the cameras. Gertrude Lawrence, whose acting occasionally gets a little too vehement even for the stage, projected (in a scene from "Susan and God") her extraordinary personality all the way to Deleware. This was a remarkable feat, but it misses the essence of television, which is that it takes you to Delaware by electronics. It reminded me of Orson Welles's radio acting which frequently became so impassioned that CBS might easily have achieved the same coverage by turning off the network and opening the windows.

The most vivid entertainment on the ANTA show has been contributed by people who are not essentially stage folk. Edith Piaf, the elderly French waif, once sang with great authority about love. (Miss Piaf has put love back several centuries, back where it belongs before Freud diagnosed it as childhood hatred of our mothers. The way she looks at it, love is romantic, of all things.) Others on "Showtime" have included Henry Morgan, Faye Emerson, Ken Murray and (on tonight's show) Gladys Swarthout—none of them exactly noted as great dramatic actors or actresses.

• — • — •

Originally, "Showtime" was terribly cluttered with introductions. Vinton Freedley would introduce Basil Rathbone who would then introduce Edith Piaf. Now Mr. Freedley, dressed in white tie and tails and easily the most elegantly garbed emcee on television, handles the job all by himself. His introductions, incidentally, are marked by a reverence which seems a little excessive. "I have the honor of presenting —Ronald Reagan." I don't think Mr. Reagan is entitled to quite so much homage.

My chief complaint, though, is that "Showtime—U.S.A." is not advancing either the theater or television in any particular direction. Its other activities—the subsidizing of young playwrights, the encouragement of regional, community and college theater—seem to me far more worthwhile and useful.

Thomas Griffith Is Held For Burglary

SOMERSET, Pa.—Thomas Griffith, Confluence, was arrested Thursday as a fugitive from justice and arraigned before Justice of the Peace C. J. Harrison, Jr., here, on a complaint filed by Maryland authorities.

Griffith is wanted in Maryland in connection with a burglary. Maryland authorities charge that on the night of October 30, Griffith, in company with Edgar Mitchell, also of Confluence, burglarized the C. G. Ross Hardware Store in Friendsville, Md. Two rifles, two shotguns and some shells were taken.

Griffith waived extradition at the hearing and was returned to Maryland. Authorities said they are seeking Mitchell and listed him as a fugitive.

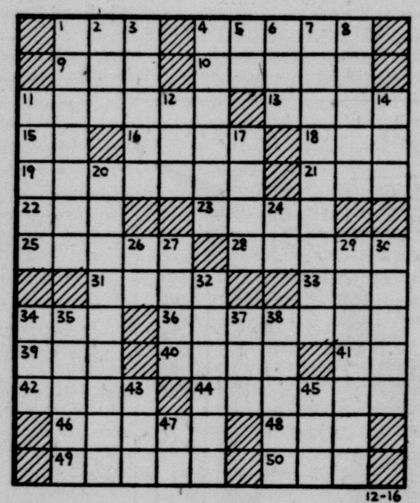
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Show Business Got No Business On TV

THE American National Theater and Academy, whose formidable title is generally abbreviated to ANTA, is a solemnly official organization chartered by Congress "to bring the best of the theater to the people of the United States," in the words of Vinton Freedley, its honorary president. Its most active spirits are earnest, sincere, experienced and talented theatrical folk who, nevertheless, are, I think, doing a grave disservice to the theater with ANTA's television program, "Showtime — U. S. A."

John Crosby

Theoretically, "Showtime—U. S. A." (ABC-TV 7:30 p. m. EST Sundays) stimulates interest in the legitimate theater, transforms nontheatergoers into play-trotters and spreads cultural enlightenment the length and breadth of the coaxial cable. Practically, it is my guess that this program is having almost exactly the opposite effect. In fact, after seeing one of two of ANTA's TV productions, the potential theater-goer could hardly avoid asking himself why he should pay $4.40 to see this sort of thing when he could get better drama on, say, "Studio One" for free.

• — • — •

It is the practice on "Showtime—U.S.A." to present fragments of plays, in itself a dubious proposition, and last week Vinton Freedley, the producer, selected a scene from Samson Raphaelson's tepid 14-year-old comedy "Accent on Youth," a dubious choice. The dialogue must have made even the smallest "Howdy Doody" fan squirm with embarrassment.

"You're no longer my employer," cried the heroine. "I'm no longer your secretary. We're just two human being together—a man and a women. Before I go I want you to know—I love you."

Then the hero: "Here, let me look at you. What a strange creature! I'm seeing you! . . . What do you want from me?"

"I don't know—Everything! Anything!"

This manner of hysterical dialogue from an aging play about an aging playwright could hardly be tolerated even in soap opera. Even when the quality of the drama is of the highest order, there is something fishy about a single scene, usually a highly emotional one, torn from the context of a play. ANTA, for example, presented the renunciation scene between Edward and Celia from T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party." It must have been incomprehensible to anyone who hadn't seen or read the play and it wasn't very nourishing to those, like myself, who have done both.

ANTA can draw on an imposing roster of actors and actresses to perform in these fragments, but even the best of them are not entirely happy in front of the cameras. Gertrude Lawrence, whose acting occasionally gets a little too vehement even for the stage, projected (in a scene from "Susan and God") her extraordinary personality all the way to Deleware. This was a remarkable feat, but it misses the essence of television, which is that it takes you to Delaware by electronics. It reminded me of Orson Welles's radio acting which frequently became so impassioned that CBS might easily have achieved the same coverage by turning off the network and opening the windows.

The most vivid entertainment on the ANTA show has been contributed by people who are not essentially stage folk. Edith Piaf, the elderly French waif, once sang with great authority about love. (Miss Piaf has put love back several centuries, back where it belongs before Freud diagnosed it as childhood hatred of our mothers. The way she looks at it, love is romantic, of all things.) Others on "Showtime" have included Henry Morgan, Faye Emerson, Ken Murray and (on tonight's show) Gladys Swarthout—none of them exactly noted as great dramatic actors or actresses.

• — • — •

Originally, "Showtime" was terribly cluttered with introductions. Vinton Freedley would introduce Basil Rathbone who would then introduce Edith Piaf. Now Mr. Freedley, dressed in white tie and tails and easily the most elegantly garbed emcee on television, handles the job all by himself. His introductions, incidentally, are marked by a reverence which seems a little excessive. "I have the honor of presenting —Ronald Reagan." I don't think Mr. Reagan is entitled to quite so much homage.

My chief complaint, though, is that "Showtime—U.S.A." is not advancing either the theater or television in any particular direction. Its other activities—the subsidizing of young playwrights, the encouragement of regional, community and college theater—seem to me far more worthwhile and useful.

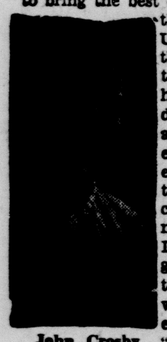
Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Show Business Got No Business On TV

THE American National Theater and Academy, whose formidable title is generally abbreviated to ANTA, is a solemnly official organization chartered by Congress "to bring the best of the theater to the people of the United States," in the words of Vinton Freedley, its honorary president. Its most active spirits are earnest, sincere, experienced and talented theatrical folk who, nevertheless, are, I think, doing a grave disservice to the theater with ANTA's television program, "Showtime — U. S. A."



John Crosby

Theoretically, "Showtime—U. S. A." (ABC-TV 7:30 p. m. EST Sundays) stimulates interest in the legitimate theater, transforms nontheatergoers into play-trotters and spreads cultural enlightenment the length and breadth of the coaxial cable. Practically, it is my guess that this program is having almost exactly the opposite effect. In fact, after seeing one of two of ANTA's TV productions, the potential theater-goer could hardly avoid asking himself why he should pay $4.40 to see this sort of thing when he could get better drama on, say, "Studio One" for free.

●—●—●

It is the practice on "Showtime—U.S.A." to present fragments of plays, in itself a dubious proposition, and last week Vinton Freedley, the producer, selected a scene from Samson Raphaelson's tepid 14-year-old comedy "Accent on Youth," a dubious choice. The dialogue must have made even the smallest "Howdy Doody" fan squirm with embarrassment.

"You're no longer my employer," cried the heroine. "I'm no longer your secretary. We're just two human being together—a man and a women. Before I go I want you to know—I love you."

Then the hero: "Here, let me look at you. What a strange creature! I'm seeing you! . . . What do you want from me?"

"I don't know—Everything! Anything!"

This manner of hysterical dialogue from an aging play about an aging playwright could hardly be tolerated even in soap opera. Even when the quality of the drama is of the highest order, there is something fishy about a single scene, usually a highly emotional one, torn from the context of a play. ANTA, for example, presented the renunciation scene between Edward and Celia from T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party." It must have been incomprehensible to anyone who hadn't seen or read the play and it wasn't very nourishing to those, like myself, who have done both.

ANTA can draw on an imposing roster of actors and actresses to perform in these fragments, but even the best of them are not entirely happy in front of the cameras. Gertrude Lawrence, whose acting occasionally gets a little too vehement even for the stage, projected (in a scene from "Susan and God") her extraordinary personality all the way to Deleware. This was a remarkable feat, but it misses the essence of television, which is that it takes you to Delaware by electronics. It reminded me of Orson Welles's radio acting which frequently became so impassioned that CBS might easily have achieved the same coverage by turning off the network and opening the windows.

The most vivid entertainment on the ANTA show has been contributed by people who are not essentially stage folk. Edith Piaf, the elderly French waif, once sang with great authority about love. (Miss Piaf has put love back several centuries, back where it belongs before Freud diagnosed it as childhood hatred of our mothers. The way she looks at it, love is romantic, of all things.) Others on "Showtime" have included Henry Morgan, Faye Emerson, Ken Murray and (on tonight's show) Gladys Swarthout—none of them exactly noted as great dramatic actors or actresses.

Originally, "Showtime" was terribly cluttered with introductions. Vinton Freedley would introduce Basil Rathbone who would then introduce Edith Piaf. Now Mr. Freedley, dressed in white tie and tails and easily the most elegantly garbed emcee on television, handles the job all by himself. His introductions, incidentally, are marked by a reverence which seems a little excessive. "I have the honor of presenting —Ronald Reagan." I don't think Mr. Reagan is entitled to quite so much homage.

My chief complaint, though, is that "Showtime—U.S.A." is not advancing either the theater or television in any particular direction. Its other activities—the subsidizing of young playwrights, the encouragement of regional, community and college theater—seem to me far more worthwhile and useful.

Thomas Griffith Is Held For Burglary

SOMERSET, Pa.—Thomas Griffith, Confluence, was arrested Thursday as a fugitive from justice and arraigned before Justice of the Peace C. J. Harrison, Jr., here, on a complaint filed by Maryland authorities.

Griffith is wanted in Maryland in connection with a burglary. Maryland authorities charge that on the night of October 30, Griffith, in company with Edgar Mitchell, also of Confluence, burglarized the C. G. Ross Hardware Store in Friendsville, Md. Two rifles, two shotguns and some shells were taken.

Griffith waived extradition at the hearing and was returned to Maryland. Authorities said they are seeking Mitchell and listed him as a fugitive.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Ellen Layman, who passed away twelve years ago, December 16, 1938.

Her suffering ended with the day; she lived yet at its close,
She passed thru Glory's morning gate and walked in Paradise.

Sadly missed by children
Alvin Layman
Mrs. Gladys Schafer
Mrs. Martha Chisholm
and Grandchildren

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Ellen Layman, who passed away twelve years ago, December 16, 1938.

Her suffering ended with the day; she lived yet at its close,
She passed thru Glory's morning gate and walked in Paradise.

Students Plan Dance Dec. 20

A Christmas dance is being given by the senior student nurses of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing. It is to be held December 20 at Clary Club.

A semi-formal affair, music will be from 9 until 1 o'clock with the Aristocrats playing.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the class or at the door.

Flintstone PTA Entertains

The Flintstone PTA entertained with a Christmas dinner Wednesday at the school for all members.

A musical program was presented. It consisted of selections by the Elks Quartet; several violin selections by Martin Weisman, string instructor for Allegany county, and group singing of Christmas carols.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the matter of the adoption of Carol Ann Cope, an infant, by Grace M. Hershberger, unmarried.

No. 21,985 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of adoption of Carol Ann Cope, an infant, by Grace M. Hershberger, unmarried.

The bill states that the complainant is an adult residing in Allegany County, Maryland, and that Carol Ann Cope is an infant who was born in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 3rd day of January, 1948, the child of John Edward Cope and Katherine Rose Cope, his wife, who are now divorced, and that the said Grace M. Hershberger desires to adopt the said infant and change its name to Carol Jeanne Hershberger; and that the said mother, Katherine Rose Ulsh Cope, is a nonresident of the State of Maryland, whose whereabouts are unknown.

It is thereupon, this 22nd day of November, 1950, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complaintant cause a copy of this order, with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 26th day of December, 1950, giving notice unto the said Katherine Rose Ulsh Cope to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 11th day of January, 1951, to show cause, if any she have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

LaVale Woman Makes Dolls As A Hobby

A presentation of 40 beautiful dolls was made to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children yesterday by Mrs. W. H. Solomon, LaVale, to be distributed to children at Christmastime.

Mrs. Solomon, whose husband and son operate the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Company, Hyndman, Pa., has a hobby of making the dolls and clothes for the dolls entirely by hand and then distributes her collection to needy children.

The 60-year-old gray-haired grandmother began her interesting pastime two years ago while vacationing in Fort Louderdale, Fla. Last year she planned a presentation of about 25 dolls to colored children at Fort Lauderdale, but was interrupted by news of the Yule fire that destroyed the town of Hyndman a year ago. She explained that she then gave the dolls to minister's wife for distribution in the Florida city.

Admitting that she has "gotten more fun than ever before" since she began making the dolls, which are varied and colorful depicting many different costumes and nationalities, Mrs. Solomon plans to continue the endeavor each year making presentations to deserving children every Christmas no matter where she may be.

She works on the hobby all year and occasionally she gives individual dolls to someone who is ill or needy "in order to brighten their lives and Solomon related how her four-year-old granddaughter, Elaine, helps her make the dolls. "Often Elaine would forget to help and just spend her time playing with them," Mrs. Solomon said.

The dolls depict mother and daughter dresses, brother and sister costumes, bride and groom and others.

Mrs. Hume Annan, executive secretary of the League, accepted the gift on behalf of the children and said plans would be made to distribute them by Christmas.

Olin Yoder Named In "Who's Who"

Olin Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Yoder, this city, has been named in "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges."

Yoder is one of seven students at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va., to be selected. All are among the upper 10 on the dean's list at the college.

An outstanding athlete and president of the Student Council, Yoder is majoring in art and minoring in physical education. He is president of the junior class and is a member of the Varsity Club and Zeta Sigma Fraternity, serving as secretary in 1949 and historian in 1948.

Yoder was captain of the football team during his senior year at Allegany High School and also belonged to the Hi-Y Club.

Santa To Parachute

In addition to the local collection, a similar effort will be made in Frostburg today by the Lions and Rotarians of that city for families in the Georges Creek section.

Other projects slated for today include collection booths set up by the Junior Woman's Civic Club at the corner of Baltimore and North Centre Streets and in front of Cumberland Electric Company on Virginia Avenue for contributions to "The Thing for Kids," a program to gather toys and gifts to be distributed to Cumberland's needy children.

At Fort Hill stadium members of the local Lions club will offer 5,000 Christmas trees for sale between noon and 5 p. m. today and tomorrow. The Lions will use the profits realized for a children's Christmas party and other charity work.

Silkworms will not spin their cocoons unless there is absolute quiet.

Aircraft, Textile And Rail Stocks Advance In Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Heavy demand for aircraft, textile and rail stocks — typical war-babies—contrasted with a generally lower market today.

Favored issues moved up as much as $3.50 a share. In the balance of the market losses running to around $1 a share were in a clean majority.

Losses were scored by 557 out of the 1,168 individual issues traded while 371 advanced.

New highs and lows for 1950 or longer were pretty evenly matched, a little more than 30 each.

Douglas Aircraft zoomed in front of the air section with a gain of $3.50 a share at $89.50. Lockheed tacked on $2 at $35.25, Grumman $1.25 at $23.87, United $1.25 at $33.62, Boeing $1.50 at $38.37, Curtiss-Wright 50 cents at $11, Republic Aviation $1.12 at $14.75, Consolidated Vultee $1 at $16.87, and North American Aviation 87 cents at $16.37.

American Woolen stood out in the textile division with a rise of of $2.62 at $40. Wyandotte worsted added $1.12 at $17.12, United Merchants 62 cents at $15.12, and Burlington Mills $1.25 at $27.37.

Up a few cents to more than $1 a share among the carriers were Baltimore & Ohio, N. Y. Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Closing lower were General Motors, Chrysler, Radio Corp., Admiral, Motorola, Zenith, Philco, General American Investors, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Eastman Kodak, Chesapeake & Ohio, Texas Co., Gulf Oil and Johns-Manville.

Moberly Attends Dinner At Memorial Hospital

Memorial Hospital Superintendent John Moberly yesterday attended his first regular meeting with the staff of the hospital physicians since his coming here five weeks ago.

Yesterday's meeting was held in the dining hall of the hospital, where a Christmas dinner was served.

About 30 doctors attended. Four medical cases were discussed.

One case involved a very rare disease called "Waterhouse-Friderichsen" syndrone. It was discussed primarily because of a local case now being observed. There have been only two such cases in Cumberland in the past five years.

Passengers Uninjured As Bus Leaves Road

A company spokesman reported last night that nobody was injured yesterday when a C. and W. bus traveling from Luke to Bloomington left the road.

He said he understood the bus was crowded off the highway about 12:30 p. m. Passengers were transferred to another bus.

First Methodist Choirs To Present Cantata

The Junior and Senior Choir of First Methodist Church will present a cantata, "Glory To God," on December 24, at 10:45 a. m. in place of the regular worship service.

Soloists for the cantata will be Miss Lois Stine, Miss Audrey Reckley, T/Sgt. George F. Kirby, U. S. A. A. F., Pfc. Joseph Steen, U.S.M.C., Jack Reckley, and Franklin Perrin.

The regularly scheduled worship and Young Adult Fellowship services will not be held at the church on Sunday evening, December 24. Instead, Christmas Eve candlelight service will be held at 11 p. m. with Rev. S. R. Neel as the speaker.

Semper Fidelis Class Has Christmas Program

A special worship service for Christmas, "I Bring You Good Tidings of Great Joy," featured the meeting, Thursday night, of the Semper Fidelis Class of Bethany Evangelical UB Church, at the home of Mrs. M. H. Burgess, Williams Street. Mrs. Helen Duff and Mrs. John Arndoff were cohostesses.

Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt was leader and Scripture stories included, the birth of Jesus, Mrs. Curtis Bloss; the shepherds, Mrs. John T. Murphy; the Wise Men, Mrs. R. C. Isiminger. Group singing of carols interspersed the program. Mrs. Walter Long read a poem, "The Christmas Legend."

Santa was impersonated by Mrs. J. S. Cook who distributed jingle gifts. A picture of the Madonna and Child centered the decorations.

Others present were Mrs. Harold E. Bishop, Mrs. Arnold Twigg, Janis Twigg, Norma Twigg, Mrs. Lester Wilson, Mrs. Donald Pentony, Mrs. Paul Gross, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Ethel Cornell, Mrs. William Goldsborough, Sr., Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker, Mrs. Walter Clark, Mrs. Leslie May, Mrs. Charles K. Students Plan Dance Dec. 20

A Christmas dance is being given by the senior student nurses of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing. It is to be held December 20 at Clary Club.

A semi-formal affair, music will be from 9 until 1 o'clock with the Aristocrats playing.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the class or at the door.

Flintstone PTA Entertains

The Flintstone PTA entertained with a Christmas dinner Wednesday at the school for all members.

A musical program was presented. It consisted of selections by the Elks Quartet; several violin selections by Martin Weisman, string instructor for Allegany county, and group singing of Christmas carols.

Law Offices of Earl Edmund Manges, 119 South Liberty St., Cumberland, Md.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the matter of the adoption of Carol Ann Cope, an infant, by Grace M. Hershberger, unmarried.

No. 21,985 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of adoption of Carol Ann Cope, an infant, by Grace M. Hershberger, unmarried.

The bill states that the complainant is an adult residing in Allegany County, Maryland, and that Carol Ann Cope is an infant who was born in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 3rd day of January, 1948, the child of John Edward Cope and Katherine Rose Cope, his wife, who are now divorced, and that the said Grace M. Hershberger desires to adopt the said infant and change its name to Carol Jeanne Hershberger; and that the said mother, Katherine Rose Ulsh Cope, is a nonresident of the State of Maryland, whose whereabouts are unknown.

It is thereupon, this 22nd day of November, 1950, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complaintant cause a copy of this order, with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 26th day of December, 1950, giving notice unto the said Katherine Rose Ulsh Cope to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 11th day of January, 1951, to show cause, if any she have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

LaVale Woman Makes Dolls As A Hobby

A presentation of 40 beautiful dolls was made to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children yesterday by Mrs. W. H. Solomon, LaVale, to be distributed to children at Christmastime.

Mrs. Solomon, whose husband and son operate the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Company, Hyndman, Pa., has a hobby of making the dolls and clothes for the dolls entirely by hand and then distributes her collection to needy children.

The 60-year-old gray-haired grandmother began her interesting pastime two years ago while vacationing in Fort Louderdale, Fla. Last year she planned a presentation of about 25 dolls to colored children at Fort Lauderdale, but was interrupted by news of the Yule fire that destroyed the town of Hyndman a year ago. She explained that she then gave the dolls to minister's wife for distribution in the Florida city.

Admitting that she has "gotten more fun than ever before" since she began making the dolls, which are varied and colorful depicting many different costumes and nationalities, Mrs. Solomon plans to continue the endeavor each year making presentations to deserving children every Christmas no matter where she may be.

She works on the hobby all year and occasionally she gives individual dolls to someone who is ill or needy "in order to brighten their lives and Solomon related how her four-year-old granddaughter, Elaine, helps her make the dolls. "Often Elaine would forget to help and just spend her time playing with them," Mrs. Solomon said.

The dolls depict mother and daughter dresses, brother and sister costumes, bride and groom and others.

Mrs. Hume Annan, executive secretary of the League, accepted the gift on behalf of the children and said plans would be made to distribute them by Christmas.

Olin Yoder Named In "Who's Who"

Olin Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Yoder, this city, has been named in "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges."

Yoder is one of seven students at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va., to be selected. All are among the upper 10 on the dean's list at the college.

An outstanding athlete and president of the Student Council, Yoder is majoring in art and minoring in physical education. He is president of the junior class and is a member of the Varsity Club and Zeta Sigma Fraternity, serving as secretary in 1949 and historian in 1948.

Yoder was captain of the football team during his senior year at Allegany High School and also belonged to the Hi-Y Club.

Santa To Parachute

In addition to the local collection, a similar effort will be made in Frostburg today by the Lions and Rotarians of that city for families in the Georges Creek section.

Other projects slated for today include collection booths set up by the Junior Woman's Civic Club at the corner of Baltimore and North Centre Streets and in front of Cumberland Electric Company on Virginia Avenue for contributions to "The Thing for Kids," a program to gather toys and gifts to be distributed to Cumberland's needy children.

At Fort Hill stadium members of the local Lions club will offer 5,000 Christmas trees for sale between noon and 5 p. m. today and tomorrow. The Lions will use the profits realized for a children's Christmas party and other charity work.

Silkworms will not spin their cocoons unless there is absolute quiet.

Deaths

Aircraft, Textile And Rail Stocks Advance In Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Heavy demand for aircraft, textile and rail stocks — typical war-babies—contrasted with a generally lower market today.

Favored issues moved up as much as $3.50 a share. In the balance of the market losses running to around $1 a share were in a clean majority.

Losses were scored by 557 out of the 1.168 individual issues traded while 371 advanced.

New highs and lows for 1950 or longer were pretty evenly matched, a little more than 30 each.

Douglas Aircraft zoomed in front of the air section with a gain of $3.50 a share at $89.50. Lockheed tacked on $2 at $35.25, Grumman $1.25 at $23.87, United $1.25 at $33.62, Boeing $1.50 at $38.37, Curtiss-Wright 50 cents at $11, Republic Aviation $1.12 at $14.75, Consolidated Vultee $1 at $16.87, and North American Aviation 87 cents at $16.37.

American Woolen stood out in the textile division with a rise of of $2.62 at $40. Wyandotte worsted added $1.12 at $17.12, United Merchants 62 cents at $15.12, and Burlington Mills $1.25 at $27.37.

Up a few cents to more than $1 a share among the carriers were Baltimore & Ohio, N. Y. Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Closing lower were General Motors, Chrysler, Radio Corp., Admiral, Motorola, Zenith, Philco, General American Investors, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Eastman Kodak, Chesapeake & Ohio, Texas Co., Gulf Oil and Johns-Manville.

Moberly Attends Dinner At Memorial Hospital

Memorial Hospital Superintendent John Moberly yesterday attended his first regular meeting with the staff of the hospital physicians since his coming here five weeks ago.

Yesterday's meeting was held in the dining hall of the hospital, where a Christmas dinner was served.

About 30 doctors attended. Four medical cases were discussed.

One case involved a very rare disease called "Waterhouse-Friderichsen" syndrone. It was discussed primarily because of a local case now being observed. There have been only two such cases in Cumberland in the past five years.

Passengers Uninjured As Bus Leaves Road

A company spokesman reported last night that nobody was injured yesterday when a C. and W. bus traveling from Luke to Bloomington left the road.

He said he understood the bus was crowded off the highway about 12:30 p. m. Passengers were transferred to another bus.

First Methodist Choirs To Present Cantata

The Junior and Senior Choir of First Methodist Church will present a cantata, "Glory To God," on December 24, at 10:45 a. m. in place of the regular worship service.

Soloists for the cantata will be Miss Lois Stine, Miss Audrey Reckley, T/Sgt. George F. Kirby, U. S. A. A. F., Pfc. Joseph Steen, U.S.M.C., Jack Reckley, and Franklin Perrin.

The regularly scheduled worship and Young Adult Fellowship services will not be held at the church on Sunday evening, December 24. Instead, Christmas Eve candlelight service will be held at 11 p. m. with Rev. S. R. Neel as the speaker.

Semper Fidelis Class Has Christmas Program

A special worship service for Christmas, "I Bring You Good Tidings of Great Joy," featured the meeting, Thursday night, of the Semper Fidelis Class of Bethany Evangelical UB Church, at the home of Mrs. M. H. Burgess, Williams Street. Mrs. Helen Duff and Mrs. John Arndoff were cohostesses.

Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt was leader and Scripture stories included, the birth of Jesus, Mrs. Curtis Bloss; the shepherds, Mrs. John T. Murphy; the Wise Men, Mrs. R. C. Isiminger. Group singing of carols interspersed the program. Mrs. Walter Long read a poem, "The Christmas Legend."

Santa was impersonated by Mrs. J. S. Cook who distributed jingle gifts. A picture of the Madonna and Child centered the decorations.

Others present were Mrs. Harold E. Bishop, Mrs. Arnold Twigg, Janis Twigg, Norma Twigg, Mrs. Lester Wilson, Mrs. Donald Pentony, Mrs. Paul Gross, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Ethel Cornell, Mrs. William Goldsborough, Sr., Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker, Mrs. Walter Clark, Mrs. Leslie May, Mrs. Charles K. Welch, Mrs. Wilmer Null, Mrs. Belva Crabtree, John Murphy and Rev. C. K. Welch.

Students Plan Dance Dec. 20

A Christmas dance is being given by the senior student nurses of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing. It is to be held December 20 at Clary Club.

A semi-formal affair, music will be from 9 until 1 o'clock with the Aristocrats playing.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the class or at the door.

Flintstone PTA Entertains

The Flintstone PTA entertained with a Christmas dinner Wednesday at the school for all members.

A musical program was presented. It consisted of selections by the Elks Quartet; several violin selections by Martin Weisman, string instructor for Allegany county, and group singing of Christmas carols.

Law Offices of Earl Edmund Manges, 119 South Liberty St., Cumberland, Md.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the matter of the adoption of Carol Ann Cope, an infant, by Grace M. Hershberger, unmarried.

No. 21,985 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of adoption of Carol Ann Cope, an infant, by Grace M. Hershberger, unmarried.

The bill states that the complainant is an adult residing in Allegany County, Maryland, and that Carol Ann Cope is an infant who was born in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 3rd day of January, 1948, the child of John Edward Cope and Katherine Rose Cope, his wife, who are now divorced, and that the said Grace M. Hershberger desires to adopt the said infant and change its name to Carol Jeanne Hershberger; and that the said mother, Katherine Rose Ulsh Cope, is a nonresident of the State of Maryland, whose whereabouts are unknown.

It is thereupon, this 22nd day of November, 1950, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complaintant cause a copy of this order, with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 26th day of December, 1950, giving notice unto the said Katherine Rose Ulsh Cope to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 11th day of January, 1951, to show cause, if any she have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

LaVale Woman Makes Dolls As A Hobby

A presentation of 40 beautiful dolls was made to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children yesterday by Mrs. W. H. Solomon, LaVale, to be distributed to children at Christmastime.

Mrs. Solomon, whose husband and son operate the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Company, Hyndman, Pa., has a hobby of making the dolls and clothes for the dolls entirely by hand and then distributes her collection to needy children.

The 60-year-old gray-haired grandmother began her interesting pastime two years ago while vacationing in Fort Louderdale, Fla. Last year she planned a presentation of about 25 dolls to colored children at Fort Lauderdale, but was interrupted by news of the Yule fire that destroyed the town of Hyndman a year ago. She explained that she then gave the dolls to minister's wife for distribution in the Florida city.

Admitting that she has "gotten more fun than ever before" since she began making the dolls, which are varied and colorful depicting many different costumes and nationalities, Mrs. Solomon plans to continue the endeavor each year making presentations to deserving children every Christmas no matter where she may be.

She works on the hobby all year and occasionally she gives individual dolls to someone who is ill or needy "in order to brighten their lives and Solomon related how her four-year-old granddaughter, Elaine, helps her make the dolls. "Often Elaine would forget to help and just spend her time playing with them," Mrs. Solomon said.

The dolls depict mother and daughter dresses, brother and sister costumes, bride and groom and others.

Mrs. Hume Annan, executive secretary of the League, accepted the gift on behalf of the children and said plans would be made to distribute them by Christmas.

Olin Yoder Named In "Who's Who"

Olin Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Yoder, this city, has been named in "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges."

Yoder is one of seven students at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va., to be selected. All are among the upper 10 on the dean's list at the college.

An outstanding athlete and president of the Student Council, Yoder is majoring in art and minoring in physical education. He is president of the junior class and is a member of the Varsity Club and Zeta Sigma Fraternity, serving as secretary in 1949 and historian in 1948.

Yoder was captain of the football team during his senior year at Allegany High School and also belonged to the Hi-Y Club.

Santa To Parachute

In addition to the local collection, a similar effort will be made in Frostburg today by the Lions and Rotarians of that city for families in the Georges Creek section.

Other projects slated for today include collection booths set up by the Junior Woman's Civic Club at the corner of Baltimore and North Centre Streets and in front of Cumberland Electric Company on Virginia Avenue for contributions to "The Thing for Kids," a program to gather toys and gifts to be distributed to Cumberland's needy children.

At Fort Hill stadium members of the local Lions club will offer 5,000 Christmas trees for sale between noon and 5 p. m. today and tomorrow. The Lions will use the profits realized for a children's Christmas party and other charity work.

Silkworms will not spin their cocoons unless there is absolute quiet.

Aircraft, Textile And Rail Stocks Advance In Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Heavy demand for aircraft, textile and rail stocks — typical war-babies—contrasted with a generally lower market today.

Favored issues moved up as much as $3.50 a share. In the balance of the market losses running to around $1 a share were in a clean majority.

Losses were scored by 557 out of the 1,168 individual issues traded while 371 advanced.

New highs and lows for 1950 or longer were pretty evenly matched, a little more than 30 each.

Douglas Aircraft zoomed in front of the air section with a gain of $3.50 a share at $89.50. Lockheed tacked on $2 at $35.25, Grumman $1.25 at $23.87, United $1.25 at $33.62, Boeing $1.50 at $38.37, Curtiss-Wright 50 cents at $11, Republic Aviation $1.12 at $14.75, Consolidated Vultee $1 at $16.87, and North American Aviation 87 cents at $16.37.

American Woolen stood out in the textile division with a rise of $2.62 at $40. Wyandotte worsted added $1.12 at $17.12, United Merchants 62 cents at $15.12, and Burlington Mills $1.25 at $27.37.

Up a few cents to more than $1 a share among the carriers were Baltimore & Ohio, N. Y. Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Closing lower were General Motors, Chrysler, Radio Corp., Admiral, Motorola, Zenith, Philco, General American Investors, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Eastman Kodak, Chesapeake & Ohio, Texas Co., Gulf Oil and Johns-Manville.

Moberly Attends Dinner At Memorial Hospital

Memorial Hospital Superintendent John Moberly yesterday attended his first regular meeting with the staff of the hospital physicians since his coming here five weeks ago.

Yesterday's meeting was held in the dining hall of the hospital, where a Christmas dinner was served.

About 30 doctors attended. Four medical cases were discussed.

One case involved a very rare disease called "Waterhouse-Friderichsen" syndrone. It was discussed primarily because of a local case now being observed. There have been only two such cases in Cumberland in the past five years.

Passengers Uninjured As Bus Leaves Road

A company spokesman reported last night that nobody was injured yesterday when a C. and W. bus traveling from Luke to Bloomington left the road.

He said he understood the bus was crowded off the highway about 12:30 p. m. Passengers were transferred to another bus.

First Methodist Choirs To Present Cantata

The Junior and Senior Choir of First Methodist Church will present a cantata, "Glory To God," on December 24, at 10:45 a. m. in place of the regular worship service.

Soloists for the cantata will be Miss Lois Stine, Miss Audrey Reckley, T/Sgt. George F. Kirby, U. S. A. A. F., Pfc. Joseph Steen, U.S.M.C., Jack Reckley, and Franklin Perrin.

The regularly scheduled worship and Young Adult Fellowship services will not be held at the church on Sunday evening, December 24. Instead, Christmas Eve candlelight service will be held at 11 p. m. with Rev. S. R. Neel as the speaker.

Semper Fidelis Class Has Christmas Program

A special worship service for Christmas, "I Bring You Good Tidings of Great Joy," featured the meeting, Thursday night, of the Semper Fidelis Class of Bethany Evangelical UB Church, at the home of Mrs. M. H. Burgess, Williams Street. Mrs. Helen Duff and Mrs. John Arndoff were cohostesses.

Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt was leader and Scripture stories included, the birth of Jesus, Mrs. Curtis Bloss; the shepherds, Mrs. John T. Murphy; the Wise Men, Mrs. R. C. Isiminger. Group singing of carols interspersed the program. Mrs. Walter Long read a poem, "The Christmas Legend."

Santa was impersonated by Mrs. J. S. Cook who distributed jingle gifts. A picture of the Madonna and Child centered the decorations.

Others present were Mrs. Harold E. Bishop, Mrs. Arnold Twigg, Janis Twigg, Norma Twigg, Mrs. Lester Wilson, Mrs. Donald Pentony, Mrs. Paul Gross, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Ethel Cornell, Mrs. William Goldsborough, Sr., Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker, Mrs. Walter Clark, Mrs. Leslie May, Mrs. Charles K. Welch, Mrs. Wilmer Null, Mrs. Belva Crabtree, John Murphy and Rev. C. K. Welch.

Winter Grips Area As New Snow Falls

Frigid Blasts Make Highways Hazardous

Winter tightened its grip upon the Tri-State area last night as a sharp drop in temperature froze highways which had been slushy from a fresh snowfall of from four to 10 inches.

Roads in the area were open but generally hazardous and State Police were advising chains in all areas.

Garrett County, already well on its way to surpassing the average seasonal snowfall, expects another dose this weekend. The weather bureau says the rest of the state is in for generally fair weather.

A fleet of trucks spent most of yesterday clearing Garrett highways of a fresh three-inch blanket. State Police warned that chains were a must for motorists in the county and said late last night that travel was almost impossible on many of the arteries in the county even with chains.

This was primarily due to lowering temperatures last evening which caused melting snow to freeze.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said Oakland had 10 inches of new snow and that it was still snowing at 11 o'clock last night.

At Accident, there was eight inches of new snow and at Frostburg, seven inches, he said.

Roads Are Drifting

Chaires said Route 40 west of Frostburg was freezing last night after the temperature dropped suddenly from about 34 degrees to 20 degrees.

High winds were causing the roads to drift but two-way traffic was being maintained.

Motorists were warned to use extreme caution in traveling Route 40 even with chains, because the roads were unusually icy.

Chaires said 25 trucks were on the road last night and a large four-wheel drive unit was brought in early yesterday from Washington County.

Records that Chaires has kept showed that the latest snow fall gave Garrett County a total of 50 inches this season. The seasonal average is 75 inches.

At Deal, Pa., it was still snowing at 11 o'clock last night after ten inches of new snow had fallen during the day yesterday. Temperature in Deal was 22 degrees.

A temperature of 20 degrees was recorded in Elkins, W. Va., and it was still snowing late last night, with four inches of new snow on the ground.

Travel Hazardous

Fifteen inches of new snow was reported from Thomas, W. Va., and the temperature was 20 degrees. The new snow made a total of 23 inches on the ground. High winds were blowing and the snow drifting, making it almost impossible to travel.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said travel on Route 50 was extremely hazardous on the "Allegany Mountains. Police were recommending emergency travel only.

Traffic was piling up on the roads as some motorists were caught along the ice glazed highway without chains.

Allegany Front had four to five inches of new snow and it was freezing to the highway.

Roads were slippery in the Romney area where snow flurries had been falling all day yesterday.

Knobley Mountain, near Keyser, W. Va., was hazardous with about four inches of new snow reported late last night.

Four inches of new snow had fallen by 11 p. m. yesterday at Rockwood, Pa., and the temperature was 28 degrees then.

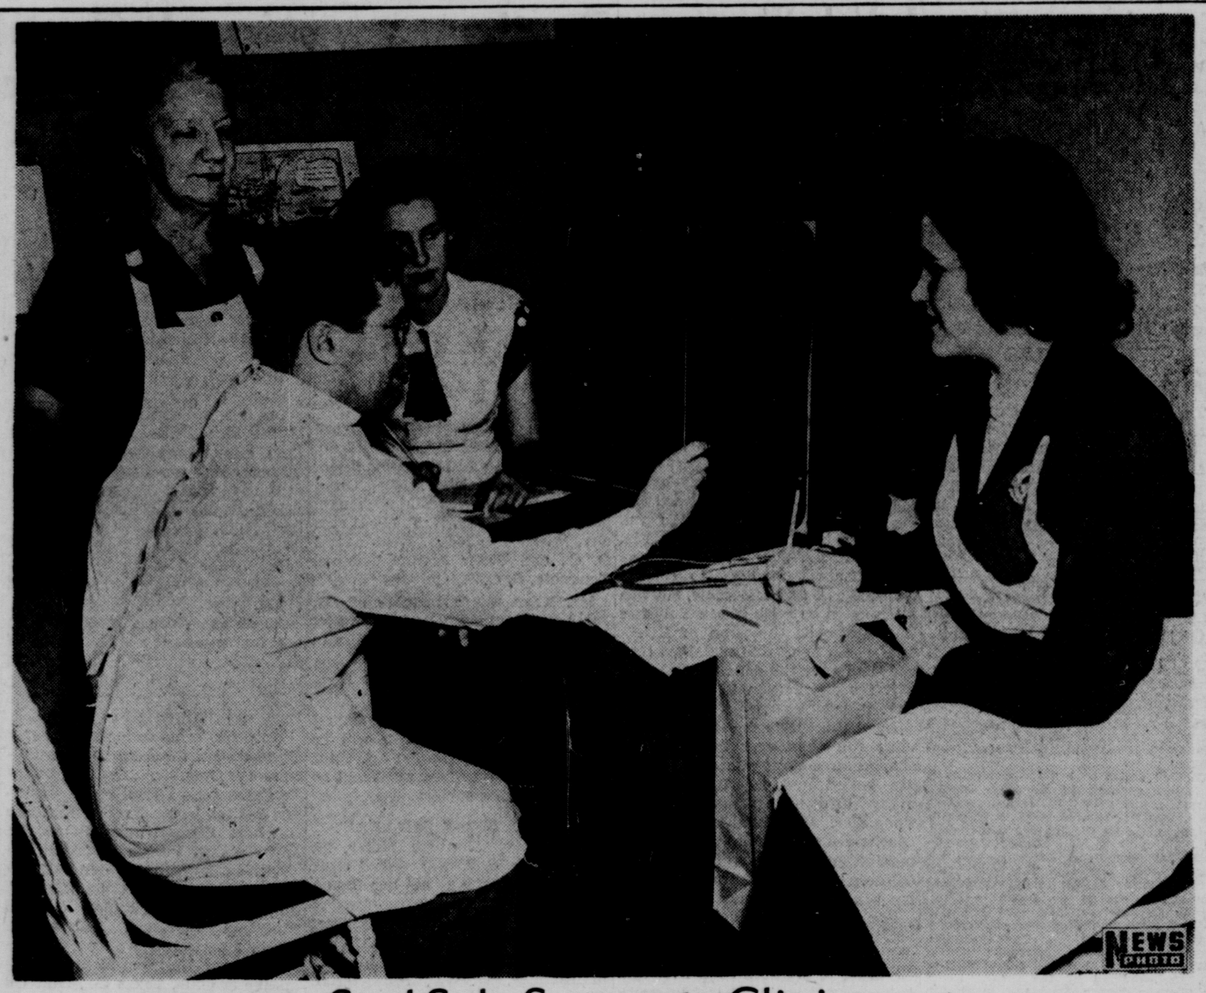
Chains Are Urged

Maryland State Police said Route 220 and the roads in the area of Georges Creek had about two inches of snow on them. Roads were freezing and chains were recommended.

Traveling over Route 40 east to Hagerstown was said to be safe even without chains, the roads over the mountains being cindered.

Paper Collection Set

Waste paper will be collected Monday on all streets south of Oldtown Road. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.



Seal Sale Supports Clinic

Shown above is a typical scene at the weekly chest clinic held at City Hall each Friday morning. The clinic, which began over five years ago, is supported by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association as a public service without charge. Funds from the annual Christmas Seal sales provided X-ray equipment and fluoroscope used at the clinic and pay the salary of the clinician, Dr. R. W. Ballin, the technician's fee for X-rays and even for janitorial services. Formerly the clinic was held once a month with Dr. I. B. Lyon of Victor Collins Hospital, Sabillasville, and Dr. Fred Williams as clinicians before Dr. Ballin assumed that post. Average number of patients each month was 40 as compared to 100 now. Approximately 50 X-rays are taken each week by appointment at the Health Department. Two lay workers from the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council have assisted at the clinics since the project began. Dr. Ballin is shown above examining an X-ray film. Looking on at the left are Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse in charge of the clinic since its inception; and Miss Mary Miller. At the right is Miss Doris Hershberger. She and Miss Miller are student nurses at Memorial Hospital.

Garrett Area Skiing Good

Maryland's first really perfect skiing was announced yesterday by the Department of Forest and Parks, who reported the New Germany ski area to have eight inches of fine powder snow on a good base. All trails are in excellent condition.

The famous "Whiskey Hollow" trail offers the seasoned skier five or six miles of well marked trails. "Poplar Lick," a more gentle slope, will give the beginner all of the thrills with none of the experience needed for more difficult runs. Ski tows will operate if the crowd warrants.

Ample accommodations are available to the winter sports enthusiast in the New Germany area. For large parties the Department of Forests and Parks operates a ski lodge which is available upon reservation. Arrangements for the lodge can be made by letter or phone to the Department of Forests and Parks, State Office Building, Annapolis. The phone number is 2320.

New Germany is located five miles south of U. S. Highway 40 on Route 219. Chains are necessary after leaving U. S. 40 at Grantsville.

New Fire Truck Is In Service

West Side Fire Company's new fire truck was placed into service yesterday afternoon.

Actnig Fire Chief William L. Lindner officiated at the brief ceremony yesterday at 1:15 p. m. at the fire hall.

The equipment was turned over to Acting Officer William T. Shuck, Chauffeur Austin L. Warnick and Pipeman John L. Morrisey.

Robert R. Gorner, a member of the department recently inducted into the Navy, was present when the powerful Mack pumper was placed into active service.

Firemen said the old West Side truck will remain at the station as the area's second line of defense. That pumper was purchased second hand by the city in 1941 and was considered unsatisfactory since it was not powerful enough to negotiate the steeper hills.

The West Side pumper is the second piece of modern equipment placed in service here in as many years. Last year, the city secured a modern 85-foot aerial ladder which is on tap at Central Fire Department.

Santa To Parachute Into City Today To Help Needy Children

Service Clubs Boost Salvation Army

Santa Claus is scheduled to parachute into Cumberland today to start a gigantic Salvation Army drive to stimulate contributions toward a $2,000 goal for Christmas baskets for needy families.

St. Nick will then lead a Christmas Fund parade beginning at 2 p. m. in South End on Virginia Avenue thence to Central YMCA to Baltimore Street to North Centre to Market to North Mechanic and back to Baltimore Street.

Santa will be joined by the Allegany High School band and the line of march will be supplemented by children led by City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

All contributions for the worthy cause will be collected in kettles placed on Virginia Avenue and Baltimore Street and manned by members of six service clubs under the direction of Lewis J. Ort, chairman.

The "stands" have been assigned to the various clubs as follows:

Ort said in past years as high as $1,300 was gathered by the service clubs in a single day and this prompted the extra effort to gain today's goal.

Warren Mullenax, operator of Municipal Airport, has donated his services to fly Santa over the city for the parachute jump.

LaSalle Students To Present Play

LaSalle High School students will present a two-act musical comedy, "Prince of a Guy," at Carroll Hall in two performances tomorrow night and Monday.

Curtain time will be 8:15 each night.

Jaycees Expand Yule Decorating Contest Area

All of the greater Cumberland area will be included in the Christmas home lighting contest sponsored annually by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The area to be judged will be bounded by Cresaptown on the south, west by the Six Mile House, Bedford Road and Route 36 at the Pennsylvania state line and Pleasant Valley Road.

H. Jack Price is chairman for the annual Jaycee contest designed to encourage the holiday decoration of homes and apartments as well as business establishments.

Winners will receive cash awards and prizes of merchandise.

Chairman, Christmas Lighting Contest, Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, Cumberland, or phone 29, the Jaycee office.

Beer Leads Report List

Marylanders, on the average, consumed more than 25 gallons of alcoholic beverages during the 1950 fiscal year.

This rate of consumption was brought out in the annual report of the Alcoholic Beverages Division of the Comptroller's Department. It broke down the per capita liquid intake in this way: Beer 23 gallons; wine one gallon; and liquor 1.3 gallons.

From the report, there was no way of knowing how much was consumed by visitors or how many Marylanders did the drinking.

At the same time, the report showed the state had collected $6,016,000 in alcoholic beverages revenue during the year, a .45 per cent increase over 1949. This comes to a per capita payment of $2.52. The cost of collection and administration was $136,850.

The Division observed that there was one licensed alcoholic beverage outlet for every 340 persons in the state. Montgomery County had the fewest places per capita and St. Mary's the most.

Illegal distilling was on the rise in the state, with a total of 77 stills being found as against 45 in the previous year. Of the 77 stills, 17 were discovered in Charles County.

With respect to apparent consumption in the six-month period from July to December, 1949, the most drinking — per capita — was done in Talbot County and the least in Carroll.

Aboard Repair Ship

A. F. Youngblood, seaman, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Youngblood, Route No. 1, Keyser, W. Va., is serving aboard the floating dry dock USS Gunston Hall. The ship carries landing craft and stands by for repair work during invasion landings.

Two Men Held In Area On Bad Check Charges

Casteel To Face Grand Jury Action

A Keyser, W. Va., man identified as Welba E. Casteel waived a preliminary hearing here yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of false pretense, and a Pennsylvania resident is being held in Bedford, Pa., on charges of passing several bad checks in this area.

Arrested By City Police

Casteel was arrested late Thursday night at a local bus station by Police Officers C. W. Thompson and John G. Powers.

The officers met the Cumberland bound bus at the Dingle, trailed it to the terminal and arrested Casteel for the Sheriff's office.

Police said the man signed a statement on a bad check charge late Thursday night following questioning by Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney and Detective E. M. Powell.

Held In Bedford

He is Donald D. Pittman, Route 1, Breezewood, Pa., who was arrested by Pennsylvania State Police on information furnished by Trooper First Class William F. Baker of the Maryland State Police.

The other victims are Robert E. Spitznas, Arch Broadwater and Albert Kight.

The name of "Charles Manheim, secretary of the Hazelwood Construction Company" was signed on all the checks Trooper Baker said. The local firm reported no such person is employed there.

Bought Gasoline

At the Hartman's station, Pittman reportedly obtained $1 worth of gasoline and received $27.50 change from his check, the officer related.

Spitznas, who operates Musgrove's Store and Service Station, was allegedly fleeced of $33.15. Pittman also received $1 worth of gasoline there.

Pittman is believed to have passed off a $28.50 check on Broadwater where he received $3 worth of gas, and at Kight's station he received $4.50 worth of anti-freeze, Baker said .

Pittman is also wanted in Pennsylvania on similar charges and will be tried there before being turned over to Maryland authorities for prosecution, police said.

Fort Hill Choir Is Busy Group

Four more public appearances have been arranged for the Fort Hill High School a cappella choir during the Christmas season.

Already the choir has sung at two churches. Last Sunday afternoon, the choral group, directed by Miss Annetta Yates, sang with the First Presbyterian Church choir. That night the singers appeared at Davis Memorial Methodist Church.

"The Song of Christmas" will be rendered by the choir Sunday night at Grace Methodist Church.

Other appearances next week will be at the community Christmas celebration at the City Hall, Monday night; at the South End Christmas tree, Tuesday night, and at the B & O Station, Wednesday night.

Three Sites Are In Running For Army Laboratory

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The question of where the Quartermaster Corps will locate its $11,000,000 research laboratory has been narrowed down to three sites. Where they are is a secret.

Maj. Gen. W. O. Reeder of the Army Supply Corps gave the information to a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony on the new $17,000,000,000 appropriation bill for the Armed Services.

The Army asked $250,000 to start building the laboratory after a site is chosen. The House appropriations committee today approved all of the Armed Services' requests, and made public Reeder's testimony.

He said he did not know where the three sites are located.

County Arthritis Toll Is Heavy, Gunter Says

Based on the national average, there must be at least 500 persons in Allegany County who are suffering from arthritis, William A. Gunter, president of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital, announced yesterday.

He said that 126 arthritic patients have been admitted to Memorial Hospital so far this year.

Allegany Hospital has admitted 48 patients suffering from arthritis during the same period and Miners Hospital in Frostburg, 135 such patients.

Three women are in Allegany County Infirmary, he added, who are in such a helpless condition as a result of the disease that they cannot walk or take care of themselves.

In a talk entitled, "1950 Campaigns, Military and Otherwise," Gunter pointed out that Allegany County has raised about one third of its $1,500 campaign for Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Gunter said one out of 20 persons in America is afflicted with arthritis and that the disease will continue to demand its yearly toll of death unless "you and I do something about it."

He called upon all to aid in the campaign to raise funds to finance the detection, control and cure of the insidious disease.

Rev. S. C. Morrow Opens Ministry Here Sunday

Tomorrow morning will mark the first worship service to be conducted at First Presbyterian Church by the newly elected pastor, Rev. Seth C. Morrow.

Topic of Rev. Morrow's first sermon here will be "The Roads We Travel Together."

The Christmas program of the church school will be held tomorrow evening at 6:30 in the lecture hall. A playlet, "One Holy Night," will be presented.

Rev. Morrow will greet the children, after which a picture, "Child of Bethlehem," will be shown.

Mrs. Arch Hutcheson is chairman of the mothers' committee, which will serve refreshments. Assisting in serving will be Mrs. Ross O. Decker and Mrs. Knight Reynolds. White food packages will be received.

Rev. Morrow has been pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Pottsville, Pa., since 1943. From 1938 to 1943 he was minister of First Presbyterian Church in Gettysburg, Pa.

The new minister received his B. A. degree from Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va. He received the Th. B. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J. in 1938. He took additional graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and received the Th. M. degree in 1948.

During his ministry in Pottsville Rev. Morrow was active in ministerial and community affairs and served as the secretary and president of the Ministerial Association. He was a member of the Rotary Club and a director of the Southern Schuylkill Chapter of American Red Cross. In 1949 Morrow served as the moderator of Lehigh Presbytery. He also served as chairman of the United Promotion Committee of the Presbytery and was a member of the committee on National Missions.

Residents Urged To Do Local Yule Mailing Now

Incoming Volume Arriving Slowly

Post Office officials last night were urging Cumberlanders to do all of their local Christmas mailing immediately in order to help avoid congestion when the large volume of accumulated incoming mail begins to arrive from key cities.

Officials related that yesterday was the biggest day they have had so far this season and they were employing 28 extra workers. Most of the employes worked from about 7 a. m. to midnight last night. But the situation is below normal.

Parcel post packages were still not coming into the Post Office as they should, because of the embargo.

Superintendent of Mails W. R. Thayer explained that about 2,000 pieces of mail came in yesterday afternoon on Trains No. 8 and No. 22, with about one truck load of parcel post. Both of these trains were from the west and heading toward Washington. This amount of mail is far below the normal amount for this season, he said.

The Post Office is sending out all the mail it can under the embargo restrictions. This amounts to less than 85 per cent of the mail that ordinarily would be sent from the local Post Office.

City Mail Heavy

Mail for within the city has been very heavy, officials noted.

Superintendent Thayer pointed out that Christmas cards with two-cent stamps, third class matter, will not be shipped from Cumberland to any state except those listed by the Post Office Department.

Those states are Connecticut, Delaware, Illiniois, Indiana, Main, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and for destinations within Maryland.

No mail in the restricted catagory is being sent from the local Post Office for Washington, Chicago, or St. Louis. Officials pointed out, however mail for Illinois is being sent.

To all states, first class mail which includes parcel post up to eight ounces, is being accepted. Also being mailed to all states are air mail letters and air parcel post packages.

Can Use Air Mail

Since Cumberland is an air mail stop of the All American Air Lines, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon is sponsoring a program of informing all postmasters within a certain radius of Cumberland of the air mail schedules from this city.

It is being done, Conlon said, so people in this area might take advantage of the air mail service if they wish.

The postmaster said the first air mail flight leaves the post office at 10:20 a. m. and arrives at the air field at 10:58 a. m. It is an easterly bound flight and reaches Washington, D. C., at 12:07 p. m.

The second air mail flight from Cumberland leaves the Post Office at 4:25 p. m., and arrives at the air field at 5:11 p. m. It is a westerly flight, arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:01 p. m. and Chicago at 7:11 p. m.

Ironically, the morning flight of All American Airways was cancelled yesterday because of the snow.

Home On Leave

Pfc. Charles Butler, Cresaptown, is spending a 30-day furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lucy Helbig. Wounded during fighting in Korea, Pfc. Butler has been convalescing at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Weather

Windy and colder with snow flurries is the forecast calling for more winter today. It is almost a continuation of what we had yesterday, when there was a low temperature in Constitution Park of 31 degrees and a high of 36 degrees. Downtown, the low was 31 degrees and the high, 40 degrees. Melted precipitation yesterday was .38 inches. New snow fell amounting to two and one-half inches. There was already one and one-half inches of old snow on the ground.

CHRISTMAS CHEER — Miss Jeannette Bonig is shown looking over some of the dolls and other toys which her agency, the Associated Charities, is distributing to deserving families this week. Some of the toys were donated by local stores and other groups. Doll beds, cradles, carts and hobby horses were made by Former Fire Chief Reid C. Hoenicka in the shop at the H. and S. Heating and Plumbing Company. Toy ironing boards were made by the Allegany Trades School. Pillows and bedspreads for the doll beds, and dresses for the dolls were made by church and sorority groups. Miss Bonig said about 800 toys are on hand this year. They are on display at City Hall where needy families may obtain them. One local women's group gave a basket of gaily wrapped jingle gifts to Associated Charities instead of exchanging the gifts among themselves.

Lanterns Are Available To Mark Coasting Sites

Lanterns are available at the Recreation Department office in City Hall for use in marking streets for sled riding, according to Director Edmund F. Hoey.

Hoey said a request of the City Playgrounds Association to set aside streets in the vicinity of nine playgrounds for coasting has been granted.

Association members will be responsible for providing adult supervision at sledding areas to avoid accidents.

No ropes or barricades are available to block streets but Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn has suggested using wooden crates for that purpose.

Streets set aside for coasting, as requested by the association, are located near the following playgrounds and are as follows:

North End Playground—Shawnee Avenue from Piedmont Avenue to Franklin Street.

Penn Avenue Playground—Grand Avenue.

West Side Playground — Chase Street from Washington to Fayette and Cumberland.

Gephart Playground — Marshall and Warren Streets to Frederick Street.

Lamont Street Playground— beginning at Cresap Street and using Lamont Street.

Virginia Avenue Playground — Springdale Street from First to Second Streets, and Oak Street from Browning to Second.

Pine Avenue Playground—Monroe Street to the intersection of Central Avenue.

Christmas Seal Booths To Be Opened Next Week

to county residents for contributions.

The campaign has a goal of $15,000 this year.

As an added boost to the current Christmas Seal campaign, booths will be opened next week in two downtown places.

This was announced yesterday by Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

One booth will be set up Monday in Rosenbaum's Store and will be open that evening from 6 until 8 o'clock for the sale of Christmas Seals.

The other booths will be located in the Postoffice Building and will be open next week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 2 until 3 each afternoon.

Coin containers have been placed in public places throughout the county, and about 23,000 sheets of Christmas Seals have been mailed

Mrs. Edgar Vandergrift is chairman of the Christmas Seal committee, assisted by Glenn K. Davis, Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, Mrs. Porter D. Collins and J. William Hunt.

Davis is in charge of handling containers; Mrs. Cessna handled mailing of Christmas Seal letters; Mrs. Collins is making arrangements for the booths, and Hunt is in charge of publicity.

Winter Grips Area As New Snow Falls

Frigid Blasts Make Highways Hazardous

Winter tightened its grip upon the Tri-State area last night as a sharp drop in temperature froze highways which had been slushy from a fresh snowfall of from four to 10 inches.

Roads in the area were open but generally hazardous and State Police were advising chains in all areas.

Garrett County, already well on its way to surpassing the average seasonal snowfall, expects another dose this weekend. The weather bureau says the rest of the state is in for generally fair weather.

A fleet of trucks spent most of yesterday clearing Garrett highways of a fresh three-inch blanket. State Police warned that chains were a must for motorists in the county and said late last night that travel was almost impossible on many of the arteries in the county even with chains.

This was primarily due to lowering temperatures last evening which caused melting snow to freeze.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said Oakland had 10 inches of new snow and that it was still snowing at 11 o'clock last night.

At Accident, there was eight inches of new snow and at Frostburg, seven inches, he said.

Roads Are Drifting

Chaires said Route 40 west of Frostburg was freezing last night after the temperature dropped suddenly from about 34 degrees to 20 degrees.

High winds were causing the roads to drift but two-way traffic was being maintained.

Motorists were warned to use extreme caution in traveling Route 40 even with chains, because the roads were unusually icy.

Chaires said 25 trucks were on the road last night and a large four-wheel drive unit was brought in early yesterday from Washington County.

Records that Chaires has kept showed that the latest snow fall gave Garrett County a total of 50 inches this season. The seasonal average is 75 inches.

At Deal, Pa., it was still snowing at 11 o'clock last night after ten inches of new snow had fallen during the day yesterday. Temperature in Deal was 22 degrees.

A temperature of 20 degrees was recorded in Elkins, W. Va., and it was still snowing late last night, with four inches of new snow on the ground.

Travel Hazardous

Fifteen inches of new snow was reported from Thomas, W. Va., and the temperature was 20 degrees. The new snow made a total of 23 inches on the ground. High winds were blowing and the snow drifting, making it almost impossible to travel.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said travel on Route 50 was extremely hazardous on the "Allegany Mountains. Police were recommending emergency travel only.

Traffic was piling up on the roads as some motorists were caught along the ice glazed highway without chains.

Allegany Front had four to five inches of new snow and it was freezing to the highway.

Roads were slippery in the Romney area where snow flurries had been falling all day yesterday.

Knobley Mountain, near Keyser, W. Va., was hazardous with about four inches of new snow reported late last night.

Four inches of new snow had fallen by 11 p. m. yesterday at Rockwood, Pa., and the temperature was 28 degrees then.

Chains Are Urged

Maryland State Police said Route 220 and the roads in the area of Georges Creek had about two inches of snow on them. Roads were freezing and chains were recommended.

Traveling over Route 40 east to Hagerstown was said to be safe even without chains, the roads over the mountains being cindered.

Paper Collection Set

Waste paper will be collected Monday on all streets south of Oldtown Road. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.

Seal Sale Supports Clinic

Shown above is a typical scene at the weekly chest clinic held at City Hall each Friday morning. The clinic, which began over five years ago, is supported by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association as a public service without charge. Funds from the annual Christmas Seal sales provided X-ray equipment and fluoroscope used at the clinic and pay the salary of the clinician, Dr. R. W. Ballin, the technician's fee for X-rays and even for janitorial services. Formerly the clinic was held once a month with Dr. I. B. Lyon of Victor Collins Hospital, Sabillasville, and Dr. Fred Williams as clinicians before Dr. Ballin assumed that post. Average number of patients each month was 40 as compared to 100 now. Approximately 50 X-rays are taken each week by appointment at the Health Department. Two lay workers from the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council have assisted at the clinics since the project began. Dr. Ballin is shown above examining an X-ray film. Looking on at the left are Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse in charge of the clinic since its inception; and Miss Mary Miller. At the right is Miss Doris Hershberger. She and Miss Miller are student nurses at Memorial Hospital.

Garrett Area Skiing Good

Maryland's first really perfect skiing was announced yesterday by the Department of Forest and Parks, who reported the New Germany ski area to have eight inches of fine powder snow on a good base. All trails are in excellent condition.

The famous "Whiskey Hollow" trail offers the seasoned skier five or six miles of well marked trails. "Poplar Lick," a more gentle slope, will give the beginner all of the thrills with none of the experience needed for more difficult runs. Ski tows will operate if the crowd warrants.

Ample accommodations are available to the winter sports enthusiast in the New Germany area. For large parties the Department of Forests and Parks operates a ski lodge which is available upon reservation. Arrangements for the lodge can be made by letter or phone to the Department of Forests and Parks, State Office Building, Annapolis. The phone number is 2320.

New Germany is located five miles south of U. S. Highway 40 on Route 219. Chains are necessary after leaving U. S. 40 at Grantsville.

New Fire Truck Is In Service

West Side Fire Company's new fire truck was placed into service yesterday afternoon.

Actnig Fire Chief William L. Lindner officiated at the brief ceremony yesterday at 1:15 p. m. at the fire hall.

The equipment was turned over to Acting Officer William T. Shuck, Chauffeur Austin L. Warnick and Pipeman John L. Morrisey.

Robert R. Gorner, a member of the department recently inducted into the Navy, was present when the powerful Mack pumper was placed into active service.

Firemen said the old West Side truck will remain at the station as the area's second line of defense. That pumper was purchased second hand by the city in 1941 and was considered unsatisfactory since it was not powerful enough to negotiate the steeper hills.

The West Side pumper is the second piece of modern equipment placed in service here in as many years. Last year, the city secured a modern 85-foot aerial ladder which is on tap at Central Fire Department.

Santa To Parachute Into City Today To Help Needy Children

Service Clubs Boost Salvation Army

Santa Claus is scheduled to parachute into Cumberland today to start a gigantic Salvation Army drive to stimulate contributions toward a $2,000 goal for Christmas baskets for needy families.

St. Nick will then lead a Christmas Fund parade beginning at 2 p. m. in South End on Virginia Avenue thence to Central YMCA to Baltimore Street to North Centre to Market to North Mechanic and back to Baltimore Street.

Santa will be joined by the Allegany High School band and the line of march will be supplemented by children led by City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

All contributions for the worthy cause will be collected in kettles placed on Virginia Avenue and Baltimore Street and manned by members of six service clubs under the direction of Lewis J. Ort, chairman.

The "stands" have been assigned to the various clubs as follows:

Ort said in past years as high as $1,300 was gathered by the service clubs in a single day and this prompted the extra effort to gain today's goal.

Warren Mullenax, operator of Municipal Airport, has donated his services to fly Santa over the city for the parachute jump.

LaSalle Students To Present Play

LaSalle High School students will present a two-act musical comedy, "Prince of a Guy," at Carroll Hall in two performances tomorrow night and Monday.

Curtain time will be 8:15 each night.

Jaycees Expand Yule Decorating Contest Area

All of the greater Cumberland area will be included in the Christmas home lighting contest sponsored annually by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The area to be judged will be bounded by Cresaptown on the south, west by the Six Mile House, Bedford Road and Route 36 at the Pennsylvania state line and Pleasant Valley Road.

H. Jack Price is chairman for the annual Jaycee contest designed to encourage the holiday decoration of homes and apartments as well as business establishments.

Winners will receive cash awards and prizes of merchandise.

The Jaycees will judge houses on their lawns, porches and other outside decorations.

Chairman, Christmas Lighting Contest, Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, Cumberland, or phone 29, the Jaycee office.

Beer Leads Report List

Marylanders, on the average, consumed more than 25 gallons of alcoholic beverages during the 1950 fiscal year.

This rate of consumption was brought out in the annual report of the Alcoholic Beverages Division of the Comptroller's Department. It broke down the per capita liquid intake in this way: Beer 23 gallons; wine one gallon; and liquor 1.3 gallons.

From the report, there was no way of knowing how much was consumed by visitors or how many Marylanders did the drinking.

At the same time, the report showed the state had collected $6,016,000 in alcoholic beverages revenue during the year, a .45 per cent increase over 1949. This comes to a per capita payment of $2.52. The cost of collection and administration was $136,850.

The Division observed that there was one licensed alcoholic beverage outlet for every 340 persons in the state. Montgomery County had the fewest places per capita and St. Mary's the most.

Illegal distilling was on the rise in the state, with a total of 77 stills being found as against 45 in the previous year. Of the 77 stills, 17 were discovered in Charles County.

With respect to apparent consumption in the six-month period from July to December, 1949, the most drinking — per capita — was done in Talbot County and the least in Carroll.

Aboard Repair Ship

A. F. Youngblood, seaman, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Youngblood, Route No. 1, Keyser, W. Va., is serving aboard the floating dry dock USS Gunston Hall. The ship carries landing craft and stands by for repair work during invasion landings.

Two Men Held In Area On Bad Check Charges

Casteel To Face Grand Jury Action

A Keyser, W. Va., man identified as Welba E. Casteel waived a preliminary hearing here yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of false pretense, and a Pennsylvania resident is being held in Bedford, Pa., on charges of passing several bad checks in this area.

Casteel was committed to County Jail in default of $500 bond for action of the January grand jury.

Arrested By City Police

Casteel was arrested late Thursday night at a local bus station by Police Officers C. W. Thompson and John G. Powers.

The officers met the Cumberland bound bus at the Dingle, trailed it to the terminal and arrested Casteel for the Sheriff's office.

Police said the man signed a statement on a bad check charge late Thursday night following questioning by Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney and Detective E. M. Powell.

Held In Bedford

Charged with passing off $123.30 in worthless checks on Baltimore Pike service station operators, a 28-year-old Pennsylvania man is being held in the Bedford County jail at Bedford, Pa.

He is Donald D. Pittman, Route 1, Breezewood, Pa., who was arrested by Pennsylvania State Police on information furnished by Trooper First Class William F. Baker of the Maryland State Police.

Included in the victims of the forgery artist is Rev. B. F. Hartman, Methodist minister, who operates a service station several miles from Cumberland.

The other victims are Robert E. Spitznas, Arch Broadwater and Albert Kight.

The name of "Charles Manheim, secretary of the Hazelwood Construction Company" was signed on all the checks Trooper Baker said. The local firm reported no such person is employed there.

Bought Gasoline

At the Hartman's station, Pittman reportedly obtained $1 worth of gasoline and received $27.50 change from his check, the officer related.

Spitznas, who operates Musgrove's Store and Service Station, was allegedly fleeced of $33.15. Pittman also received $1 worth of gasoline there.

Pittman is believed to have passed off a $28.50 check on Broadwater where he received $3 worth of gas, and at Kight's station he received $4.50 worth of anti-freeze, Baker said .

Pittman is also wanted in Pennsylvania on similar charges and will be tried there before being turned over to Maryland authorities for prosecution, police said.

Fort Hill Choir Is Busy Group

Four more public appearances have been arranged for the Fort Hill High School a cappella choir during the Christmas season.

Already the choir has sung at two churches. Last Sunday afternoon, the choral group, directed by Miss Annetta Yates, sang with the First Presbyterian Church choir. That night the singers appeared at Davis Memorial Methodist Church.

"The Song of Christmas" will be rendered by the choir Sunday night at Grace Methodist Church.

Other appearances next week will be at the community Christmas celebration at the City Hall, Monday night; at the South End Christmas tree, Tuesday night, and at the B & O Station Wednesday night.

Three Sites Are In Running For Army Laboratory

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The question of where the Quartermaster Corps will locate its $11,000,000 research laboratory has been narrowed down to three sites. Where they are is a secret.

Maj. Gen. W. O. Reeder of the Army Supply Corps gave the information to a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony on the new $17,000,000,000 appropriation bill for the Armed Services.

The Army asked $250,000 to start building the laboratory after a site is chosen. The House appropriations committee today approved all of the Armed Services' requests, and made public Reeder's testimony.

He said he did not know where the three sites are located.

County Arthritis Toll Is Heavy, Gunter Says

Based on the national average, there must be at least 500 persons in Allegany County who are suffering from arthritis, William A. Gunter, president of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital, announced yesterday.

He said that 126 arthritic patients have been admitted to Memorial Hospital so far this year.

Allegany Hospital has admitted 48 patients suffering from arthritis during the same period and Miners Hospital in Frostburg, 135 such patients.

Three women are in Allegany County Infirmary, he added, who are in such a helpless condition as a result of the disease that they cannot walk or take care of themselves.

In a talk entitled, "1950 Campaigns, Military and Otherwise," Gunter pointed out that Allegany County has raised about one third of its $1,500 campaign for Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Gunter said one out of 20 persons in America is afflicted with arthritis and that the disease will continue to demand its yearly toll of death unless "you and I do something about it."

He called upon all to aid in the campaign to raise funds to finance the detection, control and cure of the insidious disease.

Rev. S. C. Morrow Opens Ministry Here Sunday

Tomorrow morning will mark the first worship service to be conducted at First Presbyterian Church by the newly elected pastor, Rev. Seth C. Morrow.

Topic of Rev. Morrow's first sermon here will be "The Roads We Travel Together."

The Christmas program of the church school will be held tomorrow evening at 6:30 in the lecture hall. A playlet, "One Holy Night," will be presented.

Rev. Morrow will greet the children, after which a picture, "Child of Bethlehem," will be shown.

Mrs. Arch Hutcheson is chairman of the mothers' committee, which will serve refreshments. Assisting in serving will be Mrs. Ross O. Decker and Mrs. Knight Reynolds. White food packages will be received.

Rev. Morrow has been pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Pottsville, Pa., since 1943. From 1938 to 1943 he was minister of First Presbyterian Church in Gettysburg, Pa.

The new minister received his B. A. degree from Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va. He received the Th. B. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J. in 1938. He took additional graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and received the Th. M. degree in 1948.

During his ministry in Pottsville Rev. Morrow was active in ministerial and community affairs and served as the secretary and president of the Ministerial Association. He was a member of the Rotary Club and a director of the Southern Schuylkill Chapter of American Red Cross. In 1949 Morrow served as the moderator of Lehigh Presbytery. He also served as chairman of the United Promotion Committee of the Presbytery and was a member of the committee on National Missions.

Residents Urged To Do Local Yule Mailing Now

Incoming Volume Arriving Slowly

Post Office officials last night were urging Cumberlanders to do all of their local Christmas mailing immediately in order to help avoid congestion when the large volume of accumulated incoming mail begins to arrive from key cities.

Officials related that yesterday was the biggest day they have had so far this season and they were employing 28 extra workers. Most of the employes worked from about 7 a. m. to midnight last night. But the situation is below normal.

Parcel post packages were still not coming into the Post Office as they should, because of the embargo.

Superintendent of Mails W. R. Thayer explained that about 2,000 pieces of mail came in yesterday afternoon on Trains No. 8 and No. 22, with about one truck load of parcel post. Both of these trains were from the west and heading toward Washington. This amount of mail is far below the normal amount for this season, he said.

The Post Office is sending out all the mail it can under the embargo restrictions. This amounts to less than 85 per cent of the mail that ordinarily would be sent from the local Post Office.

City Mail Heavy

Mail for within the city has been very heavy, officials noted.

Superintendent Thayer pointed out that Christmas cards with two-cent stamps, third class matter, will not be shipped from Cumberland to any state except those listed by the Post Office Department.

Those states are Connecticut, Delaware, Illiniois, Indiana, Main, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and for destinations within Maryland.

No mail in the restricted catagory is being sent from the local Post Office for Washington, Chicago, or St. Louis. Officials pointed out, however mail for Illinois is being sent.

To all states, first class mail which includes parcel post up to eight ounces, is being accepted. Also being mailed to all states are air mail letters and air parcel post packages.

Shown above is a typical scene at the weekly chest clinic held at City Hall each Friday morning. The clinic, which began over five years ago, is supported by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association as a public service without charge. Funds from the annual Christmas Seal sales provided X-ray equipment and fluoroscope used at the clinic and pay the salary of the clinician, Dr. R. W. Ballin, the technician's fee for X-rays and even for janitorial services. Formerly the clinic was held once a month with Dr. I. B. Lyon of Victor Collins Hospital, Sabillasville, and Dr. Fred Williams as clinicians before Dr. Ballin assumed that post. Average number of patients each month was 40 as compared to 100 now. Approximately 50 X-rays are taken each week by appointment at the Health Department. Two lay workers from the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council have assisted at the clinics since the project began. Dr. Ballin is shown above examining an X-ray film. Looking on at the left are Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse in charge of the clinic since its inception; and Miss Mary Miller. At the right is Miss Doris Hershberger. She and Miss Miller are student nurses at Memorial Hospital.

Two Men Held In Area On Bad Check Charges

Casteel To Face Grand Jury Action

A Keyser, W. Va., man identified as Welba E. Casteel waived a preliminary hearing here yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of false pretense, and a Pennsylvania resident is being held in Bedford, Pa., on charges of passing several bad checks in this area.

Casteel was committed to County Jail in default of $500 bond for action of the January grand jury.

Arrested By City Police

Casteel was arrested late Thursday night at a local bus station by Police Officers C. W. Thompson and John G. Powers.

The officers met the Cumberland bound bus at the Dingle, trailed it to the terminal and arrested Casteel for the Sheriff's office.

Police said the man signed a statement on a bad check charge late Thursday night following questioning by Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney and Detective E. M. Powell.

Held In Bedford

Charged with passing off $123.30 in worthless checks on Baltimore Pike service station operators, a 28-year-old Pennsylvania man is being held in the Bedford County jail at Bedford, Pa.

He is Donald D. Pittman, Route 1, Breezewood, Pa., who was arrested by Pennsylvania State Police on information furnished by Trooper First Class William F. Baker of the Maryland State Police.

Included in the victims of the forgery artist is Rev. B. F. Hartman, Methodist minister, who operates a service station several miles from Cumberland.

The other victims are Robert E. Spitznas, Arch Broadwater and Albert Kight.

The name of "Charles Manheim, secretary of the Hazelwood Construction Company" was signed on all the checks Trooper Baker said. The local firm reported no such person is employed there.

Bought Gasoline

At the Hartman's station, Pittman reportedly obtained $1 worth of gasoline and received $27.50 change from his check, the officer related.

Spitznas, who operates Musgrove's Store and Service Station, was allegedly fleeced of $33.15. Pittman also received $1 worth of gasoline there.

Pittman is believed to have passed off a $28.50 check on Broadwater where he received $3 worth of gas, and at Kight's station he received $4.50 worth of anti-freeze, Baker said.

Pittman is also wanted in Pennsylvania on similar charges and will be tried there before being turned over to Maryland authorities for prosecution, police said.

Three Sites Are In Running For Army Laboratory

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The question of where the Quartermaster Corps will locate its $11,000,000 research laboratory has been narrowed down to three sites. Where they are is a secret.

Maj. Gen. W. O. Reeder of the Army Supply Corps gave the information to a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony on the new $17,000,000,000 appropriation bill for the Armed Services.

The Army asked $250,000 to start building the laboratory after a site is chosen. The House appropriations committee today approved all of the Armed Services' requests, and made public Reeder's testimony.

He said he did not know where the three sites are located.

County Arthritis Toll Is Heavy, Gunter Says

Based on the national average, there must be at least 500 persons in Allegany County who are suffering from arthritis, William A. Gunter, president of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital, announced yesterday.

He said that 126 arthritic patients have been admitted to Memorial Hospital so far this year.

Allegany Hospital has admitted 48 patients suffering from arthritis during the same period and Miners Hospital in Frostburg, 135 such patients.

Three women are in Allegany County Infirmary, he added, who are in such a helpless condition as a result of the disease that they cannot walk or take care of themselves.

In a talk entitled, "1950 Campaigns, Military and Otherwise," Gunter pointed out that Allegany County has raised about one third of its $1,500 campaign for Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Gunter said one out of 20 persons in America is afflicted with arthritis and that the disease will continue to demand its yearly toll of death unless "you and I do something about it."

He called upon all to aid in the campaign to raise funds to finance the detection, control and cure of the insidious disease.

Residents Urged To Do Local Yule Mailing Now

Incoming Volume Arriving Slowly

Post Office officials last night were urging Cumberlanders to do all of their local Christmas mailing immediately in order to help avoid congestion when the large volume of accumulated incoming mail begins to arrive from key cities.

Officials related that yesterday was the biggest day they have had so far this season and they were employing 28 extra workers. Most of the employes worked from about 7 a. m. to midnight last night. But the situation is below normal.

Parcel post packages were still not coming into the Post Office as they should, because of the embargo.

Superintendent of Mails W. R. Thayer explained that about 2,000 pieces of mail came in yesterday afternoon on Trains No. 8 and No. 22, with about one truck load of parcel post. Both of these trains were from the west and heading toward Washington. This amount of mail is far below the normal amount for this season, he said.

The Post Office is sending out all the mail it can under the embargo restrictions. This amounts to less than 85 per cent of the mail that ordinarily would be sent from the local Post Office.

City Mail Heavy

Mail for within the city has been very heavy, officials noted.

Superintendent Thayer pointed out that Christmas cards with two-cent stamps, third class matter, will not be shipped from Cumberland to any state except those listed by the Post Office Department.

Those states are Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Main, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and for destinations within Maryland.

No mail in the restricted catagory is being sent from the local Post Office for Washington, Chicago, or St. Louis. Officials pointed out, however mail for Illinois is being sent.

To all states, first class mail which includes parcel post up to eight ounces, is being accepted. Also being mailed to all states are air mail letters and air parcel post packages.

Can Use Air Mail

Since Cumberland is an air mail stop of the All American Air Lines, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon is sponsoring a program of informing all postmasters within a certain radius of Cumberland of the air mail schedules from this city.

It is being done, Conlon said, so people in this area might take advantage of the air mail service if they wish.

The postmaster said the first air mail flight leaves the post office at 10:20 a. m. and arrives at the air field at 10:58 a. m. It is an easterly bound flight and reaches Washington, D. C., at 12:07 p. m.

From Washington air mail reaches Baltimore within approximately 30 minutes, Philadelphia within 55 minutes, and New York, 70 minutes.

The second air mail flight from Cumberland leaves the Post Office at 4:25 p. m., and arrives at the air field at 5:11 p. m. It is a westerly flight, arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:01 p. m. and Chicago at 7:11 p. m.

Ironically, the morning flight of All American Airways was cancelled yesterday because of the snow.

Garrett Area Skiing Good

Maryland's first really perfect skiing was announced yesterday by the Department of Forest and Parks, who reported the New Germany ski area to have eight inches of fine powder snow on a good base. All trails are in excellent condition.

The famous "Whiskey Hollow" trail offers the seasoned skier five or six miles of well marked trails. "Poplar Lick," a more gentle slope, will give the beginner all of the thrills with none of the experience needed for more difficult runs. Ski tows will operate if the crowd warrants.

Ample accommodations are available to the winter sports enthusiast in the New Germany area. For large parties the Department of Forests and Parks operates a ski lodge which is available upon reservation. Arrangements for the lodge can be made by letter or phone to the Department of Forests and Parks, State Office Building, Annapolis. The phone number is 2320.

New Germany is located five miles south of U. S. Highway 40 on Route 219. Chains are necessary after leaving U. S. 40 at Grantsville.

New Fire Truck Is In Service

West Side Fire Company's new fire truck was placed into service yesterday afternoon.

Actnig Fire Chief William L. Lindner officiated at the brief ceremony yesterday at 1:15 p. m. at the fire hall.

The equipment was turned over to Acting Officer William T. Shuck, Chauffeur Austin L. Warnick and Pipeman John L. Morrisey.

Robert R. Gorner, a member of the department recently inducted into the Navy, was present when the powerful Mack pumper was placed into active service.

Firemen said the old West Side truck will remain at the station as the area's second line of defense. That pumper was purchased second hand by the city in 1941 and was considered unsatisfactory since it was not powerful enough to negotiate the steeper hills.

The West Side pumper is the second piece of modern equipment placed in service here in as many years. Last year, the city secured a modern 85-foot aerial ladder which is on tap at Central Fire Department.

Santa To Parachute Into City Today To Help Needy Children

Service Clubs Boost Salvation Army

Santa Claus is scheduled to parachute into Cumberland today to start a gigantic Salvation Army drive to stimulate contributions toward a $2,000 goal for Christmas baskets for needy families.

St. Nick will then lead a Christmas Fund parade beginning at 2 p. m. in South End on Virginia Avenue thence to Central YMCA to Baltimore Street to North Centre to Market to North Mechanic and back to Baltimore Street.

Santa will be joined by the Allegany High School band and the line of march will be supplemented by children led by City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

All contributions for the worthy cause will be collected in kettles placed on Virginia Avenue and Baltimore Street and manned by members of six service clubs under the direction of Lewis J. Ort, chairman.

The "stands" have been assigned to the various clubs as follows:

Ort said in past years as high as $1,300 was gathered by the service clubs in a single day and this prompted the extra effort to gain today's goal.

Warren Mullenax, operator of Municipal Airport, has donated his services to fly Santa over the city for the parachute jump.

LaSalle Students To Present Play

LaSalle High School students will present a two-act musical comedy, "Prince of a Guy," at Carroll Hall in two performances tomorrow night and Monday.

Curtain time will be 8:15 each night.

Jaycees Expand Yule Decorating Contest Area

All of the greater Cumberland area will be included in the Christmas home lighting contest sponsored annually by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The area to be judged will be bounded by Cresaptown on the south, west by the Six Mile House, Bedford Road and Route 36 at the Pennsylvania state line and Pleasant Valley Road.

H. Jack Price is chairman for the annual Jaycee contest designed to encourage the holiday decoration of homes and apartments as well as business establishments.

Winners will receive cash awards and prizes of merchandise.

The Jaycees will judge houses on their lawns, porches and other outside decorations.

Chairman, Christmas Lighting Contest, Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, Cumberland, or phone 29, the Jaycee office.

Beer Leads Report List

Marylanders, on the average, consumed more than 25 gallons of alcoholic beverages during the 1950 fiscal year.

This rate of consumption was brought out in the annual report of the Alcoholic Beverages Division of the Comptroller's Department. It broke down the per capita liquid intake in this way: Beer 23 gallons; wine one gallon; and liquor 1.3 gallons.

From the report, there was no way of knowing how much was consumed by visitors or how many Marylanders did the drinking.

At the same time, the report showed the state had collected $6,016,000 in alcoholic beverages revenue during the year, a .45 per cent increase over 1949. This comes to a per capita payment of $2.52. The cost of collection and administration was $136,850.

The Division observed that there was one licensed alcoholic beverage outlet for every 340 persons in the state. Montgomery County had the fewest places per capita and St. Mary's the most.

Illegal distilling was on the rise in the state, with a total of 77 stills being found as against 45 in the previous year. Of the 77 stills, 17 were discovered in Charles County.

With respect to apparent consumption in the six-month period from July to December, 1949, the most drinking—per capita—was done in Talbot County and the least in Carroll.

Aboard Repair Ship

A. F. Youngblood, seaman, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Youngblood, Route No. 1, Keyser, W. Va., is serving aboard the floating dry dock USS Gunston Hall. The ship carries landing craft and stands by for repair work during invasion landings.

Fort Hill Choir Is Busy Group

Four more public appearances have been arranged for the Fort Hill High School a cappella choir during the Christmas season.

Already the choir has sung at two churches. Last Sunday afternoon, the choral group, directed by Miss Annetta Yates, sang with the First Presbyterian Church choir. That night the singers appeared at Davis Memorial Methodist Church.

"The Song of Christmas" will be rendered by the choir Sunday night at Grace Methodist Church.

Other appearances next week will be at the community Christmas celebration at the City Hall, Monday night; at the South End Christmas tree, Tuesday night, and at the B & O Station Wednesday night.

Rev. S. C. Morrow Opens Ministry Here Sunday

Tomorrow morning will mark the first worship service to be conducted at First Presbyterian Church by the newly elected pastor, Rev. Seth C. Morrow.

Topic of Rev. Morrow's first sermon here will be "The Roads We Travel Together."

The Christmas program of the church school will be held tomorrow evening at 6:30 in the lecture hall. A playlet, "One Holy Night," will be presented.

Rev. Morrow will greet the children, after which a picture, "Child of Bethlehem," will be shown.

Mrs. Arch Hutcheson is chairman of the mothers' committee, which will serve refreshments. Assisting in serving will be Mrs. Ross O. Decker and Mrs. Knight Reynolds. White food packages will be received.

Rev. Morrow has been pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Pottsville, Pa., since 1943. From 1938 to 1943 he was minister of First Presbyterian Church in Gettysburg, Pa.

The new minister received his B. A. degree from Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va. He received the Th. B. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J. in 1938. He took additional graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and received the Th. M. degree in 1948.

During his ministry in Pottsville Rev. Morrow was active in ministerial and community affairs and served as the secretary and president of the Ministerial Association. He was a member of the Rotary Club and a director of the Southern Schuylkill Chapter of American Red Cross. In 1949 Morrow served as the moderator of Lehigh Presbytery. He also served as chairman of the United Promotion Committee of the Presbytery and was a member of the committee on National Missions.

Home On Leave

Pfc. Charles Butler, Cresaptown, is spending a 30-day furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lucy Helbig. Wounded during fighting in Korea, Pfc. Butler has been convalescing at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Weather

Windy and colder with snow flurries is the forecast calling for more winter today. It is almost a continuation of what we had yesterday, when there was a low temperature in Constitution Park of 31 degrees and a high of 36 degrees. Downtown, the low was 31 degrees and the high, 40 degrees. Melted precipitation yesterday was .38 inches. New snow fell amounting to two and one-half inches. There was already one and one-half inches of old snow on the ground.

Paper Collection Set

Waste paper will be collected Monday on all streets south of Oldtown Road. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.

CHRISTMAS CHEER — Miss Jeannette Bonig is shown looking over some of the dolls and other toys which her agency, the Associated Charities, is distributing to deserving families this week. Some of the toys were donated by local stores and other groups. Doll beds, cradles, carts and hobby horses were made by Former Fire Chief Reid C. Hoenicka in the shop at the H. and S. Heating and Plumbing Company. Toy ironing boards were made by the Allegany Trades School. Pillows and bedspreads for the doll beds, and dresses for the dolls were made by church and sorority groups. Miss Bonig said about 800 toys are on hand this year. They are on display at City Hall where needy families may obtain them. One local women's group gave a basket of gaily wrapped jingle gifts to Associated Charities instead of exchanging the gifts among themselves.

Lanterns Are Available To Mark Coasting Sites

Lanterns are available at the Recreation Department office in City Hall for use in marking streets for sled riding, according to Director Edmund F. Hoey.

Hoey said a request of the City Playgrounds Association to set aside streets in the vicinity of nine playgrounds for coasting has been granted.

Association members will be responsible for providing adult supervision at sledding areas to avoid accidents.

No ropes or barricades are available to block streets but Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn has suggested using wooden crates for that purpose.

Streets set aside for coasting, as requested by the association, are located near the following playgrounds and are as follows:

North End Playground—Shawnee Avenue from Piedmont Avenue to Franklin Street.

Penn Avenue Playground—Grand Avenue.

West Side Playground—Chase Street from Washington to Fayette and Cumberland.

Pine Avenue Playground—Monroe Street to the intersection of Central Avenue.

Christmas Seal Booths To Be Opened Next Week

to county residents for contributions.

The campaign has a goal of $15,000 this year.

As an added boost to the current Christmas Seal campaign, booths will be opened next week in two downtown places.

This was announced yesterday by Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

One booth will be set up Monday in Rosenbaum's Store and will be open that evening from 6 until 8 o'clock for the sale of Christmas Seals.

The other booths will be located in the Postoffice Building and will be open next week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 2 until 3 each afternoon.

Coin containers have been placed in public places throughout the county, and about 23,000 sheets of Christmas Seals have been mailed

Mrs. Edgar Vandergrift is chairman of the Christmas Seal committee, assisted by Glenn K. Davis, Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, Mrs. Porter D. Collins and J. William Hunt.

Davis is in charge of handling containers; Mrs. Cessna handled mailing of Christmas Seal letters; Mrs. Collins is making arrangements for the booths, and Hunt is in charge of publicity.
